Gloom Prevails as General Assembly Opens 21st Session

One of Few Bright Spots Is Indonesian Membership Request

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly opens its 21st session today in an atmosphere of gloom, with East-West relations seriously impaired by the Viet Nam war and with little prospect of progress on major issues.

Pazhwak

The only bright spots were the decision of Indonesia to resume its U.N. membership after an absence of 18 months and an indication from U Thant that he might continue as secretary-general until the end of the year if no successor is found in the next few weeks.

Advance agreement assured the election without a floor fight of Afghanistan's veteran Ambassador Abdul Rahman Pazhwak as assembly president for the 13-week session. This will clear the way for quick organization of the 117-nation body.

Viet Nam War

Although the Viet Nam war is not formally on the assembly's agenda, it is expected to play a major role both in the general debate which begins later this week and in the discussions of disarmament, outer space law and other issues coming up later in the session.

In what could be a move to put the war before the assembly, Czechoslovakia proposed Monday that the assembly debate "the prohibition of the threat or use of force in international relations."

U.N. officials estimated that more than 80 heads of government, foreign ministers and other cabinet members would be present for at least part of the session. They will not only take part in the debates but will en-

Surveyor 2 Launched On 'Cliff Hanger' Trip

Lunar Craft To Land on Thursday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —America's Surveyor 2 spacecraft hurtled toward the moon today, aiming to soft-land in the middle of its target to photograph a crater-pocked plain where American astronauts may walk within three years.

"We appear to be on a lunar trajectory," the flight control center reported 30 minutes after launching, but cautioned that four to five hours of tracking would be required to determine the precise course and what corrections might be necessary.

A powerful AtlasCentaur rocket raced against the clock and thundered away from Cape Kennedy at 8:32 a.m. EDT to start Surveyor 2 on a 63-hour voyage which project officials predict will be "a cliff hanger all the way." The booster got off the ground with less than one second to spare.

Hit Thursday

If all goes well, Surveyor 2 will reach the moon about 11:28 p.m. Thursday, and will settle gently onto the Sinus Medii—Central Bay—a flat but potentially rugged plain located in the center of the moon's visible face.

Once there, its revolving camera eye is to scout around the area to see if it is a good landing spot for American astronauts.

The "cliff hanger" label was good right from the beginning as the Atlas-Centaur just barely got off the launch pad on time. Another seven-tenths of a second and the shot would have been scrubbed, the launch director, Robert Gray, said.

36-Minute Period

The crew had only a 36-minute period ending just after 8:32 a.m. in which to fire the rocket to achieve the proper course. A balky valve that refused to close had held up the

Neenah Man Dies of Injuries In Cycle Crash

Gary Ruscher, 20, Winnebago County's 25th Traffic Death

NEENAH — Gary Ruscher, 20, 1256 Winchester Road, Neenah, died at 5:22 a.m. today in Theda Clark Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered when his motorcycle left the road at State 150 and Winnebago County Trunk O Sunday afternoon.

Winnebago County Coroner Art C. Miller said death was due to severe head and internal injuries.

Ruscher's death, with those of two persons in separate Northern Wisconsin accidents, brought the 1966 state highway death toll to 762, compared to 709 on this date a year ago.

Ruscher was taken to the hospital by the Neenah ambulance shortly after 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Lost Control

County authorities said Ruscher was going east on State 150 and attempted to turn left onto County Trunk O. He lost control of the motorcycle and went off the road into a field.

A passenger on the motorcycle, Aloma Bunker, 31, Shorewood, was listed in satisfactory

U. S. Planes Hit Demilitarized Section Again

Marines Attack Fortified Village In Ground Action

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Air Force pounded the demilitarized zone with day and night raids Monday, while a few miles to the south U.S. Marines reported killing 53 North Vietnamese troops in an assault on a fortified village.

The Leathernecks also reported killing 10 more North Vietnamese while defending forward positions near the Marine mountain bastion called "The Rockpile."

Air Force fighter-bombers hammered at North Vietnamese troops in the six-mile-wide buffer zone with 11 raids. Giant B52 bombers followed these blows with a heavy night bombing.

Over North Viet Nam, Air Force F105 Thunderchief pilots claimed they knocked out a whole train 55 miles northeast of Hanoi on one of the main lines leading to Communist China.

SAM Site Hit

Other Thunderchief pilots reported hitting a surface-to-air missile site 40 miles northeast of Hanoi, while carrier-based Navy fliers claimed direct hits on two missile sites 30 miles from Thanh Hoa.

The raids Monday over the North, totaling 116 missions, cost one U.S. plane. An Air Force Thunderchief was shot down and the pilot is missing.

American planes showered more than 2.5 million propaganda leaflets on North Viet Nam's southern Panhandle Monday, a spokesman said. One drop called on Red soldiers to desert to the allied side: another warned civilians that prices would rise as the war continued and wipe out their savings.

Among the raids on the demilitarized zone, which separates North and South Viet Nam, Air Force bombers hit along the western edge close to the border of Laos. A U.S. spokesman said they dropped fiery napalm on North Vietnamese troop positions and storage areas and touched off secondary explosions and fires.

Troop Concentrations

The B52 raid—the ninth since July 30 on the once neutral zone—struck at troop concentrations and base camps.

A few miles below the zone, Marines of the 26th Regiment assaulted the village of An Dinh in the face of heavy automatic fire from a company of green-clad North Vietnamese troops.

The Marines, participating in Operation Prairie, called in air strikes and artillery to dislodge the Communists from trenches and tunnels.

Computer May End Tax 'Bounty Hunting'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Computers may soon put paid tax tipsters out of business.

A bill on Capitol Hill would bar the Treasury Department from rewarding — with up to 10 per cent of the take — the tipsters who tattle to tax collectors about their neighbors or fellow employes.

Its sponsor, Rep. Richard H. Fulton, D-Tenn., cited Internal Revenue Service computers as one reason for ending tips for tipsters.

Action this year on the bill is unlikely because of the little time remaining before Congress adjourns, probably next month.

The bill undoubtedly will be reintroduced next year.

Treasury Position

The Treasury Department is now drafting its formal position. Even if it does oppose the bill, it is not expected to take a strong stand.

"We would rather have a lot of other bills passed first," said one Treasury employe who has been working on President Johnson's anti-inflation plans.

One source said today the government might hesitate to give up any legitimate tool for enforcing the law. But IRS figures show that only about one in every 20 tipsters actually claims a reward.

IRS has also placed great faith in its computers which beginning Jan. 1 will check every income tax return.

The service has said that fear of the computer is often enough incentive for an otherwise evasive taxpayer to come clean.

Rewards to tipsters are given only on request and only after IRS decides how much the informant's tip was worth.

During the year ended June 30, 1965, the service rejected 3,665 reward claims and paid 792 claimants $597,731, an average of $754.71 per successful tipster.

It credited $12.9 million in tax collections to "information furnished by informants," both paid and unpaid. The informants can receive up to 10 per cent of the recovered tax but the average payment is 4 to 5 per cent.

No Specific Proposals

GOP White Paper Raps Johnson's War Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans criticize Johnson administration Viet Nam policies but say they don't plan to tell the President how to run the war.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York made this clear today in discussing a white paper issued Monday night by the House Republican Conference. It said administration policy in Viet Nam "has been uncertain and subject to abrupt change."

"The urgent immediate question is how to end this war more speedily and at smaller cost while safeguarding the independence and freedom of South Viet Nam," the white paper said.

No Proposals

But the 32-page report offered no specific proposals, and Goodell, chairman of the GOP's Committee on Planning and Research, emphasized "that is not the purpose of the paper.

"Our purpose was to put the whole situation into perspective by means of a scholarly study explaining how we got to where we are now," the New York Republican said.

"We're not planning to look over the President's shoulder each time he gets ready to make a decision."

But Goodell said any specific GOP proposals would be confined to ideas previously supported by party groups, such as an all-Asia peace conference, quarantine of the port of Haiphong and increased bombing of military targets in North Viet Nam.

Decline Slows In Building

August Figures At Lowest Since 1960 Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housing starts—now at their lowest level since the 1960 recession—continued to decline during August but at a slower pace than July, the Commerce Department reported today.

It was the fifth straight month of decline in this key indicator of economic activity and the home builders look for an even further drop. They don't see any real upturn until next spring.

New privately owned housing starts dropped 2 per cent during the month to a seasonally adjusted annual low of 1,057,000 units. This was the lowest level since December 1960, when the rate was 1,048,000.

July's level was 16 per cent below June.

The August drop was concentrated in the South. Rates in the West and North Central regions increased while in the Northeast the level was substantially unchanged.

Building permits issued during August dropped 12 per cent from July to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 808,000 units, the lowest since the department began compiling this series of statistics in January 1959.

Scientist Hunts for Capsule of Radium

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A passenger train bearing a scientist and electronic gear begins a three-state search tonight for a tiny radioactive capsule capable of inducing illness after 30-minutes contact.

The capsule of radium weighing .3 gram — there are 450 grams in a pound — was lost while being shipped from Fort Worth, Tex., to New York in August.

Assign More Men To Percy Slaying

Cook County, Chicago, FBI Aid in Murder Investigation

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — A dozen investigators from the state attorney's office were assigned today to assist the 14-man Kenilworth police force and sheriff's police in finding the killer of Valerie Percy, 21, daughter of Republican leader Charles H. Percy.

Also assigned to the case were two agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and detectives of the Chicago homicide and burglary divisions. The state attorney's men established a command post at the Kenilworth police station and were assigned 32 leads to investigate. The FBI was expected to follow up leads involving out-of-state suspects.

Stabbed, Beaten

Valerie was stabbed and beaten to death Sunday in the Percy home in Kenilworth on Chicago's Lake Michigan north shore.

Chief Robert M. Daley of the Kenilworth police said, "We don't have a lead to go on," but he added: "I think this crime is going to be solved—and we are going to do it by leg work and perseverance."

Daley said that 44 persons have been questioned since the girl's body was found at 5 a.m. Sunday. He also said that Percy, at the request of police, has prepared a list of 100 persons he believes should be questioned.

Those questioned included, Daley said, persons who have known the Percy family, employes of the Percys, former employes, political workers and Valerie's boy friends.

Possible Lead

Some 2,000 persons came to the girl's wake Monday night to express sympathy to Percy and his wife, Loraine. The red-eyed couple occasionally succumbed to tears as they greeted friends in the funeral home.

Chief Daley reported today that one possible lead in the murder is the sighting of a green station wagon by a cab driver as it came from the driveway of the Percy home half an hour after the slaying.

It might have been a police vehicle, he said, but the driver

Fatal to Measure

Cloture Motion on Rights Bill Loses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possible revival of the administration's civil rights bill, born and buried in controversy, seems to rest on any verdict the voters give in November on open housing.

The fatal symptoms of some members' reluctance to be counted on the housing section combined with doubts about its constitutionality to kill the House-passed measure on a 52-41 Senate vote Monday.

This was 10 short of the two-thirds majority of those voting required to invoke the Senate's cloture rule to limit debate on a motion by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to bring the measure up officially. After the cloture effort failed, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield shelved the bill.

Last Week

The vote on a similar move last Wednesday was 54 to 42.

But Monday's result was by no means a reliable indication that the bill — with its provision outlawing racial discrimination in about 40 per cent of the nation's housing — could have commanded a majority vote for final passage.

Mansfield told his colleagues that a vote against cloture was a vote against the bill. None disputed that. But when Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., tried to turn this around, Mansfield balked.

Javits asked the Democratic leader if he didn't believe a vote for cloture could be interpreted as a vote for the bill.

"I do not," Mansfield replied vigorously.

This seemed to represent the privately acknowledged fact that some senators unwilling to support open housing climbed on the fence by voting for cloture to demonstrate their political attachment to civil rights in general.

North Vietnamese Inflict Heavy Losses

Long Weekend for Surrounded Marines

EDITOR'S NOTE — For three days and nights, two companies of U.S. Marines were cut off by North Vietnamese regulars on a hill just south of the demilitarized zone. Associated Press photographer Henri Huet reached them with a Marine rescue battalion.

By HENRI HUET

BELOW DEMILITARIZED ZONE, South Viet Nam (AP) — "We are pretty well surrounded, sir," said the Marine officer over the field radio. "Every time we try to move our wounded, we get shot at and pick up more casualties. Request advice."

The anxious call came from 1st Lt. Daniel McMahon, commander of D Company, 4th Marine Regiment. He and his men were pinned down and encircled on a low, jungle-covered hill three miles south of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

McMahon's battalion commander, Lt. Col. Jack (Black Jack) Westerman replied from mile away:

Jungle Thick

"Dan, move very, very slowly. Try to find out exactly where the fire is coming from and put all your firepower in there."

"That's exactly what I'm doing, sir," said McMahon, "but the jungle is so thick it's impossible to see where they are. We are receiving fire from all sides."

All around McMahon and the men of D Company were soldiers of the North Vietnamese 324B Division.

For McMahon, who comes from Oceanside, Long Island, N.Y., the encirclement last Friday morning began a three-day nightmare of trying to get his wounded out and holding off the enemy.

The North Vietnamese, using classic ambush tactics, had let D Company's two lead platoons pass through a valley and then hit the third platoon.

Heavy Casualties

The third platoon, under withering fire from machine guns and small arms, took heavy casualties but managed to work its way to the top of the hill to join the other two platoons.

Westerman, the battalion commander from Bremerton, Wash., set up his forward observation post on a nearby hilltop and from a tank kept radio contact with his company commanders.

Westerman ordered B Company, which had been close behind D Company, to join McMahon's encircled men, hack out a helicopter landing zone and evacuate the wounded.

But helicopters couldn't get in for the next 24 hours.

Manawa Dam Price Set At $10,000

City Council Eyes Possible Purchase Of Landmark

MANAWA — The city council was informed that $10,000 is the price necessary to purchase the old power house and the part of the dam under the building, now owned by A. Sturm and Sons, Inc.

A spokesman for the firm said they would reserve the right to use the east room for one year.

The dam has long been a topic of discussion among council members. For proper maintenance, they have felt the city should own it. Because the recreation program is almost entirely dependent on the dam and because of its scenic value, it is considered one of Manawa's greatest assets.

Ald Alvin A. Handrich, Third Ward, explained the state retirement plan for city employes to the council. The finance committee will check with and explain the plan to the city employes, and, if approved, will ask the state for a preliminary survey to determine and establish rates.

The police committee, headed by Paul Sturm, will investigate the plausibility of city-owned squad cars.

Punt, Pass, Kick Contest Scheduled

SHERWOOD — Registrations for the annual Punt, Pass, Kick contest at Stumpf Ford will be accepted until 9 p.m. Oct. 7. Boys eight to 13 years old are eligible to compete. The contest will be Oct. 8 at 9 a.m. at the American Legion Park. Contestants must be accompanied by their parents when registering.

Three prizes will be awarded in each age group. The contestant with the highest score will enter state competition.

James Schmidt is chairman assisted by Edward Rogalska. In the event of rain on contest day, the event will be the following Saturday.

Esther Laude's 193, 439 Pace Ladies Loop At Weyauwega Lanes

WEYAUWEGA — Esther Laude bowled a 193 game and 439 series in the Thursday night ladies league at Radtke's Recreation.

Other top scores were Shirley Stahlberg and Jean Grossman, both with 431.

Tom Radtke rolled games of 220 and 204 for a 595 series in the Thursday night regular league.

Bob Radtke hit a 208, finishing with a 565. Other high series were Ken Radtke's 543 and Bill Kiekhafer's 530.

In Wednesday night action, Duane Koehler took top honors with a 208 singleton and 586 series. Other top scores were Ted Lantvit, 200-552, and Edwin Rupno, 552.

New London Students Vote For Queen

Homecoming Action To Open With Pep Rally, Bonfire

NEW LONDON — Voting for the 1966 Homecoming Queen to reign over activities this weekend was conducted at Senior High School Friday.

Candidates for queen are Judy Beaudoin, Brenda Breyer and Linda Baldwin, all seniors.

A 7:30 p.m. pep rally-bonfire is set for Thursday. Homecoming skits will be presented at 1 p.m. Friday and be followed by the parade about 2:30 p.m.

Truckers Are Foe

Clintonville's Truckers, considered a contender for Mid-Eastern Conference title honors, will provide the opposition in a 7:30 p.m. contest at Hatten Stadium.

The queen will be crowned during a dance following the game.

New London's Bulldog football team will carry a 2-0 record into the contest and will be seeking to break a losing skein of four seasons in the annual homecoming classic.

The Bulldogs have a 32-0 victory over Manawa and a 21-6 decision over Menasha so far this season. Clintonville dropped its opener to Merrill, 21-6, and then was overpowered by Neenah, 48-0, Friday.

First Immunization Center Completed at Marion School

MARION — The first of three immunization centers was conducted Tuesday at the new grade school.

The second will be Oct. 11 and the third Nov. 15.

The program, recommended by the Waupaca County Medical Society, is offered for pre-school through fifth grade children.

Children, pre-school through kindergarten, are to be given the triple inoculation which includes protection against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough. Children who have had no inoculations require all three while those who have, will receive the booster dose of one inoculation only.

Children in first through fifth are receiving diphtheria and tetanus immunization only, with a series of two inoculations, one month apart, if the child has had no previous inoculation or a booster if they have.

Smallpox vaccinations will be given at the third center only. Re-vaccinations are recommended every five years.

In charge of the center was Mrs. DuWayne Tanner, Waupaca County nurse, Mrs. Elizabeth Larson, assistant county nurse, and Dr. William McInnis. Assisting them in the program were Mrs John Bartelt, Mrs. David Wilke, Mrs. Steven Karrmann, Mrs. Wallace Oehlke and Mrs. Joe Brandenburg.

Boosters at New London to See Game Film

NEW LONDON — A movie of the Manawa-New London football game and the election of a board of directors is scheduled by the New London Boosters Club at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Ebert's Hall.

An attempt will be made to get a film of the Menasha game. Seven directors will be named to supervise club operation and finances.

Promotion of football games has been the sole undertaking of the club so far, but plans are to not only promote other athletic events, but also to conduct publicity and promotion of musical, dramatic and other forms of public entertainment within the city.

"Promotion of New London to residents first, is the objective of the organization," James Ehlke, chairman, said.

Jaycees Adopt 2 Proposals

Conference Charges Set at Region No. 5 Corporation Meeting

SHAWANO — Policy for future regional meetings and special assessments on clubs were decided during the Region No. 5 Jaycee corporation meeting here Saturday.

A $5 per chapter assessment will be levied to defray cost paid to the state for member clubs hosting a regional meeting and a $3 charge will be made to cover the cost of operation within the regional structure.

Both recommendations were made by the presidents council and were adopted without dissent.

A policy covering payment for reservations and minimum charges for future meetings was also adopted. Each of the state's six regions holds two meetings per year.

Spring Conference

The corporation voted to conduct regional meetings on a one-day basis. The spring conference was awarded to Marshfield and will be April 22, 1967.

Art Wedemeyer, state president, spoke to the group at the noon and dinner sessions.

Assemblyman Bert Grover, D-Shawano, was speaker at the noon luncheon. Grover's address dealt with the over-emphasis placed on the political dealings of the state government by the news media.

Grover said persons should question things they see, and avoid becoming involved with political smearing.

Members of the 12 clubs attending took part in forums throughout the day, while club presidents held a council meeting to determine recommendations to the corporation meeting and to discuss policy and expenses of regional meetings.

Area clubs attending the Shawano meeting were from Fond du Lac, Waupaca, Omro, Oshkosh, Shawano and New London There are 22 clubs in the region.

Textile Industry Acts on Cleaning Complaints

BY SYLVIA PORTER

A Brooklyn, N.Y. girl recently bought two summer dresses which shrank 1½ sizes after the first hand washing, although there was no warning on the label to "dry clean only." The store refused to adjust the girl's complaint.

Porter

A Chevy Chase, Md. woman who bought a $36 dress, also without instructions on the label on how to clean it, is now trying to get a refund from the store because her dry cleaner informed her the fabric could not be cleaned at all without ruining the dress.

Those Creases!

An Oxford, Ohio lady who tried to lengthen a new dress found that the crease of the original hemline could not be removed by the cleaner. She is now minus a total of $42.50 for the cost of the dress, alterations and the dry cleaner's attempts.

With today's flood of new fibers and fabrics, high styles and finishes, synthetics and combination materials, we, America's consumers, are plagued as never before by the problem of how to take care of our clothes, whether to wash or dry clean, whether to use a hot or cold iron in pressing, etc.

The need for permanent care labels, not just tags and tickets which invariably get lost, is indisputable.

Finally, therefore, the U.S. textile industry is drawing up a new system of textile labels aimed at preventing costly mishaps in clothes care.

In Stores Next Spring

The new labeling system has been devised by a private voluntary Industry Advisory Committee on Textile Information. It will be available to the entire textile industry next month and actual labels are due to appear — sewn into dresses, slipcovers, underwear — in stores next spring.

The labels will state in language we can understand whether a garment should be washed or dry cleaned, how it should be dried and pressed, whether it needs special care. The labels will range from fingernail size to playing card size, depending on the amount of information. Fabrics which can be cleaned by obvious or traditional means will not carry the labels.

Here are specific problems the labels are designed to help eliminate:

—Many of the new synthetics which look washable actually should be dry cleaned because they include trim which will run if the garments are washed. Even some cotton dresses cannot be washed because of special styling features.

—Some clothes, though, must be washed, not dry cleaned, because they contain trim which could be ruined by dry cleaning.

—Other clothes, such as orlon sweaters, must be machine dried, not hung on a line, if they are to retain their shape.

Too Many Tickets

—Even when tickets or tags with cleaning instructions are attached, the instructions frequently are misleading if not actually wrong — and sometimes there are as many as three or four different tickets on a single item of clothing.

In the words of P. J. Fynn, chairman of the voluntary advisory committee: "A washable fiber doesn't necessarily mean that a fabric is washable and a washable fabric doesn't necessarily mean that dress is washable."

About half of all clothes and household textiles sold today might need special care labels, Fynn estimates — which would mean hundreds of millions of new labels each year and considerable extra expense (perhaps 1 to 2 cents per label) for industry and for consumer

It's a virtual certainty that the industry will scream at the cost, but its advisory committee insists this is a service that it must supply This report is written not only to give you the news but also to encourage you to do your own screaming, so we at last get simple guides to avoiding costly and infuriating mistakes on textile care.

'Last' Reunion for 1899 War Vets

FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — The 32nd Volunteer Infantry Regiment ended its last reunion at Ft. Leavenworth, Sunday. Only three of the veterans attended

It is believed only five are still living of the 1,312 who left Ft. Leavenworth Sept. 16, 1899, to fight the Philippine insurgents. It was a guerrilla war, much like the current one in Viet Nam.

The regiment's first reunion was 30 years ago.

The three who returned this year were Edwin A. Harris of Kansas City, Roy Kirkpatrick of Abilene, Kan., and Rolla Lafferty, Spokane, Wash.

"I don't think we can have any more reunions," said Harris, 82, who enlisted at 15 by lying about his age. "There are only three of us. What can we do?"

New York's Lindsay Keeps Pitching in

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Mayor John V. Lindsay showed his pitching prowess Sunday on Manhattan's Lower East Side, where he and his wife, Mary, attended the Feast of San Gennaro.

Lindsay stopped at a baseball throwing stand and promptly heaved three straight strikes, knocking three stuffed dolls off their racks.

He was given a large doll for his feat — "not just because he was the mayor," proprietor John Minsquero said.

Kelly Jo Harrison, 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Harrison of Fort Dodge, Iowa, mothers her six-month-old black Labrador, Knuckles, who has both front legs in casts. The dog recently was struck by a hit-and-run motorist. (AP Wirephoto)

Cardinal Wyszynski Demands Equal Rights For Polish Catholics

SIEDLCE, Poland (AP) — The Roman Catholic primate of Poland brought the Church's dispute with this country's Communist government into sharp focus over the weekend with a demand for equal rights for Catholics.

Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski addressed 20,000 worshipers in a pouring rain Sunday.

"We want respect, respect as citizens possessing equal rights. We desire respect for our faith. We want Catholic education for children — in the family and in the schools," he said.

"We want to have equal rights in the streets, equal rights in public life."

Teen-Age Glue Sniffer Didn't Know Dangers

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a 16-year-old girl who sniffed glue steadily for a year and a half. I didn't realize the dangers and still am not sure of them. The only information I had was from other kids.

My mother took me to our doctor and there is nothing wrong with me. He didn't say much about the glue sniffing, which gave me the idea that it can't do much harm.

Dr. Molner

Since last January I haven't sniffed the stuff. The reason I stopped was that on three occasions I had a sensation like my throat was melting. It only lasted a couple of seconds. Then my boy friend said sniffing glue could make my babies retarded or that I couldn't have any.

A few of my friends still sniff glue and I'd like to find out for their sake just how dangerous it is.

People wonder why kids sniff glue. Well, my answer is for the same reason adults drink, and drinking affects people in different ways. Not all sniffers act like wild juvenile delinquents.—S. D.

I gather from your and other letters on the subject that the real danger of glue sniffing isn't yet apparent to many people.

Youngsters can get "high," or in plain language experience a form of intoxication, and you are right: Not all react the same way. If the sniffers are hoodlums at heart, they'll act like hoodlums. If they are decent, they'll behave rather decently.

But the danger lies in what happens to health.

A smell of glue won't harm you, but sniffing it, drawing large quantities of the fumes into your lungs, is dangerous.

I can't say whether it will or won't cause retarded babies. But the solvents in these glues are hydro-carbons, a type of chemical which, in quantity, has two dangerous results in particular.

One is danger to the liver. This cannot be corrected later. Once it has happened you have a damaged liver for life.

Another major peril is destruction of some parts of the blood.

Several teen-age deaths have been traced to glue sniffing. No doubt these youngsters were heavy, habitual sniffers.

Much of the damage of sniffing will not be discovered until later. Liver function tests are special chemical procedures. Minor liver damage may not be readily discovered by simple examination.

But 10, 20 or more years from now, when some of these people develop cirrhosis or other liver ailments, how much blame must we attach to whatever damage was done by these solvents earlier?

Just stay away from the habit. Some states have even passed laws to control the sale of airplane glues.

Dear Dr. Molner: When my daughter was about eight, she had such a thirst that our pediatrician made a urinalysis test for diabetes. Now she is 20 and still thirsty. She is getting quite thin, but a recent urinalysis showed no diabetes. Is a blood test necessary? — Mrs. H. K. E.

By all means have a sugar tolerance (blood) test, because urinalysis, while very useful, doesn't always tell the whole story. She may have diabetes insipidus.

Note to Mrs. R.C. and others: It isn't difficult for your regular doctor to remove moles. If there are a lot of them, and you want to keep scarring at a minimum, go to a plastic surgeon or to a dermatologist (skin specialist). For just occasional moles, not in strategic locations, your doctor can do it.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. If you are afflicted with this aggravation, or if you have children who are, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy of his helpful and comforting booklet, "Acne—The Teen-Age Problem." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coins to cover cost of printing and handling.

Mediator Foresees Settlement Before End of Moratorium

Feinsinger Meets NAACP's Wilkins on Milwaukee Dispute

MADISON (AP)— A compromise may be in the air in Milwaukee's racial controversy with the blessing of civil rights leader Roy Wilkins.

The hint that a peace proposal would be wafted toward national officials of the Fraternal Order of Eagles came from law professor Nathan P. Feinsinger, acting as a special state mediator in the dispute over the organization's membership policies.

Feinsinger met in private for an hour Monday with Wilkins and protest leaders from Milwaukee.

With the moratorium on demonstrations to expire Oct. 16, Feinsinger said, "we are well ahead of our tume table. . . . I think things are moving now and we're not yet in October."

'Step in Mind'

He added, "I have a certain step in mind now that I have the assurance from those present (Monday) that I can go ahead with it."

The mediator said the step would come within a week to 10 days, but he wouldn't elaborate.

Feinsinger added, "I think things are moving now."

Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, flew here from New York for the meeting. Afterward he called the trip "well worth it."

There was no indication of how strong or how flexible were the terms that the NAACP's Milwaukee Youth Council might be asking in any settlement. Wilkins would not go into any details.

Talks 'Constructive'

"I can't say for them what they will want and what they will take," he said.

The Rev. James Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest from Milwaukee, and seven Negro members of the Youth Council joined in the talks. Father Groppi, Wilkins and Feinsinger each used the same word to describe the discussions: "constructive."

Father Groppi, asked if he were satisfied with the progress, answered: "I would say it's constructive. I can't say until we meet with the Eagles club officials."

Wilkins met privately with Feinsinger while he awaited the arrival of the Milwaukee group at the university law school where the talks tok place.

Special Aide

Feinsinger called the meeting in his role as special aide to Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette. Sitting in on the talks was Deputy Atty. Gen. Arlen Christenson, a former law school colleague of the nationally known labor mediator.

Feinsinger has served on presidential advisory boards and as a mediator in New York's 1965 subway strike. He said mediation could offer a promising means of settling future civil rights disputes and added:

"The subway strike was much harder to mediate than this one."

Monday's meeting was on the eve of Feinsinger's 64th birthday. He planned to continue his work toward a possible settlement without pause today.

"I stopped having birthdays 20 years ago," the professor explained.

Might Become Competitive

Ford Eyes Charged-up Auto

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. will test a prototype electric-powered car in England next year and later introduce it in the United States.

Company confirmation of this came today in the wake of speculation last week that Ford had made a breakthrough toward a battery-powered car capable of meeting traffic requirements.

Ford is experimenting with a lightweight, sodium-sulfide battery and said it might prove more economical than a gasoline-powered engine.

A Ford spokesman declined to be drawn into speculation when a battery-powered car might become competitive or how far one battery charge would take it.

Range of Full Tank

Other sources, however, speculated one charge might give the range of a tank full of gasoline and that the car might be competitive with today's gasoline-powered vehicles within five years.

"That's one of the things we hope for but we don't know yet," said one Ford source with reference to one battery charge being the equivalent of a tank of gasoline.

If this happened, battery stations might displace gas stations.

General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp., Ford's major competitors, are known to be experimenting with both batteries and fuel cells, among other possible new power plants. There has been at least one unconfirmed report GM is well along in development of battery-power and may have an announcement soon. GM declined comment.

'Ideal Answer'

Speculation regarding a Ford breakthrough developed after a speech last week by Ford President Arjay R. Miller at nearby Ann Arbor.

Discussing gasoline-powered automobiles and their relation to air pollution, Miller said in a speech at the University of Michigan:

"The ideal answer to this problem (of air pollution) would be development of a vehicle powered by a source that would not produce emissions. The most promising candidate at present appears to be a battery-powered electric car.

"We now have in the early stages of development a new battery power system that we expect could offer tremendous improvements in range, performance and cost.

'Practical Vehicle'

"Eventually, we hope it will lead to a practical emission-free vehicle for local transportation needs."

Batteries utilizing lead plates and acid, such as those that start your automobile, have been tried in series as power sources for some vehicles, but because of the power-to-weight ratio they have been restricted mostly to propulsion of golf carts and small trucks.

At one time five Detroit companies turned out electric automobiles. The last folded in 1925.

The buses will feature two-way radios and public address systems.

Klan Might Confront King In Mississippi

Grand Dragon Vows Trip to Grenada if Rights Leader Stays

GRENADA, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi's grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan has vowed to bring Klansmen here if Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. stays "to create more ill will and dissension."

E. L. McDaniel of Natchez, state chief of the United Klans of America, said Monday night, "I will come nonviolent, but will not be stepped on or pushed around."

The Klansman issued his statement as King spoke to a rally in a crowded church. After the rally, 650 civil rights demonstrators marched under heavy police guard to the town square.

King came to this racially troubled north Mississippi town Monday night. Some of his aides said he would leave today after marching with Negro children to integrated classrooms.

Crowd into Church

More than 900 persons crowded into the New Hope Baptist Church to hear King.

"I am disturbed about the white community," he told them. "There are still all too many white people in our country who will use violence to try to keep us down There are still white persons who will murder and assassinate Negroes simply because they want to be free."

In Natchez, the Ku Klux Klan leader was asked if he and his companions would come armed to Grenada.

"Anywhere you see me, I have mine — my life has been threatened," said McDaniel. He said the others "will come as peaceful citizens, but they will be prepared to back me up."

House Blocks Proposed $1.2 Million Conference On 'Water for Peace'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has built a dam against a proposed $1.2 million Washington international conference on Water for Peace.

"This money would be better spent cleaning up the Potomac," said Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, who noted President Johnson's request for cutbacks in federal spending.

The May 1967 conference, planned for 1,200 delegates and 2,800 observers from 95 countries, would consider world water problems and possible solutions.

Independent in 1968

Wallace Likes Idea of Running for President

KENTUCKY DAM VILLAGE, Ky. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, denouncing what he termed federal intrusion into neighborhood school systems, said Monday he is seriously considering running for president in 1968 as an independent.

Wallace made his comments in a news conference after sessions of the Southern Governors Conference. Other governors talked on racial themes, but Wallace drew the most attention since he is in the forefront of resistance to federal integration moves.

The other governors hedged about Wallace, merely acknowledging he would be a powerful contender if conditions remain the same in 1968. Wallace avoided comment on whether he has been drumming up their support.

Wallace denounced the federal government for "completely obliterating local government" and "destroying neighborhood schools" by what he called unreasonable encroachment on their authority.

"If you are elected president," he was asked, "will you abolish the federal government?"

"No, but I'll get it out of where it doesn't belong," Wallace replied.

Wallace's wife, Lurleen, is Alabama's Democratic nominee for governor. If she wins in November, the governor indicated, he would go on a speaking tour to other states.

Review of Alfonsi Conviction Unlikely Before State Vote

Judicial Process Goes at Snail's Pace, Probably Won't Speed Up

MADISRON (AP)—The snail's pace of the judicial process is making it virtually impossible for Paul R. Alfonsi to get a State Supreme Court review of his bribery conviction before the Nov. 8 election.

Court officials said Monday it is unlikely arguments can be heard — and almost impossible for a decision to be handed down—before the election unless written arguments for Alfonsi are filed within a week.

Even then, officials doubt if the case can be decided before Nov. 8 under current circumstances.

The briefs had not been filed by late Monday, with the election less than two months away.

Unlikely to Hurry

Alfonsi, former Assembly Republican leader from Minocqua, said after his conviction in July for taking a $100 bribe he would appeal the decision to the Supreme Court as quickly as possible to try to clear his name before the fall election.

But now, even if the written arguments are filed and the case is heard in November, the seven justices are highly unlikely to hurry their decision and rule just days before the election.

Practically no chance is given for the case to be heard during the first week of October, the next time the court has scheduled verbal arguments.

The scheduling of court appearances, usually done at least 30 days in advance, already had been made for then.

Moving the Alfonsi case up to the first week of October would require agreement by the state, and the attorney general's office now has about eight criminal cases scheduled for the session.

One of Many

"The Alfonsi case is just one of about a total of 58 or 59 the attorney general's office is handling at the present," a member of the staff said.

Alfonsi, convicted for accepting an expense check to promote an accelerated highway construction bill, lost his legislative position when the verdict was entered on the court record.

But the 58-year-old Republican is running for re-election despite his loss of office. A liberal intrepretation of the state's Constitution holds a man can run for office even if convicted of a felony.

But he can't hold office, even if re-elected.

For that reason, Alfonsi does not have to push the decision before the election. But if he wins Nov. 8, it must come down before January when the 1967 Legislature reconvenes.

Teachers Protest Removal of White School Principal

NEW YORK (AP) — The integrated teaching staff of a $5-million model school in Harlem threatened to strike today if the Board of Education goes through with its plan to replace the school's white principal with a Negro assistant. She says she doesn't want the job.

"I object to being chosen on the basis of color, not competence," Beryl Banfield said Monday after the board announced, in line with community demands for a "black principal", that Stanley Lisser, was stepping down.

The 55-member staff of new Intermediate School 201 voted unanimously to boycott classes and picket the board's headquarters in Brooklyn today if Lisser was not kept on the job.

Waving Arms Not Illegal in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Arm waving, a Soviet police lieutenant has discovered, is not a crime in the Soviet Union. But ordering someone to stop it is.

A man named Kuzminski was talking on the street to his friends, gesturing vigorously. A police lieutenant named Lisitski came over and arrested him for petty hooliganism, a charge similar to disturbing the peace.

Two weeks later the case came before a court in Moscow. It was thrown out. But the district police chief, Vitsyuk, "to save the honor of the uniform," overruled the court and fined Kuzminski, the arm waver, 25 rubles — about $25.

Eventually higher authorities heard about that. Vitsyuk got a stiff reprimand and Lisitski, the lieutenant, was put under arrest "for erroneous actions."

The story was told by Pravda, the paper of the Soviet Communist party.

School Breakfast Program Okayed After Congressional Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — A school breakfast program for needy children is headed for final House and Senate votes.

A compromise bill approved Monday night by a joint conference committe would authorize $7.5 million for the program in 1967-68 and $10 million the following fiscal year.

The bill also continues the school milk program at an authorized level of $110 million next fiscal year, $115 million the following year and $120 million for each of the next two succeeding years.

Harriman Gets Full-Time Job At 'Peace Desk'

Asked by President To Prepare Array Of Negotiations

BY ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Quiet diplomacy, not election-year politics, was the true inspiration behind President Johnson's new and unpublicized "peace desk" on the seventh floor of the State Department.

Although that ageless diplomatic trouble-shooter, Averell Harriman, has been sitting behind his new desk now for six weeks, there has been no formal announcement of his assignment, and there won't be.

Evans Novak

In fact, President Johnson regards Harriman's new job of preparing an array of all possible U.S. positions for eventual negotiations with North Viet Nam, and of following up every stray clue of a possible change in Hanoi's intransigence, as seriously as he does the war itself.

Proof of this is the fact that the President personally ordered a search two months ago for the right man to man the "peace desk." Mr. Johnson gave that assignment to Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert Mc Namara. They divided over three prospects; Ambassador - at - Large Harriman (favored by Rusk), Ambassador Worth Bunker, whose diplomatic skill made possible last June's elections in the Dominican Republic (favored by Mc Namara), and former Ambassador to Russia Llewelyn Thompson, now the State Department's top Soviet expert.

Confronted by these three prospects, the President picked Harriman.

Knows Many Leaders

It was Harriman who carried the heaviest load of the abortive peace offensive last January during the bombing pause in Viet Nam. Harriman, moreover, has built up a network of contacts throughout the Soviet government, starting with Premier Aleksal Kosygin, and is on a first-name basis with many of the neutralist leaders of the Third World.

In addition to the secrecy, another bit of evidence that the peace desk is serious business to President Johnson is the surprising return to government of former White House aide Chester Cooper. Cooper, a stalwart in McGeorge Bundy's old shop in the basement of the White House, took a sabbatical leave from government to study and write a book. Harriman's call for help reached him in Greece. He would not have returned without a conviction that the President means business, not politics, for Harriman's new assignment.

But with that said, what is the realistic prospect of Harriman's mission? Until next winter at the very earliest, just about zero. The Communist government in North Viet Nam is still counting on the supposed anti-war feeling in the United States to undermine President Johnson. By early next year, so the North Vietnamese calculate, far more U.S. troops will be in the field and the casualty rate will be higher.

Moscow's Influence Grows

As top administration policy makers now see it, however, there is the faint glimmering of a possible change arising from the Communist Party crisis in Red China. The passions unleashed by Mao Tse-tung's Red Guards have undermined Peking-style communism all over the world, thus enhancing the Soviet Union in its fierce ideological struggle with Peking for control of the world Communist movement. This, in turn, will raise Moscow's influence in Hanoi and Moscow is regarded here as a bit less inflexible over the Viet Nam War than Peking.

This is precisely the kind of intangible development Harriman will try to take advantage of. Mr. Johnson has given him a blank check to take any initiative he wants in his attempt to break down Hanoi's refusal to talk peace. That specifically covers sudden, unannounced trips abroad to get first-hand evidence from visitors to Hanoi. It also gives Harriman access to all U.S. intelligence, to the large society of Communist diplomats in Washington and to policy decisions with the "Voice of America."

But beyond this, and probably more important, the Harriman mission is to stake out a whole array of flexible negotiating positions, any one of which can be pulled out of the files when — and if — the rigid, war posture of North Viet Nam becomes less intractable.

THE PRESIDENT'S CLUB

The Los Angeles architectural firm of J. Edward and C. Albert Martin, disclosed by us to be heavy right-wing Republican donors to the Democratic President's Club (J. Edward Martin is a John Birch leader) has withdrawn from competition for the new Veterans Administration (VA) Hospital in San Diego.

William J. Driver, head of the Veterans Administration, disclosed this fascinating development to a closed-door session of the House Veterans Committee. He gave no reason for the Martin brothers' sudden decision, which was particularly surprising in view of the fact that their bid for the job had been all but approved by the VA along with two co-operating firms.

The other two architects still set for the San Diego job are Charles Luckman of Los Angeles and Matt E. Howard of Houston. They have something more than architecture in common.

The principals in these three firms have enriched the President's Club to the tune of $30,500, all of its reported to the Clerk of the House in Washington, in accordance with federal law, except for a $5,000 contribution to the California branch of the President's Club from Luckman.

NON-SOUTHERN STRATEGY

One of the Republican Party's most powerful national figures, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, has quietly discarded the party's disastrous Southern strategy.

The two top Republican senate candidates in the deep south are getting a cold financial shoulder from the Senate Republican Campaign Committee headed by Morton, who knows that in politics money often speaks louder than words. Right-wing Republican John Grenier, running for the senate from Alabama, has received only $500 from Morton's committee. Segregationist Prentiss Walker, the GOP senate candidate in Mississippi, has received even less: exactly nothing.

In contrast, Morton has funnelled thousands of dollars and expert technical advice to moderate candidates Charles H. Percy in Illinois, Robert Griffin in Michigan, Mark Hatfield in Oregon, Edward Brooke in Massachusetts and others.

A footnote: Richard M. Nixon, front-runner for the party's presidential nomination in 1968, still clings to the old southern strategy. He talks about important Republican gains in Dixie this year and will campaign heavily there.

Wages Could Rise

Trucking Industry Had Big Year, Official Says

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The trucking industry had a prosperous year in Wisconsin, the retiring president of the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association declares in his annual report to association members.

But inflationary trends suggest that it will be increasingly difficult for the industry to "hold the wage line", said Clarence Neuendorf of the Neuendorf Transportation Co. He was succeeded as head of the trade group this week by James Heyrman, general manager of the Olson Transportation Co. of Green Bay, at the Association's annual convention.

Wage negotiations will be the most important problem the industry faces during the next year, as a result of the "shattering" of the policy guidelines established in Washington recently, the Madison company executive said.

Cheerful Picture

But Neuendort presented an otherwise cheerful picture of the economic atmosphere.

"In Wisconsin we have had an unequalled industrial development in the past two years. This industrial expansion naturally brings the trucking industry more business," he said.

John P. Varda, association general manager, disclosed that association directors are considering an expanded public information and public relations program in connection with pending legislative objectives including the proposals before the 1965 Legislature which would have authorized the use of "double bottom" vehicles on Wisconsin highways. The measure was passed in the Assembly, but died in the Senate after considerable controversy.

He said the state industrial commission has been asked to broaden the terms under which apprentices in the trucking industry can be trained, and disclosed that the State Department of Taxation has recommended a uniform formula for the imposition of income taxes on interstate carriers. The issue is more important since more trucking companies are extending their services into other states, he pointed out.

The New Legislative Salaries

The nine members of the legislature's joint finance committee who voted for approval of the special Kellett Committee recommendation for a 50 per cent increase in lawmakers' salaries are to be congratulated for their courage. The opposite votes of the other five members are understandable since almost all of them are running for re-election this year.

In fact that situation pinpoints the difficulty of keeping legislative salaries in line with the times and demonstrates the wisdom of the method by which a figure of $8,400 per year was selected. It was the recommendation of a committee of citizens who made an impartial and detailed study of the question which was subsequently approved by the state bureau of personnel and the joint finance committee.

This newspaper has declared on numerous occasions that the present salary level of $5,400 per year does not jibe with the current demands upon a legislator's time, given the length of legislative sessions dictated by the scope of state government today and the amount of time required for committee deliberations between sessions. We believe firmly that the much more liberal scale is required to retain the services of our most capable present legislators and hopefully to attract others well qualified.

The swift adoption of annual legislative sessions is a necessary corollary to the new pay scale. Biennial sessions requiring estimates of government revenues and expenditures more than two years in advance produce haphazard judgments at the least and more likely result in considerable waste of tax monies. A constitutional amendment providing for this change should be one of the first orders of business in the 1967 session.

It is also significant that the new salary schedule was adopted just as the campaign for election of an entirely new state assembly and one-third of the state senate swings into peak activity. It gives state voters a fine yardstick by which to judge legislative candidates. Is the man you are going to vote for worth $8,400 a year to the state?

Judge Keller After Burglars

Local law enforcement agencies may have received a big helping hand by an action that occurred last week in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Judge Gustave J. Keller, after commenting that something must be done to stem the "epidemic of burglaries" in the community, imposed stiff reformatory sentences on two young men who had pleaded guilty of burglary.

Judge Keller's statement, "an epidemic of burglaries" was an understatement.

Both Appleton and Outagamie County police have seen a recent upsurge in burglaries and attempted burglaries. An Appleton police official noted that three men recently were added to the detective bureau and that even with the expanded staff, nearly all detectives "have been kept jumping" with burglary complaints.

Many burglaries have been solved by arrests in the past week. Almost without exception, those arrested were young men — 21 years of age and younger. Outagamie County investigators cleared 15 burglary complaints from their files with the arrests of eight youths — the oldest 21.

We think Judge Keller is correct in his belief that one effective way to alleviate the burglary problem is to impose stiff penalties

Burglary, as the judge pointed out in court, is a serious crime — one that leaves a deep, enduring scar in a young man's life.

Knowing what awaits him if he is apprehended and convicted could prove to be the best deterrent to the would-be burglar.

LBJ and the Latest Polls

President Johnson is fond of pulling worn copies of public opinion polls from his pocket to show, for example, that the majority of the American people agree with his policy for Viet Nam. It is doubtful that the latest Gallup Poll on Democratic presidential possibilities for 1968 is being put to this use.

The Gallup Poll reports that a questioning of Democratic voters produced only a 38 per cent preference for President Johnson this month as the 1968 presidential candidate for his party compared to a 52 per cent preference last February Sen. Robert Kennedy recorded a 40 per cent preference this month compared to only 27 per cent last February, and Vice President Hubert Humphrey rose from only five per cent last February to six per cent this month.

When the question was put to so-called independent voters, Sen. Kennedy was the choice of 38 per cent, compared to 27 per cent in February, and the President was the choice of 24 per cent, down six per cent from February. Mr. Humphrey slipped from nine to five per cent.

In a related question, the Gallup Poll reported that Sen. Kennedy would defeat Michigan Gov. George Romney if the two were presidential opponents this fall but that Mr. Humphrey would lose to Gov. Romney.

Based on his experiences in the swing through New York State and New England, President Johnson is reported to be planning to take to the campaigning trail in other parts of the nation. And Sen. Kennedy has been invited to campaign in many states, including Wisconsin, speeches which are being planned independent of the Democratic National Committee.

Another poll, undertaken for Sixth District Rep. John Race, has advised the freshman congressman who won on the President's coattails in 1964 to say as little about President Johnson as he can.

Political trends change suddenly and, in any event, a party turning out an incumbent President with his powers over party machinery would be without precedent in modern times.

But with the President's ability to gain from uses of consensus, one possibility suggests itself for 1968 if Sen. Kennedy continues to gain in public support. This would be a Johnson - Kennedy ticket complete with explanations of how the two were never anything but the best of friends.

Attacks Launched on the Kellett Committee

The administrative bureaucracy at Madison has begun its all-out attack on the Kellett Committee's plans for reorganization of state government bureaus and commissions even before the plans have been finalized or published. The tentative report of the special study committee set up by the legislature is being circulated to various state agencies for their comments, and three of them have already chosen to broadcast those comments through the press rather than communicating with the Kellett Committee. The reason for choice of that method of communication is fairly obvious. The agencies hope thereby to muster public support against any attempt to meddle with their present structure.

The latest blast is the most curious of the three, coming from the chairman of the State Industrial Commission, Joseph Fagan. Earlier the State Board of Health and the State Conservation Commission had led off the attack, and with more reason, since those agencies would both be altered in a major way under the present plan. But the Industrial Commission is one of the few which would survive virtually intact.

The basic principle of the Kellett Committee's plans is that the more than 90 present state agencies would be grouped into about 15 and each would be headed by a secretary appointed by and directly responsible to the governor. It is the so-called cabinet form of executive organization, modeled after the federal government.

As an example, the three commissioners who now head the Industrial Commission would be replaced by a secretary who would be the administrative head of the agency, and two hearing commissioners, all three appointed by the governor, and they would serve at his pleasure. Presently the three commissioners are also appointed by the governor, but they serve for definite terms, which means that an incoming governor cannot make an appointment until a vacancy occurs.

Fagan says this means that "you will have the Democrats in for a couple of years, then they will be replaced by the Republicans for the next few years. It would be like running a two-platoon football team."

But Fagan does not mention that he was a political appointee of Governor Knowles early in the present chief executive's term. Nor does he allude to the fact that he has been assuming more and more of a policy making role in state government, particularly in the field of civil rights. And it would seem logical that administrators capable of making policy should have some responsibility to the governor who presumably is elected by the people to direct over-all state policy.

Also, as we read the sports pages these days, two-platoon football has been rather efficient and effective.

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 29, 1866.

The Crescent published an item some time since affirming that a wag in Appleton supplied a farmer with four quarts of "Hungarian grass seed" last spring, from which the farmer last summer raised about 17 million mullen stalks.

This would do for a joke, but, unfortunately, the mullen is a biennial plant requiring two seasons in which to produce stalk and it seems hardly probable that any farmer would wait that length of time for the "point" to manifest itself.

Isn't the joke on Editor Ryan? — Neenah Times.

Not exactly. We live in a more salubrious clime and with a richer soil than where the mullen is biennial. Why, man alive, this is such a productive soil that we have known babies to be born in less than a month after marriage, and in many instances, they grow spontaneously; haven't any fathers!

Talk of two years to raise mullen stalks!

American Science Catches Up; Entering Entirely New Phase

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — Ninety-four minutes after blast-off, Gemini 11 achieved its primary mission — rendezvous in space with an Agena satellite Since they were up, Astronauts Conrad and Gordon then carried out three days of secondary tests and record-breaking stunts.

Kraft

Their performance reflects in a small scale the general condition of American science today. The imperative goals have been reached. With them have come opportunities galore.

But the new opportunities are at once more manifold than the old, more complicated in their social implications and less pressing. Choice among scientific projects, and between these and other projects, is not easy — the more so as there are no accepted standards or apparatus for determining priorities.

The result has been an uneasy groping in government and the scientific community for tools of evaluation. While the future is still dark, it is clear that American science is entering a new phase.

CATCHING UP

The old phase began just after World War II. Radar and the atomic bomb had demonstrated that national security was closely connected with scientific capability.

The part played by a handful of refugees in those two developments alone further demonstrated that the United States had been a backward country in science, living off European achievement. Accordingly, the United States felt that it was an imperative of national security to catch up and take the lead in science.

This country is now spedning task with characteristic ingenuity and energy. Enormous sums of money were made available for research and development by the Defense Department, the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Through a series of mixed public-private foundations and commissions, an effective way was found to apply these funds to basic research projects in the universities and research centers.

The momentary sense of failure caused by Sputnik only yielded an intensified effort and, by this year, if not earlier, it was plain that the primary mission had been achieved. The United States has caught up with a vengeance.

This contry is now spending far more than any other country on scientific research and development — $16 billion annually, of which about $1.4 billion is for basic research. As against a handful of Nobel Prizes in science during the pre-war years (for example, none in physics between 1930 and 1940), Americans now regularly take about half the annual crop (for example, seven in physics between 1950 and 1960).

But having taken the lead, there arises the question of what to do with it. And with the question open, not a few people are coming forward with suggested answers.

President Johnson, in launching the Medicare program in June, indicated that for him the important thing was less basic research than — "to get our knowledge fully applied."

WHAT NOW?

In Congress, Sen. Fred Harris (D-Okla.) in continuing hearing has raised the suspicion that the present system of awarding grants works through a "scientific establishment" to favor the big universities of the east and west coast and the economic development of contingent areas at the expense of smaller schools and less populous states. Rep. Henry Reuss)D - Wis.) has shown the influence of corporate interest on the distribution of funds, to the disadvantage of such public needs as mass transit.

The same kind of questioning goes on even more systematically inside the scientific community. Under the direction of the President's scientific adviser, Donald Hornig, expert panels have been set up to chart the way ahead in different fields for the next ten years. A particularly intense debate is going on as to the future of space after the Apollo project reaches the moon.

So far, the main fruit of the debate has been the isolation of hard questions. What, for example, is a good way to know whether money for research is better spent on medicine or mass transit? And who is to determine, and by what means, how the great advances coming up in the field of genetics should be used?

Given the difficulty of these questions, my own feeling is that the pace of the search for a new rationale in science should be deliberate. The dangerous thing is to miss possibilities: the important thing to keep open options. And, fortunately, this country can now afford to coast, stretching out decisions for at least a little while.

Voters Apparently Satisfied With Work Of Their Legislators

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Remembering the number and variety of politically sensitive issues with which the incumbent Legislature was involved, the casualty rate among legislators in the primary elections was surprisingly low. Remembering also that several of the incumbent legislators who lost their bids for renomination were clearly handicapped by being forced to seek votes in unfamiliar districts created by the Supreme Court reapportionment decree two years ago, it may be that the electorate is not especially disturbed about the record of the current Legislature as an institution.

Wyngaard

What it believes about the performance of the respective parties within the institution, or more especially about the Republican administration in its first term, and the Democratic legislative counterforce, will be shown in the balloting in November.

It is one of the worst kept secrets in Madison that those majority members of the Legislature who voted for the substantial legislative pay increase bills were worried about possible backlashes. Some of their challengers exploited the issue — although without promises to forfeit the raise that is scheduled in the event they won their campaigns. Yet the issue as such made no perceptible dent in the voting patterns, to the considerable relief of most of the current body of lawmakers.

LEADERS INTACT

The leadership roster of both parties in both legislative houses was untouched in the primaries. Such changes as are in prospect now relate to voluntary retirements and other factors. Of the half dozen men who lost their seats, moreover, only two had such rank or seniority that their departure will have any measurable effect in the operations of the Legislature.

Sen. Peter Carr of Janesville, a dignified veteran of a dozen years, fell before the assault of a determined and energetically youthful rival in the person of Assemblyman George Borg of Walworth County, but Borg clearly had a formidable assist in the awkward recarving of the Senate district by the order of the State Supreme Court two years ago.

Sen. Carr has been the chairman of the important State Senate Education Committee, where he was usually a vigorous and friendly ally of the educational interests. The powerful school lobby will be scouting the Senate roster with some anxiety after November, it may be guessed, in search of a reasonably friendly face to boost for the succession to that committee command.

LEVERICH FALLS

The fall of Sen. J. E. Leverich of Sparta was probably the principal legislative election development last week from the standpoint of meaning outside a district. His defeat had been expected, by himself included, it may be deduced from his half hearted campaign efforts. More than any other legislative politician, Leverich was undermined by an almost total realignment of his old and familiar district which had returned him decisively so many times.

The Leverich news doubtless was telegraphed to the main offices of the oleomargarine manufacturers of the country, whose campaign for the repeal or modification of the states anit-margarine embargo he had defeated so many times. It tells something about the changing political climate of the state, moreover, that in spite of Leverich's fame as the foe of the "coconut cow," he ran indifferently even in some of the rural districts of his realigned constituency.

There will be a temptation among the margarine boosters to assume that Leverich's defeat will mean sure success in their drive. Doubtless it will be helpful for those who believe such trade barriers should be relaxed or removed. But there is nothing certain about it. Although Leverich was glad to have the impression created that he killed the margarine tax repeal or reduction bills singlehandedly, it was not entirely accurate. His Senate colleagues could have overruled him. They did not, indicating their own doubts about the merits of the margarine case. If there is a changed attitude in 1967, which seems likely, it will result from the increasing proofs of the size of the urban-oriented vote.

Strictly Personal

Big Business Guilty Of False Economies

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Our friends were almost an hour late for dinner, and the husband apologized that a "business emergency" had held them up.

Harris

It turned out that one of his most valuable employes had suddenly given notice, and it took a two-hour conference to persuade him to stay, at a considerably higher salary.

"He's worth the extra salary," my friend explained, "and I would have given it to him long ago if I had known how he felt — but my chief assistant never told me."

One of the problems that business has not yet successfully worked out is the proper balance between men and money, between short-term profit and long-term planning. If big government is guilty of wastefulness, big business, at the other extreme, is guilty of false economies.

My friend's firm is divided into three departments. Each department has a head, and each head is responsible for an annual budget. At the end of the fiscal year, a department head feels he has been "successful" if he has kept within his budget and can show a good financial record.

But if this becomes the main object of an executive, he is eventually going to be forced to sacrifice men of long-term value for gains of short-term worth.

Very often, the owner of a company — as in my friend's case — is unaware that his subordinates are presenting a handsome "paper" record at the expense of personnel. In most instances, he is both more generous and more farsighted than his assistants.

The reason is easy to see. They are bucking for promotion, and it has been drilled into them that the firm's annual statement of position takes a No. 1 priority with the directors and the stockholders. This being the case, they feel compelled to throw overboard any cargo whose weight would burden the statement.

My friend was aghast at the thought of losing a valuable employe, yet he is at least partly to blame for the situation, by selecting an assistant who is long on dollar sense and short on human psychology. For the fundamental value of a company is no greater than the morale of the men and women who work for it

The rise of the union in modern industrial society is as much a psychological as an economic event. The average employe feels an increasing sense of remoteness from the core of his company; and it has only been in the last dozen years that many firms have wakened to the realization of their deficiencies in human relations.

"Loyalty" is an effective slogan only when an employe is convinced that his welfare takes precedence over the narrow ambitions of the chain of command.

Villages Hide Viet Cong

Headquarters Edict on Burning Huts Deadly Problem for Soldiers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett spent three days this week with troopers of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division in a hunt for Communist units in the Bong Son area of central Viet Nam. Here he discusses the controversial subject of village burning.

By PETER ARNETT

THE CROW'S FOOT, South Viet Nam (AP)—When and why does an American troop commander in Viet Nam order the burning of an enemy village?

"Not today, for any reason," said bespectacled, unshaven Capt. Nelson Newcombe as he noticed wisps of thin white smoke spiraling over a cluster of brown, thatched huts that made up the hamlet of An Huu.

He barked into his radio: "Who the hell's burning down those houses? There'll be no burnings today, that's an order."

Burned Dwelling

The 2nd Platoon of Newcombe's company had moved across a soggy, mile-wide paddyfield earlier in the day Thursday to search for Viet Cong and enemy weapons. Shot at in the operation, they had put the torch to some of the meager dwellings.

Newcombe again insisted over the radio that they stop. He had had enough of burning villages.

Just the previous day, in a lightning raid on the nearby Linh Hoi One hamlet, his men had put the torch to a few houses still left standing after a long air bombardment and artillery barrage.

Some newsmen reported what the troops had done, the headquarters of Newcombe's division, the 1st Cavalry at An Khe, got upset, and explanations were demanded right up the line to Washington.

Obeys Orders

At the bottom of the line in rain - swept coastal valleys called the Crow's Foot, where the war is not a vague conception of right and wrong but a brutal reality, Newcombe shook his head at all the fuss and obeyed orders.

In a few short hours the reality of the war struck home.

Several tons of rice had been found in An Huu, and Newcombe's platoon asked permission to burn it. The company commander asked for an okay from higher up the line, then the request went higher. In the end, it was refused.

By this time night was coming on. The platoon was looking uneasily at the thatched homes of An Huu, topping cavernous tunnels that were excellent hiding places for people both friendly and unfriendly.

Fire Erupts

Told to burn neither the rice nor the village, the platoon moved out into the paddyfield for the long hike back to the company base.

Just 50 yards out, fire erupted against them from skillfully hidden Communist positions around the village. One soldier on his first combat mission in Viet Nam was the first casualty, shot dead in the back.

Losses were light over-all, but the platoon was pinned down for two hours until air strikes and artillery had silenced the snipers.

Next day, when the Americans attempted to recover the body of a soldier left behind the previous night, the snipers opened up again.

The GI comment was bitter. "Men dead and wounded just because we couldn't destroy enemy territory," one soldier said. "Are we in the Army or the Peace Corps?"

Enemy Territory

The cavalrymen were frustrated for a lot of reasons. They were operating in recognized enemy territory.

The hundreds of people in the hamlets around the Crow's Foot, which snakes south from Bong Son, did not vote in the recent Vietnamese election. The Viet Cong saw to that.

In past months North Vietnamese battalions have drawn sustenance from these fertile valleys. Over the hill behind burned-out Linh Hoi One hamlet is the twisted wreckage of a U.S. Air Force F100 jet shot down earlier in the week.

Holes were punched in five U.S. Army helicopters by groundfire near Linh Hoi One and An Huu.

Obvious Targets

To the cavalrymen, then, the hamlets with their deep bunkers and trenches were obvious targets for destruction.

The argument against destroying villages is that this will destroy the hope of ever getting cooperation from the people. This argument often has been dropped, however, when U.S. troops have operated in incorrigibly hostile areas.

Such an area was the Crow's Foot. U.S. planes dropped millions of leaflets on the hamlets, warning residents that homes would be destroyed if the Viet Cong hid there.

Began Burning

And the night before the military operation got under way, the commander of the 1st Cavalry Division, Maj. Gen. John Norton, told this correspondent: "We have to do something about these villages. We know they are used by the enemy. But how far can you go?"

When the rapid-fire assault began, Newcombe's troops burst through Linh Hoi One without seeing a soul. Believing the local population had fled along with the enemy troops, they began burning down the few houses that remained standing.

At this point scores of women, children and old men poured from deep hideouts under the homes. They appeared more angry than upset as they watched their flimsy dwellings go up in smoke.

Newcombe figured that by burning down the houses, the enemy would be preoccupied rebuilding them in the next few months and spend less time fighting the war. And the torch also would serve as a reminder that punishment was always near for those who forcibly opposed the government.

Realizing newsmen were present, the division high command ordered all burning to cease.

The lesson that Newcombe, a studious officer from Auburn, Maine, learned was that the burning of a village must not only satisfy purely military objections, which the cases of Linh Hoi and Huu amply did.

The politically explosive nature of news pictures and stories of huts being deliberately destroyed must also be considered.

Early Diagnosis Important

Appleton Class Trains Deaf Children's Parents

Parents of pupils in the nursery class of the Oshkosh School for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing will begin a series of programs on early childhood deafness at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Appleton Public Library.

Tape recorded remarks will open the series. These will include talks by William C. Kahl, state superintendent of public instruction; John Melcher, director of the Bureau for Handicapped Children; and Samuel D. Milesky, supervisor of schools for the deaf in Wisconsin.

All three addressed a parents' institute for pre-school age deaf children at Delavan.

According to Mrs. Margaret Ferris nursery teacher at the Oshkosh School for the Deaf, the parent training program being initiated by the school is important because the crucial time for all children to learn to talk is between the ages of two and three. The same period is important in training deaf children.

"Early diagnosis of deafness, immediate fitting of hearing aids, and the guidance of a trained teacher of the deaf will make use of the most natural development of speech and language," she said.

Children enter the formal, daily class at Oshkosh at the age of three. There are 10 classes at the school, which serves deaf children ages 3 to 18 from 11 counties.

Jingo's Smiling Now That TV Premieres End

He's Also Exhausted After Sitting Through Ingenious Suspense of 'Mission: Impossible'

BY JINGO

The two weeks have ended and Jingo smiles. Television's most ambitious premiere schedule concluded with four series Friday and Saturday. Here's the dope:

Mission: Impossible — Remember "Rififi", the French

thriller in which a crime was plotted, executed and ultimately detected before our eyes?

Well, "Mission: Impossible" made its bow on the CBS-TV network Saturday night by offering virtually the same plot with a reverse twist: the "crime" was an undercover exercise in American "diplomacy," and the "criminals" were members of the super-secret Impossible Missions Force.

Headed by the invincible Steven Hill and the invincibly beautiful Barbara Bain, an accomplished cast of regulars and guests (including Martin Landau and Wally Cox as, of all things, a super-safecracker) set out to remove two nuclear warheads from the safe of a hotel in the capital of the small Latin American nation of Santa Costo.

It was an hour of such ingenuity and suspense that Jingo, for one, is inclined to wonder how Desilu Productions, which puts it together for the network, can sustain this kind of pace for the rest of the season. The operation was carried out with a degree of precision and mad inventiveness that certainly puts both the FBI and CIA to shame.

There were fireworks and coded locks and duplicate dictators and speeding cars (disguised as exterminator trucks), and sleek jet planes and just about every other gadget and gimmick a plot-happy scripter could devise.

In fact, an exhausted but admiring Jingo can only conclude this review with a suggestion, aimed in the direction of Washington: fire the CIA and hire Desilu. One espionage triumph of this magnitude each week for the next 39 weeks would end the cold war once and for all, and establish a Pax Americana that would endure longer, and certainly more profitably, than the vaunted Roman model of 200 centuries ago.

Are you listening, LBJ?

T.H.E. Cat — Shades of "Peter Gunn!" For a series that NBC had billed as something new, "T.H.E. Cat" sure brought back memories of the old "Gunn" episodes; somewhat intensified, but "Gunn" nonetheless.

Robert Loggia, as Thomas Hewitt Edward Cat, overcame most of show's strong points to make it a tedious half-hour. Despite excellent photography, especially in the musical scene, and a well-developed climax Loggia seemed to bog down the show with his straighter-faced-than-Batman portrayal of the former cat burglar who abandoned the Side of Evil to Fight Gloriously for the Side of Good.

In future weeks, as in the first show, most of his clients will be marked for death and Tee He Cat will employ his Agility and Wits to overcome the Bad Persons. Guess who will win by the most elaborate of schemes.

The Rat Patrol — The Nasty Nazis are going to get their comeuppances from this tricky crew of desert fighters.

Chris George — as cocky, bull-headed Sgt. Sam Troy — stars in the half-hour World War II adventure which will be seen on a five-day delayed broadcast on Channel 11 (Saturdays, 10:30-11). Assisting the tough-as-you-know-what Sarge will be Gary Raymond as Sgt. Jack Moffitt, Lawrence Casey as Pvt. Mark Hitchcock and Justin Tarr as Pvt. Tully Pettigrew (how about that for a name?). It seems the enemy will be personified by Han Gudegast as Hauptman Dietrich, one of Rommel's captains. He is shrewd, disciplined, a wily tactician and soon-to-be frustrated, because he is a Mean Man and he ain't gonna win much.

The series promises to be hard-hitting and technically well-done. Whether viewers can learn to identify with Sgt. Troy and root the Americans home or cast the German as sentimental favorite remains to be sen.

Pistols 'n' Petticoats — The corn is as high as Ann Sheridan's eye in this curious cross between "The Beverly Hillbillies" and "The Rifleman".

Miss Sheridan, the "oomph" girl of day before yesterday (or was it the day before the day before yesterday?), unaccountably finds herself cast in this half-hour CBS-TV series, as the strong-minded sub-matriarch of the folksy Hanks clan — as handy with a pistol as she is with a petticoat (get it?).

Heading this "Hillbilly"-style pack of the late 19th century are Grandpa and Grandma (played with more gusto than grace by Douglas Fowley and Ruth McDevitt), and it's rounded out by a passel of little Hankses.

In the initial episode, Ann and her brood found their home invaded by the thievin' Turner family, and turned the tables on the bandits — hill country style — by not only out - shooting them, but by luring two of the Turner boys to the side of law and order.

Not even an Act of God (including an emotional aberration on a scale to stagger the jaundiced imagination, will persuade Jingo ever again to watch "Pistols 'n' Petticoats", or even discuss it in polite company.

Impolite company is, of course, another matter.

Greta Garbo Is Pictured with Robert Taylor in a romantic moment in a scene from "Camille." The film was one of her greatest successes. She has not acted in movies for a quarter of a century, yet most critics agree she remains the screen's greatest actress. (AP Wirephoto)

Star of Golden Era

Garbo Personality Described

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Her leading men speak of Greta Garbo:

Ramon Novarro ("Mata Hari"): "She was like a chameleon, changing all the time, from gayety to being withdrawn. She was very timid, naturally so, but she could be cute and funny, too. She was never temperamental, but she did insist on quitting every day at 5. She never carried a wristwatch; her colored maid would signal her when the hour had arrived. Once we were in the middle of a scene where she seduces me. Five o'clock came and she walked right off the set."

Second of Series

'Very Glamorous'

Lew Ayres ("The Kiss"): "She was a very glamorous, very remote figure. After each scene she would retire to her dressing room, and she was the first to have a room that was closed off from the view of others. But she was very kind and indulgent to a boy who was just starting out as an actor. She was especially helpful on my first day, when I met her and then had to go right into the scene which had 'The Kiss'."

'Delightfully Honest'

Charles Bickford ("Anna Christie,"): "A delightfully honest and unassuming human being. We found we had a mutual liking for many things, such as hiking, swimming, tennis, scotch whisky and money."

Twenty-five years after her departure from films, Garbo remains an incandescent figure to her co-workers and to the legion of admirers of her cinematic art. Without even trying, she was the most glamorous star of Hollywood's golden era, having successfully spanned the transition to sound.

'Garbo Talks'

"Garbo talks!" was the advertising catchword for her first dialogue film, "Anna Christie." Many a film buff can recite her initial line to the bartender of a waterfront saloon: "Gimmie a visky — ginger ale on the side — and don't be stingy, baby."

She reigned throughout the 30s as the screen's top dramatic actress, appearing opposite the best-known actors: Clark Gable in "Susan Lennox," John Barrymore in "Grand Hotel," Fredric March in "Anna Karenina," Robert Taylor in "Camille," Charles Boyer in "Conquest."

"She was very practical," recalls George Cukor, who directed her in "Camille." "She knew her own temperament and how she could operate. People distracted her, so she kept the set clear of strangers. As soon as the scene was over, she got offstage, so she could husband her strength. She had only so much to give; that was why she quit at 5 o'clock."

'Garbo Laughs

Garbo's career began to wane in the late 1930s, but it bounced back in 1939 when she played her first comedy, the brilliant "Ninotchka" — said the ads: "Garbo laughs!" She tried another comedy, "Two-Faced Woman," but it turned into a disaster. The film ran afoul of the censors, was shot over and then released to critical disdain and poor business.

In 1941, MGM and Garbo agreed to end her contract. The studio viewed the situation realistically. The Garbo movies had always prospered more in Europe than in the United States, and now the European market had vanished with the war.

Garbo continued living in Hollywood and became an American citizen in 1951. She had no need to work: she had earned millions — in 1937 her income was $472,602 — and had invested in real estate, stocks and bonds.

Moved to New York

In the early 1950s, she moved her home to New York.

Despite her achievements on the screen, she never won an Academy Award for her acting. She was nominated four times. Hollywood finally made up for the lapse by granting her an honorary award in 1955 for her "series of luminous and unforgettable performances.

Then the academy was faced with the problem of how to get the Oscar to her. A friend finally delivered it.

Girl From UNCLE Is 'High Camp'

6:30-7:30 (Channels 4-5) — If you don't believe The Girl From U.N.C.L.E. is high camp then ponder "The Prisoner of Zalamar Affair." For openers, Noel Harrison is in the tented Camel Drive-In, eating poisoned popcorn as he watches Rudy Valentino make love to Vilma Banky. Soon Stefanie Powers is in harem garb about to wed a sheik and become a "sheikess." Her plan: stop Michael Ansara, a wicked vizier, from taking over a desert oil kingdom.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — Well, Daktari is in a mauling mood again all because Linden Chiles, a high - booted playboy, wants to turn the African game preserve into a smart, high society shooting range. He and John Cliff, his wily foreman, set a herd of cows loose and before they can deliver a decent moo they are stalked by a killer lion. To the rescue comes Marshall Thompson, who almost gets gobbled up.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — The question on Combat is whether nogood GIs who steal army equipment and sell it to the black market or get gassed up in a French pub and slug it out with MPs can be reliable soldiers? Vic Morrow, badly in need of men to blow up an enemy bridge, takes on the "losers," including Bill Bixby, a gum-chewing smart alec.

7:30-8 (Channels 11-6-9) — "It's the Noble Thing to Do" on The Rounders zeroes in on the long faces of Ben (Ron Hayes) and Howdy (Patrick Wayne) who are not a bit pleased "the world's greatest cowboy" has invaded their corral. What's worse, Jim Ed (Chill Wills) keeps chiding the boys about the bronco master's abilities. Shucks, he can do anything — ride, rope and hogtie without getting himself dirty.

7:30-8:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Red Skelton Hour, never noted for its sobriety, really lets loose with broad comedy as Mickey Rooney guest stars. He is featured in the principal sketch, playing a bad-luck Las Vegas gambler who seeks the help of Clem Kadiddlehopper, a fortune teller. Also around are Simon and Garfunkel who sing "I Am a Rock" and "The Dangling Conversation." Red's brief Silent Spot has him touchingly pantimiming a man's last day on the job after 60 years.

8-10 (Channels 4-5) — "My Six Loves" on Tuesday Night at the Movies wants you to believe Debbie Reynolds is an exhausted movie star who recuperates from bright lights by enlightening six wild tots. It's silly stuff spiced by Miss Reynolds' pitty-pat games with Cliff Robertson, a country parson, and David Janssen, a theatrical producer.

8:30-9 (Channels 11-6-9) — Love on a Rooftop continues its trials of domestic sparrings in San Francisco. In order to impress Dave's tight-wad boss with new furniture he and Julie take on part-time jobs. In a funny episode, Julie keeps getting doors slammed in her face as she tries to sell encyclopedias and Dave rides the streets as a white knight.

9-10 Channels 2-12) — CBS Reports on "The Poisoned Air," which tries to clear the fog about a problem which affects the health of 100 million Americans. (This is the second show on the subject in three days.) Prime attention is paid to the dark skies of Los Angeles, Tucson, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Detroit and New York as well as some cities in Europe and Asia. Daniel Schorr is the correspondent. His chief guests are John W. Gardner, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie (D-Me.) and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

9-11 (Channels 2-12 — CBS "Death is the Door Prize" has another improbable, but exciting adventure for The Fugitive. Of all things, he is accused of being a pickpocket and is given chase. Taking refuge in a basement he is witness to a nasty shooting and is soon on the lam from becoming a prime witness. There's excellent acting in this one by guest players Lois Nettleton, Ossie Davis, Howard Da Silva and Kevin O'Neal.

Peace Corpsman Freed in Killing

MWANZA, Tanzania (AP) — A Tanzanian judge acquitted U.S. Peace Corpsman Bill Haywood Kinsey Monday of the charge of murdering his young wife.

Judge Harold Platt announced his verdict to a tense, crowded courtroom. A two-man jury had recommended that Kinsey, 25, of Washington, N.C., be found innocent. The judge was not required to follow the recommendation of the jury of "assessors" but he usually does in a murder trial.

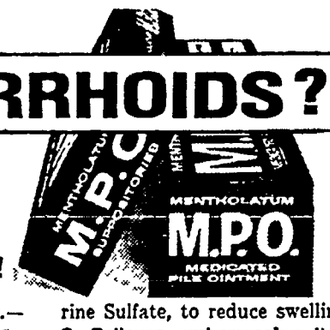
HEMORRHOIDS?



New formula works 5 ways for faster, longer-lasting relief!

In clinical tests of new M.P.O.—an advanced treatment for hemorrnoids(piles)—doctors reported "results were good to excellent" for 5 out of every 6 patients! M.P.O. works fire ways for faster, longer-lasting relief:

1. Helps ease pain faster. You get more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients, including Benzocaine, than in the preparation you may now be using.
2. Helps shrink swollen tissues. M.P.O. quickly releases the proven vaso-constrictor, Ephedrine Sulfate, to reduce swelling.
3. Relieves embarrassing itch. M.P.O. is homogenized for faster absorption, faster relief.
4. Gives longer relief. A more temperature-stable base holds medication in place, prolongs relief-bringing action.
5. Fights danger of infection. Proven germ-killer Hexachlorophene combats bacteria.

M.P.O. is a development of Mentholatum Laboratories. Available in stainless ointment or suppositories at all drug counters.

Civil Rights Bill Had Number of Executioners

Dirksen's Opposition Called Major Reason For Senate Defeat

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1966 civil rights bill has been strangled in a Congress which passed civil rights bills in 1964 and 1965. Why was this one killed Monday? There are a number of answers, not just one.

Chief executioner was Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Illinois Republican. President Johnson can be given some of the blame, even though it was his bill. Negro civil rights leaders are split on what they want and how to get it.

One of them, the most extreme, Stokely Carmichael, called the civil rights bill a sham and said early he would not support it.

Negro riots and the angry or shocked white reactions undoubtedly were elements in the defeat. This violence, and some of the Negro leadership's extremism, alienated white moderates and liberals and hardened even more the opposition of white segregationists.

The senators who killed the bill were conscious of all these factors. The mail of some of them reportedly had been running 40 to 1 against the legislation.

Lost Momentum

One thing is clear as 1966 heads toward a close: The civil rights movement in this country, because of violence and extremism, has lost momentum and support.

Johnson presented the bill late to Congress, April 28, which some think was much too late. Besides, he did not give the impression, as battle surged around his proposal, that he was making a very vigorous fight for it.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said when he first saw the bill that its open housing section was unconstitutional. The House watered down this section before passing the bill and sending it to the Senate.

Then Dirksen decided he was against the whole measure. This was the finishing touch since the Democratic leadership needed his help in rallying Republican Senate support.

Showdown Vote

The reason the support was needed was that Southern Democrats were going to try to filibuster the bill to death. To shut off debate a two-thirds Senate vote was needed, meaning a combination of Republican and non-Southern Democrats.

On the showdown vote Monday a majority of the Republicans refused to vote to shut off debate. The majority of Democrats, joined by 10 Republicans, were not enough to make up the needed two-thirds After the debate-ending move failed, the bill was shelved by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

As if to illustrate his lack of interest in the bill, Carmichael, head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, had told a Negro audience to remain in Negro areas rather than moving to "white neighborhoods"

Carmichael, arrested this month in Atlanta on charges of inciting a riot, has made the slogan, "black power," his rallying cry. Earlier this year he told a Negro group in nonvoting Washington, D C., "If we don't get the vote, you're gonna burn down this city."

He has been quoted as saying it was time "to smash everything Western civilization has created."

Another Negro leader, Floyd B. McKissick, director of the Congress of Racial Equality, had derided Johnson's civil rights programs and called Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey racists. McKissick also makes "black power" his main talking point.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the one Negro organization which fought all the way through for this civil rights bill, is the direct opposite of Carmichael in his thinking on how Negroes can achieve full rights and equality.

He repudiates the idea of "black power," calling it the "father of hatred and the mother of violence."

Nelson, Proxmire Vote for Cloture

WASHINGTON (AP)— Democrats William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin were among 52 Senators voting for cloture Monday but unable to muster the necessary two-thirds majority to invoke a limit on debate on the civil rights measure.

count for almost the entire period.

After the rocket was a minute off the pad, the blockhouse lost all power because of a momentary electrical failure at a relay station in Sanford, Fla. Gray said had this occurred in the final moments of the countdown, the shot would have been postponed.

To adjust for any course errors, Surveyor 2 carries a small motor which can be triggered by ground command. The first firing, intended to zero in on a desired landing zone, was scheduled for about midnight tonight.

Equipment Operating

Tracking stations reported all equipment aboard the 2,204 pound vehicle was operating and that the craft was responding to commands. Its three padded touchdown legs and antennas extended as planned and the craft aligned itself on the sun for cruising reference.

"We're looking real good," the control center reported.

Target for the 10-foot-tall, three-legged shutterbug robot was the Sinus Medii or Central Bay area of the moon, located almost in the exact center of the moon as it is seen from earth This spot is about 800 miles east of the Ocean of Storms, where Surveyor 1 touched down in June and transmitted 11,237 closeup pictures

Jiggle Surveyor

Project officials were pondering a plan to jiggle Surveyor 2 around on the moon's surface from two to four days after it lands.

The move, which would be done by triggering the craft's engine, would carry Surveyor 2 a few inches from its original landing spot. This would permit it to photograph pictures of its original footprints, aiding officials analyzing the type of soil astronauts must confront on the moon.

The Surveyor 2 flight plan "is more difficult" than that of Surveyor 1, officials said.

The first Surveyor descended almost vertically to the lunar surface. Surveyor 2, however, was designed to come in at an angle of) degrees to hit its target.

was said to be wearing a gray suit. He was described as being about 30 years old.

He added that Mrs. Percy gave him a sketchy description of the person she surprised in her 21-year-old daughter's bedroom The Percy home is on the shore of Lake Michigan.

"Not fat, not thin," he said, weighing 160 to 165 pounds. Daley said Mrs. Percy estimated the intruder's height to be 5 feet, 8 inches

"She now believes it was a man," Daley said Earlier, she had been unable to say if the killer was a man or woman.

Coroner Andrew Toman of Cook County said there were 12 stab wounds in the face, neck, chest and abdomen, some of which would have been fatal within a few minutes.

An autopsy by Dr. James Henry, the coroner's pathologist, showed four blows on the left side of the head with a heavy angular object were the immediate cause of death.

Toman said there was no evidence of sexual molestation.

Private services for the young woman were scheduled this afternoon at the Kenilworth Union Church.

condition, and being held for observation

The body was taken to Kessler Funeral Home where arrangements were incomplete.

The death was the 25th fatality of the year in Winnebago County. A total of 24 persons lost their lives in county traffic accidents in all of 1965.

Ruscher was born in Neenah and was a 1963 graduate of Neenah High School. He was employed by his father in cabinet making.

Survivors include his father, one sister and grandparents.

Two other traffic deaths were reported in the state.

Mrs. Bertha Freida Lorenzen, 69, Chicago, died Monday in a Hayward hospital, a week after she was injured in an accident 16 miles west of there. A car driven by her husband, Raymond, left the road and struck a tree.

Mrs. Gertrude L. Anderson, Mason, was found dead Sunday night in her car beside a highway near Grandview.

U.S. Marines Battle Through Weekend Cut Off by Reds

so close to McMahon's company that the opposing infantrymen threw hand grenades at each other from 30 feet.

McMahon said he could hear the North Vietnamese talking and cutting down trees and bushes to set up machine-gun positions.

Copter Wrecked

Shortly after noon Saturday, a Marine helicopter tried to land to pick up wounded. It was hit by enemy fire and wrecked as it landed. The landing zone was so small that the wreckage prevented other helicopters from landing.

McMahon's men pushed the damaged chopper to the side and other helicopters began to get in.

For some unknown reason, the North Vietnamese opened fire on some of the helicopters but let others land.

It kept up like this all day Saturday, with the two Marine companies pinned down and burrowing foxholes all over their small encircled hill.

Marine planes and artillery were giving the North Vietnamese a bad time also. The Communists kept moving around in the valleys but still surrounded the hill.

Spotted O P

Once on Saturday they spotted Westerman's tank and unloaded six mortar rounds at his armored observation post.

They missed.

Westerman's tank fired back at the Communist mortar positions on a distant ridge line. The Reds returned the fire with automatic weapons and this kept up — without much effect on either side — for 15 minutes.

The North Vietnamese also fired mortars at the Marine battalion command post not far away on a craggy hill called "The Rockpile," which dominated five Communist-infiltrated valleys around it.

The shelling of The Rockpile cost the Marines some casualties but only a few were seriously wounded

Minor Wound

During the three-day siege, Westerman spent the nights on The Rockpile command post and the days in his tank hilltop observation post. Toward nightfall Saturday a helicopter flew in to take him back to The Rockpile. The North Vietnamese opened up again with mortars and Westerman got a small shrapnel wound in one hand.

The 2nd Battalion of the 7th Marine Regiment came up Saturday as reinforcements from Cam Lo. They moved on foot to a valley near the hill where B and D companies were still cut off.

The rescue battalion moved out through heavy jungle Sunday morning There was no contact during the day, and everyone thought the North Vietnamese were pulling out

Welcome Lull

The welcome lull gave the Marines on the hill time to bring in ammunition, supplies and food by helicopters and fly out their dead and wounded.

Throughout Sunday there was no small-arms firing on the ground But the Marines kept up artillery shelling and air strikes against the North Vietnamese positions Perhaps this caused the Communists to move out.

When the lead units of the rescue battalion got within 100 yards of the hill, they found the North Vietnamese had apparently left the valley in a hurry The Reds left behind mortar rounds, field packs, rice, Chinese-made grenades and other equipment—but no weapons.

The 2nd Battalion moved up the hill and linked up with the besieged B and D companies. A Marine helicopter was landing to pick up the last of the wounded. It brought in some ammunition and food. Just as the chopper took off, the North Vietnamese opened up again with automatic weapons but did not hit the chopper.

Head for Holes

Everyone jumped in foxholes when the North Vietnamese opened up. The firing lasted about 15 minutes. The Marines called in artillery and air strikes and the North Vietnamese quieted down It stayed quiet all night Sunday.

B and D companies moved out at dawn Monday and the rescue battalion stayed behind. For the two companies the long week end was over.

They made their way to The Rockpile, reaching it late Monday afternoon. When they got there, they heard the North Vietnamese open up with mortars, automatic weapons and small arms against the battalion still on the hill. The firing last about 30 minutes.

Westerman welcomed the two battle-worn companies to The Rockpile and shook hands all around. U.S. headquarters said the Marines had killed 171 North Vietnamese during the long weekend, many of them by air and artillery strikes.

"Good Action"

Said Capt. Ronald A. Fredricksen of South Sioux City, Neb., the commander of B Company: "I've been in a lot of action, but this one was really a good one. The Marines reacted beautifully and we came out on top"

"Everyone was cool and confident," said Lance Cpl. Johnny M. Quitugua of Asan, Guam. "We were very thirsty and hungry. But in the end we got so much food we didn't know what to do with it. Lt. McMahon did an outstanding job He conducted everything in a sure way. We lost some people but that is part of war."

"I lost track of the days," said McMahon, weary and unshaven. "I only knew that yesterday was Sunday because that is malaria day and the medic told me to take my weekly malaria pill."

Gloom Prevails Over Opening Of Assembly

gage in behind-the-scene talks. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was among those expected at the opening session.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk already has arranged to meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on Thursday in an effort to improve U. S.-Soviet relations. U. S Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said Viet Nam would be a subject for discussion, but in the past the Soviet Union has refused to talk about peace moves.

Thant told a news conference Monday that East-West relations had dropped to a new low, mainly because of the Viet Nam war, and that there had been a stiffening of the attitudes by all sides.

"To my knowledge, there has not been any meaningful dialogue between Washington and Moscow for a long time," he said

While some diplomats were encouraged by Thant's indication that he might stay on through the assembly session if no agreement was reached on a successor, the leadership crisis was by no means ended.

Thant insisted that he was not only unhappy about the Viet Nam war and the U.N. financial situation but that he was disturbed by the tendency of some governments to regard the secretary general as a "glorified clerk." This apparently was a reference to the Soviet bloc, which has often accused Thant and his predecessors of exceeding their authority.

He suggested that the U.N. members should get on with the job of finding his successor.

"Of course," he said, "if it proves impossible to find an agreed man, somebody acceptable to all, in the course of the next few weeks, I may perhaps consider serving until the end of the present session. In my view, two additional months will be quite ample for the members, particularly the members of the Security Council, to look for a suitable man. I also feel inclined to the view that it would be undesirable to change secretaries-general in the middle of the General Assembly session."

Asked whether he would walk out at the end of the year if no successor was chosen, he replied that he believed a man could be found.

Indonesia's return to the U.N. was announced in a telegram to Thant from its ambassador to the United States, L. N. Palar. He said the new government in Jakarta, which has relegated President Sukarno to virtual figurehead status, "has decided to resume full cooperation with the United Nations and to resume participation in its activities starting with the 21st session of the General Assembly."

Sukarno took Indonesia out of the U.N. when Malaysia was elected to the Security Council. The new Indonesian government recently ended Sukarno's undeclared war against Malaysia.

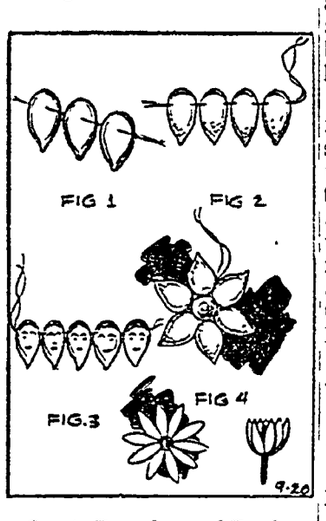
Making Squash-Seed Jewelry Can be Fun

BY CAPPY DICK

When you have squash at your house, save the seeds to make squash-seed jewelry.

A You remove the seeds from the squash, place them in a strainer and hold them under running water. Rub off as much of the pulp as possible with your hands. Let the water strike the seeds with considerable force Before the seeds become dry, make the jewelry.



Create Brooches and Beads

For a necklace thread a lot of seeds as in Figure 1, thrusting the needle and thread through the flat surfaces. Another way is shown in Figure 2 where the needle and thread have been passed through the edges In this case use red and black ink and a pen to draw faces on the seeds as in Figure 3. Ink the back of each seed to represent hair.

Daisy pins (Figure 4) are made by stringing six or seven seeds, piercing them from edge to edge near the round end, then tying them in a circle and gluing the ball end of a whole clove at the center. You may use the stem of the clove as a stem for the daisy, cupping the seeds upwards as shown in Figure 4

REPORT OF THE PUBLIC SAFETY COMMITTEE

The Committee reports and recommends that:

1. The City accept the low quotation of Traffic and Parking Control for the purchase of four Mast Arm Traffic Signal Supports in the amount of $1,028.00.
2. The street lighting in the 300 block of South Meade Street be upgraded in 1968.
3. (A) Parking be prohibited on the east side of S. Lawe Street from East South River Street south a distance of 120 feet.

(B) Parking be prohibited on the north and south sides of East South River Street from Lawe Street east a distance of 120 feet.

These recommendations be referred to the City Attorney and the Welfare and Ordinance Committee to draft the necessary amending ordinances.

4. (A) Temporary "No Parking" restrictions be placed on the north side of Grant Street from Meade Street to a point 100 feet east of the east line of Rankin Street.

(B) Temporary "No Parking" restrictions be placed on the south side of Grant Street from Meade Street to Rankin Street.

These temporary "No Parking" restrictions be kept in force for the construction period required to complete the new addition to the Memorial Hospital.

5. "Yield" signs be erected on Maple Street in such a fashion as to cause traffic on Maple Street to yield to traffic on S. Jackson Street.

This be referred to the City Attorney and the Welfare and Ordinance Committee to draft the necessary amending ordinances.

6. The following Resolution submitted by Alderman Thompson (8-12-66) "Resolved, that "Dead End" sign be installed on Forest Street at Theodore Street" be placed on file as the sign has been erected.
7. "Yield" signs be erected on the southeast corner of Matthias Street at Forest Street in such a fashion as to cause traffic on Matthias Street to yield to traffic on Forest Street.

The City Attorney and the Welfare and Ordinance Committee be instructed to prepare the necessary amending ordinance.

8. A right turn be prohibited for northbound traffic from Leminwah Street onto Opechee Street. The City Attorney be instructed to draft the amending ordinance. This be referred to the Welfare and Ordinance Committee.
9. The following Resolution submitted by Alderman Ayers "Resolved, that due to the increasing incidents of defacing of Traffic Signs throughout the City and that this results in a traffic hazard. Be it Further Resolved that the present Ordinance be revised and penalty and fines for person or persons convicted of such defacing damage be given the stiffest penalty allowable and yet comply with the State Statutes." be referred to the City Attorney for an opinion on the following: (A) Can the city establish a fine of $50.00 or $100.00 minimum fee? (B) Can a Municipality offer a $50.00 or $100.00 Reward for the arrest and conviction of such persons?

REPORT CITY PLAN COMMISSION MEETING

August 29, 1966

The Plan Commission reports and recommends that:

1. The request of Norman W. Hall Company to withdraw the application for a zone change for a parcel of land located on the west side of Driscoll Street north of Charles Street be approved, and the application fee refunded.
2. (a) The request of Sylvester Esler to rezone from single family district to local business district the following described property:

Fourth Ward Plat 4th Wd. E. 4 83 Acres of Block 70, less 201D508, 442D595-597; E. 750.92' of N. 764.14' less lots 1 and 2, and less 201D508, 442D595-597 of Block 71 be denied.

(b) The City Clerk be instructed to advertise for the necessary public hearing.

3. The preliminary plat of the First Addition to Starling Acres be approved. This plat consisting of 28 lots is located one block east of Telulah Street, north of Calumet Street. The Director of Planning has advised the owner by letter that sanitary sewer service is not immediately available for extension into this subdivision.
4. The following streets in the Hansen-Bassett Plat be vacated:

(a) Farrell Street
(b) Farrell Court

and the City Attorney and the City Clerk be instructed to initiate the necessary legal proceedings required for these street vacations.

These streets have never been opened for traffic, and no utilities exist within the rights-of-way. The vacating of these streets is required so that the area can be replatted into a cluster-type multiple family development as previously approved by the Common Council on April 20, 1966.

5. The Plan Commission concurs with the action of the Board of Public Works in the sale of the Red Star School property in the Town of Harrison.
6. Concerning Alderman Radder's resolutions on gas stations, the Plan Commission believes that the regulations pertaining to gasoline service stations contained in proposed zoning ordinance, are the extent to which this type of land usage can be regulated under the Statutory powers granted to the Commission.
7. The Director of Planning be authorized to attend at City expense, the 68th Annual League of Municipalities Conference at the Sheraton-Schroeder Hotel in Milwaukee during the week of October 10, 1966.

325 New Freshmen

Lawrence Freshman Class Most Selective in History

The 325 Lawrence University freshmen arriving on campus Wednesday, were chosen from approximately 1,500 candidates for admission, the largest single group to apply at Lawrence in its 119-year history. Because of limited dormitory space, it was necessary to reduce the size of the class by about 80 from last year's incoming number. The class of 1970 will attend a five-day orientation period before classes begin on Sept. 26.

Classes Compared

Here is how the newcomers compare with the class of 1969, which was a record-setter in many ways:

Median scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), of the College Entrance Examination Board, on which the top score is 800: Verbal — last year's freshmen, 599, this year, 610; mathematical — last year's freshmen, 628; this year's freshmen, 644.

Women's median scores on the SAT: Verbal scores rose from 605 to 626; mathematical scores from 606 to 626.

Men's median scores on the SAT: Verbal rose from 592 to 603; mathematical scores from 650 last year to 653 this year.

High school performances have increased significantly in excellence during the past three years. The fall of 1964 showed 54.7 per cent of the women ranked in the honor 10 per cent of their graduating classes; in 1965, it had risen to 66 3 per cent, this year it is 65.3 per cent.

Men's ranking in the top 10 per cent remained stable in 1964 and 1965, with 33.7 per cent and 33.9 per cent respectively; this year it has risen to 44.4 per cent. The class average for honor 10 per cent raised from 43.1 per cent in 1964 to 47.6 per cent in 1965 to 61.5 per cent in 1966.

23 Valedictorians

There are 23 valedictorians in the class, compared with 16 last year, 16 salutatorians and 21 who ranked third in their high school graduating groups. All three top-ranking students from South Milwaukee High School are enrolled as freshmen.

The geographical base of newcomers is slightly smaller than last year. In 1965 the newcomers came from 32 states, the District of Columbia, and eight foreign countries. This year they come from 26 states, the District of Columbia, and three foreign addresses — Germany, the Canal Zone and Japan.

Nearly 60 members of the freshman class have had relatives on the Lawrence alumni rolls. Thirteen indicate that one parent, and nine that both parents, preceded them at Lawrence. The mothers of three others are alumnae of Milwaukee-Downer College, now Downer College of Lawrence University.

Newcomers whose parents both preceded them either at Lawrence or the Institute of Paper Chemistry are: Denis Dryer, Oshkosh; Bruce Hauptli, Palo Alto, Calif.; John Kafura, 94 Estherbrook Court, Appleton; Sarah Krueger, Shorewood; James Miller, 1508 S. Outagamie St. Appleton; William Pengelly, Edina, Minn.; Elizabeth Rusch, New York; Peter Saving, Brookfield, and Gretchen Schulz, 508 W. Glendale, Appleton. Both the grandparents of William Becker, Vienna, Va., are Lawrentians.

Long Lawrence Pedigrees

Longest Lawrence pedigrees in the class are shared by second cousins Sarah Krueger, Shorewood, and Allyn Jones, Barnstable, Mass., who have 24 relatives on the alumni lists. A complicated web of Perrys, Hooleys, McChesneys, Casses, Whites and Rosebushes make up the relationship.

Vying for secondary honors in that department are William Pengelly, Edina, Minn., with 14; Jeffrey Riester, recently of 1519 Alicia Drive., Appleton, and now of Hartsdale, N.Y., with 12; and Elizabeth Rusch, New York City, 10.

More than 30 of the class are children of educators, either on the secondary or college level. Institutions of higher education in which their parents are represented include The Institute of Paper Chemistry, Yale, Harvard, Wabash, Drew, Hiram, Danbury State in Connecticut, and the Universities of Iowa, Ilinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Cornell, Maryland and Iowa State.

A number of the class have fathers serving in the federal government. Coming from the national capitol will be the son of Rep. John Byrnes, the son of the executive director of the Washington, D.C., Planning and Housing Association, and the son of the chairman of the appeals board of the United States Department of Commerce. A daughter of a Massachussetts state senator is also enrolled.

Cyclist's Leg Broken in Mishap At Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — David Locy, 23, 621 Lincoln Ave., Kaukauna, suffered a broken leg and bruises about 3:20 p.m. Saturday when the motor bike he was riding was involved in a collision with a car driven by Michael Foster, 22, 220 Washington St., Brillion.

According to police, Foster was heading north on Crooks Avenue and attempting to turn onto Third Street when his car collided with the bike being driven south on Crooks. Foster was issued a citation for failutre to yield right of way.

The injured man was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital in the city ambulance for treatment.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS are a GROWTH BUSINESS

America is growing... and newspapers
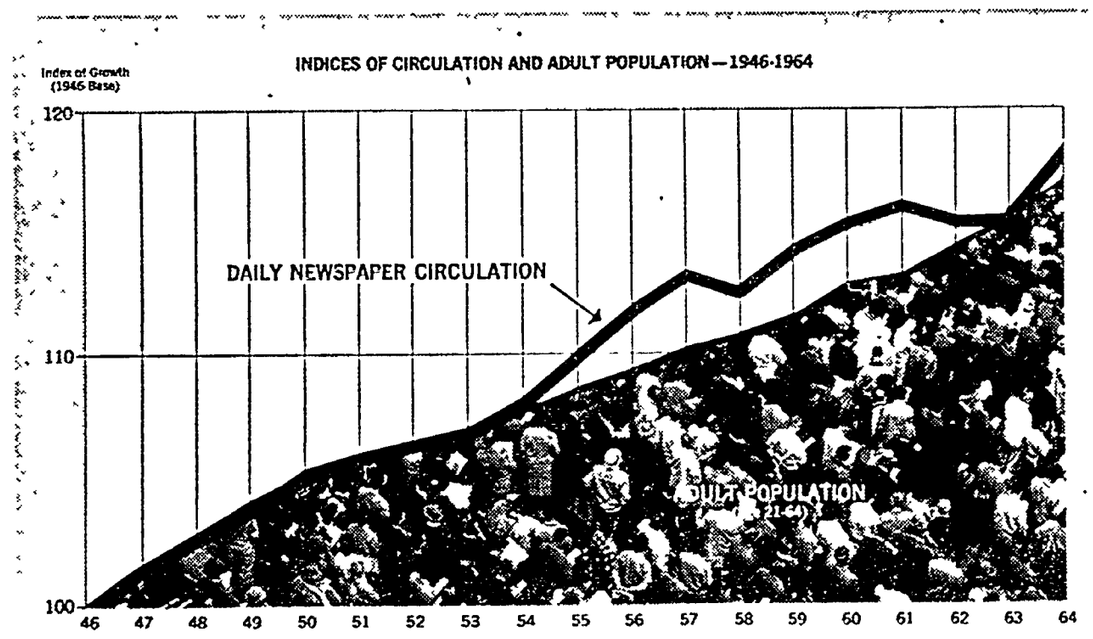
are growing with it



Sources: Current Population Reports, U.S. Department of Commerce and Editor and Publisher Yearbooks

Today there are more than 195 million Americans. Since 1946 Americans between the ages of 21 and 64—those whom economists define as the newspaper-buying public—have increased in number by 17%. In the same period daily newspaper circulation has increased by 19%!

America's daily newspapers have been growing and prospering for nearly 200 years. Today their circulation is at an all-time high. And so are all other measurements of their growth.

Newspaper advertising has more than tripled since 1946. Newspaper employment has increased by more than three times the rate of increase for all manufacturing. And there is solid evidence of continued substantial growth in prospect.

Newspapers are growing for one reason: Only the newspaper covers the news fully and in depth. There is no substitute for the daily newspaper.

For more information on why daily newspapers are a growth business, write for a free copy of the new booklet, "The Growth of the American Daily Newspaper," an economic analysis published by the University of Wisconsin.

Cattlemen Pay Tribute to Late Merchant

Livestock Show Opens at DePere For 217 Exhibitors

Post Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Efforts of the late Oscar Bielefeldt in behalf of the Northeastern Wisconsin Junior Livestock Exposition were recalled at a gathering of colleagues here Monday night at the Hotel Northland.

The tribute was heard at the annual cattlemen's banquet, an event inaugurated and ardently supported by the Green Bay merchant to promote the show.

Today the animals brought by rural young persons from 15 counties were judged. Wednesday they will be sold at auction.

The 22nd annual exposition opened officially Monday with the registration of 404 head of livestock by 217 exhibitors. The entris included 171 steers, 86 lambs and 147 barrows.

Wednesday Auction

Tonight the exhibitors will be entertained at a banquet at the Brown County Veterans Memorial arena sponsored by the Chamber. Trophies will be presented for the grand championship animals.

The auction will begin at 9 a.m. Wednesday with the sale order interrupted at noon for the grand and reserve champions.

Agricultural Award

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The W. K. Kellogg Foundation has awarded $295,000 to the Southern Regional Education Board for application toward a five-year program in agricultural education.

Kaukauna Jaycee Program

Deadline Oct. 1 for OFY Award Nominees

KAUKAUNA — Deadline for nominations of Outstanding Young Farmer (OYF) award candidates is Oct. 1, according to Richard Mech, chairman of the contest being sponsored by the Jaycees and Badger Northland Inc.

Farmers nominated must be between the ages of 21 and 35. Nominations must be sent to the Kaukauna Jaycees, P. O. Box 33, Kaukauna. Reports compiled by Jaycees on the basis of interviews will be given to a special judging committee which will select the final winner.

Judging will be based on career progress, conservation practices and community service. The winner will be announced at the farmer recognition banquet Oct. 19 at Oakwood Hills which will be open to all area farmers.

State Contest

OYF winners from local contests will enter state competition at Appleton Dec. 2. The state winner will advance to the national finals in Harrisonburg, Va., April 8-11.

This is the 11th year the United States Jaycees have conducted such a program and the fourth year for the Kaukauna chapter.

"Agriculture is America's oldest and biggest industry," Burt McIntyre, president of the local Jaycees, said. "And as a consequence of the acumen and efficiency of the men engaged in this industry, ours is the best-fed, best-clothed nation in the world. It is our hope that the OYF program will result in a better understanding and appreciation of the role of the farmer in our daily lives."

Village to Enforce Parking Ordinance

COMBINED LOCKS — Ernest Danielson, chief of police, reports numerous violations of the village ordinance which prohibits parking on streets in the community between 2 and 6 a.m.

This ordinance is in effect the year around, not only during winter months, and police warn they will begin issuing citations immediately.

Children's Professions Often Decided by Their Parents

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 11 years old and already I have figured out what the parents in

Landers

America are up to. The minute a baby is born they start planning out his whole life. If it's a boy they want him to be a doctor. If it's a girl they want her to be a teacher.

My mother has been telling me ever since I was old enough to understand anything that I am going to be a teacher. It so happens that I don't want to be a teacher. Besides, something very strange happened to me. In Sunday school I learned that certain people sometimes get a "call" from above. The good Lord tells special people what they ought to do with their lives. Well, I got a call from the Lord just yesterday. He wants me to be a model.

Since America is supposed to be the land of the free don't you think I should be allowed to follow the call? Thank you for your help. — Future Planner

Dear Planner: Keep listening. I suspect you'll get at least a dozen different "calls" before you have to make up your mind. Write to me again when you are 16, Toots. (And send a picture.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Usually the meals at our house are fairly good. I'm a better than average cook and it's a rare day when I throw a dinner together in a haphazard manner.

Sure enough, whenever I do, somebody drops in. My husband always ask them to join us and I'm embarrassed to death. It's pointless to apologize for the boiled chicken gizzards and baked beans and explain that we usually have better meals. In the first place what we eat is our own business and in the second place nobody would believe me.

I think it's perfectly O.K. to ask an unexpected visitor to sit in the living room with the newspaper until we have finished eating. My husband says it's rude not to ask a guest to sit at the table with us. What do you say? — Outshouted

Dear Out: In my opinion nobody is more rude than the person who drops in unexpectedly at dinner time. You should not feel uncomfortable about seating such a person in another part of the house until you have finished eating. If you wish to have your coffee in the living room and pour a cup for the guest, it's better than he deserves.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Yesterday I received a letter in the mail. It comprised several pages of advice on how to improve my marriage. The letter was signed "An Objective Friend."

"Objective Friend" did a lot more harm than good. The "helpful" advice was based on wrong information. Unfortunately, the letter fell into my husband's hands and much of the progress I had made went down the drain.

Please tell all "Objective Friends" everywhere to mind their own business. Thank you very much. — Mrs. D. S.

Dear Mrs. D.S.: Objective Friends do mind their own business. The person who wrote you the anonymous letter was neither objective — nor a friend. Forget it.

Is a heavy drinker an alcoholic? How can you tell? Is there a cure for alcoholism? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Alcoholism — Hope and Help." Enclose with your request, 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sophomores Welcomed to AHS at Annual Dance

Appleton High School sophomores were welcomed officially by fellow students Saturday evening in the school gym. The dance was planned by Pep Club as its annual salute to the new class.

This year, with AHS enrollment at an all-time high, the party was attended by a record number of teens. "The Gentlemen" of Milwaukee provided music and refreshments were available through the evening.

Ticket chairman for the party was Jenny Rathbun; decorations, Jane Jenkel, and refreshments, Sue Thorson.

A Place For a bit of conversation was found by Scott Ferguson and Becky Rahn during the Soph Welcome Saturday evening at Appleton High School. At left, watching the dancers and the band, are Mary Rector and Andri Hendriks.

Much of the evening was spent watching the band, but many of the students also spent an hour or two dancing. Above are David Fredrickson and Holly Zwicker. At left, the drummer was a man in motion throughout the evening, drawing a crowd of onlookers. (Post - Crescent Photos)

Diaper Deliveryman Becomes a Cynic: Speaks in Shades of Tattle-Tale Gray

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little mysteries is what a modern wife does after fixing her hubby's breakfast in the morning.

If you ask her, she will flutter her pretty eyelashes and reply, "Start cleaning the house, of course."

Any man innocent enough to believe that also probably still believes that if he puts a horsehair in a jar of rain water and leaves it in the basement for six weeks it will turn into a snake.

The other day while waiting to catch a bus to go to work I fell into idle conversation with a young diaper deliveryman.

Not Getting Married

"This job has wrecked me for marriage," he volunteered. "I'll never get married."

"That so? Why?"

"Because I've learned too much about women — I mean too much about what they really are."

"What are they really?" I asked.

"They're hypocrites. Believe me, I know. I see them when they are off guard, and 99 out of 100 are hypocrites."

"How's that?"

If Husbands Returned

"Well, you see that apartment house over there?" he said, pointing at a nearby building. "There are 120 families living in it. All the wives are sending their husbands off to earn them a living. But if the husbands came back half an hour alter, what do you think they'd find their wives doing?"

"Why, probably cleaning up the house," I ventured.

"Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha. You make me laugh."

"Well, what would they be doing?"

"Everything but cleaning up the house."

Another Forty Winks

"Well, most of them have probably jumped right back in bed for another snooze. They think they've done their main work for the day when they give their husband a bawling out and a piece of burnt toast and push him out the front door."

"Well, how about the ones that don't jump back in bed?"

"They're even worse," said the young man.

"What do they do?"

"They dye their hair, and figure out what they can take back and exchange at the department store, and call up their bookies to make bets, and—"

"Make bets?"

"Yeah, most of them are too lazy to go to the track."

Neighborhood Coffee Klatch

"Mister, you wouldn't believe the half of what they do. They put on a robe and gather at a neighbor's for a coffee klatch And it ain't always just for coffee. They swill gin fizzes and laugh at what fools they've got for husbands."

"That's terrible."

"Their real breakfast."

"Sure. That toast and coffee they give their husband is just a gag. As soon as he's gone they cook themselves four fried eggs and half a dozen pieces of bacon. Believe me, mister—"

Back to Apartment

The young man left to make a delivery, and reaching in my pocket I found I had left my money in another suit.

Back I went and rang the bell to my apartment. My wife Frances came to the door with the phone in her hand but she said it wasn't the bookie she was calling but somebody else. There was a delicious smell coming from the stove, but she said it wasn't for her, it was some liver she was warming for the cat.

"Are you crazy or something, Rover?" she asked. "Go on to work."

"Why?"

"Why?" she asked. "Why, so I can start cleaning the house, silly."

Well, I just don't know. Whom can a husband believe — the neighborhood diaperman or his wife?"

First Lady Goes West

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson flies west today for a look at California culture and conservation—the first leg of a four-day, 4,300-mile trip to three states.

A fashion show in the air, a gourmet lunch and special berth have been set up aboard the First Lady's chartered jet plane for the cross-country flight.

Mrs. Johnson has scheduled a 17-hour day that includes dedication of the Sandy Point Reyes National Seashore north of San Francisco and attendance tonight at the season's opening of the San Francisco Opera.

The President's wife, who usually travels tourist class aboard commercial planes, will enjoy special luxury on this trip.

She'll be aboard a 92-passenger airliner with a party of 40 reporters, Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Stewart L. Udall and members of her staff.

At stops later this week in Arizona and New Mexico, Mrs. Johnson will dedicate a Colorado River dam and visit Indian reservations.

Caveat Emptor Applies to Tricky Guarantees Also

While most people wouldn't make a major purchase without receiving some sort of guarantee on the product, there's a widespread lack of knowledge about what a guarantee is, what it isn't, and just what to look for when offered a guarantee.

Take the case, for example, of one lady who went in to get a replacement for her "Lifetime Guaranteed" muffler which had burned out. She wasn't given a new one, however, since the guarantee was for the lifetime of the muffler — not the lifetime of the car or of the lady!

But the tips in this story may help you avoid such incidents, and make you a smarter shopper.

Essentially, a guarantee is a promise to make good in case something unforeseen happens to the thing you buy. There are four main questions, listed by researchers at a chemical company that you should keep in mind when you're evaluating any guarantee: 1.(What has to happen? 2.) During what interval of time after purchase? 3.) Who will make good? 4.) In what way?

Some guarantees promise that the guarantor will make good if you discover a mechanical defect in the product that existed at the time you bought it. Others promise to make good in the event that what you bought stops functioning properly.

The second guarantee is much better, for it's easier to prove that a product just stopped working than to prove that it stopped because of an inherent mechanical defect.

Read Fine Print

If the first type of guarantee is offered to you by a reputable dealer, it's probably a subtle hint that you may be buying too cheap a product. A $3.95 watch may be free of mechanical defects, but that doesn't mean that a part can't wear out in two weeks. Only a "function" guarantee can protect you from such eventualities. But if you get one, be sure it covers the whole product and not just a part.

The guarantee slip should always tell you for how long the guarantee is good. Be sure to read the fine print. If a guarantee says at the top in bold letters, "Ten Year Guarantee," but then goes on to say, in smaller print, that the guarantor will fix the product free if something goes wrong with it during the first 30 days after purchase, you may find that you have to pay the full repair cost if anything goes wrong during the remainder of the ten year period. In other words it's really a 30-day guarantee.

The Dealer

You're safe if you have it in writing that a product is unconditionally guaranteed for a definite period of time.

You don't have to worry if you deal with a reputable local dealer, or if you buy a well-advertised nation brand. But if you buy a known brand from a little-known dealer, be sure you understand the "factory guarantee" he shows you.

Parts & Labor Coverage

In some cases, the factory will make good only if the merchandise is bought from an authorized dealer. In almost all cases, the factory guarantee covers only the product: the factory won't make good if the dealer does a faulty installation job.

If the product you buy is a mechanical one, the guarantee may cover the parts, labor or both — or it may cover neither. Find out for sure.

A guarantee to repair a product at no charge if something goes wrong may be better than the promise of a "free" replacement. If a company offers you a guarantee to repair the product, you know two things: 1) that the company thinks its product is so good that it won't need repairs or replacement for at least the guarantee period; 2) that if it does, you're safe — the company will fix it for nothing.

The Infant Welfare Circle of The King's Daughters set up shop Monday for its fall rummage sale at All Saints Episcopal Church Parish center. The sale will take place Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. Above, beginning to sort and price sale items, are Mrs. Paul Wesco, Mrs. A. C. Denney and Mrs. Ralph McGowan. (Post-Crescent Photo)

A Lovelier You

Weight on Back Is Aging

BY MARY SUE MILLER

Few figure problems age a woman faster than a fatty cushion at the nape of the neck. In the popular view, it is taken for a sure sign of age and is referred to, accordingly, as "dowager's hump."

Certainly some years are required to develop the condition. On the subject of prevention and cure reams of advice have been written. But boiled down, it bubbles up to this:

1. Make a habit of carrying your chin parallel to the floor and drawing your neck up into a long, taut column. Letting the chin jut forward and telescoping the neck into the shoulders are prime causes of the problem.

2. Try to keep your weight near-ideal. A pad is encouraged to form, when your weight is excessive. Once formed, it grows plumper if you do. And it is difficult to reduce even though you diet and lose weight.

3. For sure reduction, exercise is necessary. This routine is excellent for the purpose:

Stand erect, chin up and arms down at sides; stiffen elbows and make a loose fist. Leading with fist, swing arms up and back. Then break wrists — turn fists toward floor — and hold for five counts. Return to starting position and repeat fifteen times.

Now clasp hands behind hips. Stretch arms up and back, and slowly drop head backward. Ten times.

Diligent work brings about a youthful line. And that's worth working for!

Let me help you with the problem of a too-fleshy arm, chest or upper back by sending you my leaflet, Trimmers and Slimmers. It contains a set of co-ordinated spot reducing exercises — easy to do, quick to get results. Just write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover handling.

Awards Dinner Climaxes Golf Season

KAUKAUNA — Fox Valley Women's Golf Association played its final game of the season Wednesday at Fox Valley Golf Club. Wing-Ding was the day's main event.

Mrs. Theodore Maas, Kimberly, and Mrs. Grover Patterson had the longest drive and longest putt on flight A; Mrs. Edward Van Berkel and Mrs. Clarence Kons, Little Chute, B; Mrs. Donald Swetz and Mrs. Cy Berg, C; and Mrs. Gregory Hanegraaf, Appleton, and Mrs. Robert Jansen, Little Chute, D.

Mrs. John Masaros, Kimberly, came closest to the pin on an approach shot.

At the luncheon at the clubhouse, retiring officers were presented with gifts and four golfers with trophies.

New Officers

New officers for the coming year are Mrs. Heinz Dankwardt, Combined Locks, chairman; Mrs. Leo Eimmerman, Kaukauma, secretary; Mrs. Norbert Fassbender, treasurer; Mrs. Reginald Hermsen, Little Chute, golf events chairman, assisted by Mrs. Harvey Van Vreede and Mrs. Frank Hermsen, Little Chute; Mrs. Donald Gonnering and Mrs. William Van Laanen, Freedom, handicap chairman; Mrs. Walter Vanden Boom, Kimberly, Mrs. Donald Peters, Little Chute, and Mrs. Daniel Wildenberg, Combined Locks, house committee, and Mrs. Emil Koglin and Mrs. Floyd Stegeman, auditing committee.

Mrs. Wayne Hull presents trophies to Mrs. Clarence Kons, Mrs. Clarence Wolf and Mrs. Frank Hermsen, all of Little Chute, at an awards dinner held by the Fox Valley Golf Association Wednesday at Fox Valley Clubhouse. Mrs. John Diestler also won a trophy. At left, Mrs. Earl Van Hammond tees off as Mrs. Gerald Nytes, Mrs. Donald Swetz, Mrs. Heinz Dankwart and Mrs. Gordon Ver Kuilen wait their turns.

Breaking Defense Best Rule

In most notrump hands the best defense is to return your partner's suit, and anybody who casts doubt on this policy is a public enemy. They may put my picture up in the post office, but I must still point out that there are times when you must switch from partner's good suit to a poor suit.

South shrewdly overtook dummy's nine of hearts with the king at the first trick and led the nine of clubs for a finesse. East held off, and South led another club.

West discarded the five of spades, and East took the king of clubs. This was the big moment, but East muffed it by returning his other heart.

West could take the ace of hearts but then there was no way to stop declarer from taking nine tricks. South was sure to get two hearts, two diamonds and five clubs.

East should defeat the contract by returning a diamond after being given his club trick. South takes the ace of diamonds but cannot afford to cash the king because then the defenders would get the ace of hearts, a club, two spades and two diamonds.

After taking just one diamond trick South leads a heart. West takes the ace of hearts and leads a heart to dummy's queen. Declarer can run dummy's clubs but never gets a second diamond trick. Dummy's last three cards are the three spades, and West saves the ace of spades and two good hearts to defeat the contract.

Since East can count five club tricks and two hearts for declarer his best chance is to cut communications between the North and South hands. A spade return cannot take three spades out of the dummy, but a diamond lead can take the only diamond out of dummy.

Partner deals and bids one diamond, and the next player passes. You hold: S—K 7 6, H—7 2, D—10 6 5 2, C—K 7 6 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two diamonds. The only alternative is to respond one notrump. Since you have four-card support for diamonds and a side doubleton, the raise is a better description of your hand.

'Talk Turkey' to Reluctant Teens

Sometimes it is necessary to "talk turkey" to teens who show reluctance to bathe often enough, says Dr. Eve Jones, a medical adviser and columnist.

She believes that: "There's no point to pussy-footing around in an effort to spare their delicate feelings if their behavior indicates they don't care about being delicate."

Dr. Jones believes that buying bath oils, salts, and other enticements won't take the place of some plain talk about the value of just soap and water.

School Building Planning Parley Set at Kimberly

Proposed to Share Construction Ideas With Area Officials

An area meeting for planning new school buildings is scheduled at 8 p.m. Oct. 19 at the Kimberly High School auditorium.

"The purpose of the program is to gain and share ideas of architects, school boards, teachers and the State Department of Public Instruction officials on building a school," according to Kenneth Poppy, coordinator of Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 8, which is sponsoring the meeting.

The tentative program includes a welcome by Ray Hamann, Kimberly Schools superintendent, and a panel discussion on "To Plan a School."

Speaking on the selection of an architect will be Julian Bichler, Kaukauna Schools Superintendent; the role of the architect, Larry Bray; role of the teacher, administrator and school board in school planning, Jack Myers of the Neenah School Board;

Role of the State Department of Public Instruction, Al Buechner; bidding on fixed equipment for school buildings, Ole Norstrom; and when is the completed building accepted, Marvin J. Gegan, Menasha Schools Superintendent.

Poppy will act as moderator.

Appleton Proposed School Budget Up by $850,000

Rising Costs, Two New Schools Primary Factors in Soaring $5,704,061 Preliminary Figure

Expenses for calendar year 1967 in the Appleton School System will be approximately $850,000 above the estimated 1966 total with the largest increases due to the new Appleton High School East and Highlands Elementary School.

Rising prices in nearly every category from bus fares to library books, and the addition of more than 40 new teachers to the system's staff by the end of 1967 were cited as reasons for the soaring budget Monday night as the board of education reviewed a preliminary expense budget presented by William R. Knuth, director of business affairs.

Expenses listed in the preliminary budget totaled $5,704,061, an increase of $852,284 over the eight months actual expenses and four months estimated costs during 1966.

Not Complete Picture

The total does not, however, represent the actual amount which will determine Appleton's tax levy for the school budget since income figures have not yet been taken out of the total.

The final request which the board will make to the city's finance committee sometime in October will be the expense budget less total aids received by the system. That difference will determine the tax levy.

Knuth said Monday that Appleton's new schools are causing the projected budget to skyrocket. Salaries for new teachers will consume approximately $230,000, accounting for more than one-quarter of the total 1967 increase, he said.

An estimated $212,000 will be spent on capital outlay next year, $102,000 more than 1966. Included in the capital outlay category are public improvements and the purchase of instructional equipment. A new incinerator system at the high school will cost about $7,500.

Administration Budget

The administration department budget was listed at $117,324 or an increase of $19,113 over 1966. That figure includes provision for a deputy school superintendent for a portion of the year, a part-time employe in the bookkeeping and payroll department and regular salary schedule increases for administrators.

The largest single expenditure is predicted for instructional purposes. Projected estimates show $4,218,560 being spent in that category which will include teachers' salaries and purchase of library books.

Projected salary increases were said to be quite accurate since the board has already approved the teacher's salary schedule which determines annual wage increases. An amount of $4.50 per pupil is included to purchase library books. Last year's library rate was $4.

Other major increases expected for 1967 include:

—Addition of a nurse to the health services staff.

—Increasing one-way bus fare from 10 cents to 12.5 cents per pupil.

—Increased custodial and utilities expenses at the new schools.

—Resurfacing existing asphalt streets next to schools.

—A $10,000 expenditure for a new public address system in

City Finance Committee Braced for Assault of Big Budget Requests

Finance Director Henry Schreve had bad news for Appleton property owners Monday night when he predicted a possible sharp tax rate increase for 1967.

Schreve told the common council's finance committee the boost will be contingent on how much the board of education will ask for in its operations budget for the coming year.

General city budgets — not including the school board and other municipal agencies — add up to $989,000 more than actual appropriations this year, according to Schreve.

"With all departmental budgets in," Schreve said, "At this point everything tends to be on the upside."

(The board of education will spend $5,704,061 to operate the public school system as per the budget formulated last night, an increase of $855,284 over this year's actual allocation. The increases for general city purposes and schools, added together, total $1,844,284 for the coming year. City capital outlays have yet to be added.

Schreve told the committee one of the major increases this year would be payments on principal and interest for bonded indebtedness. He said the boost would amount to $245,000 in 1967 and attributed about $200,000 to new school bonding.

Committee Request

At the request of the committee, Schreve will give a "state of city finances" report Oct. 3 — just three days before it starts reviewing departmental budget requests.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), finance committee chairman, asked for the report. Mayor Buckley, who requested all departments, boards and commissions to "hold the line" and emphasize economy in their proposed budgets, is also a member of the budget examining committee.

"We are going to start getting at the departmental budgets Oct. 6," Tews said, "and it will take more than a week."

Schreve, who became finance director just before budget time a year ago, has indicated he will have some recommendations to make to the budget examiners.

Agent Shaw To Train At Madison

New county extension workers will confer at the University of Wisconsin Madison next week for a training session which ends Friday.

Outagamie County 4-H Agent William Shaw will be attending. Shaw will return to the Fox Cities Monday night for the 4-H Leaders Association annual recognition banquet at Seymour and then return to Madison for the remainder of the week-long session.

Purpose of the program is to give extension agents a better understanding of the extension service and their role in it.

Grand Chute Request for Appleton's Services Denied

Town Asks Oneida Street Sewer Use, Topography Maps

If Grand Chute wants city services, then the town should proceed with orderly annexation into the City of Appleton was the position taken by the Appleton Council's street-sanitation committee Monday night.

Thomas Thorson, town chairman, said Grand Chute was in the process of widening and reconstructing a portion of Oneida Street and sought permission to connect to the city's storm sewer system.

Town officials also requested the city for use of topography maps of the area which would air them in laying out their new sewer district. The committee recommended denial.

"We don't want to seem unreasonable about this matter," Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), committee chairman and council president said, "but the city has services to offer those who are in the city."

Standing Policy

Pointer noted the council has a standing policy of not extending services outside the city limits unless annexation is involved, and he felt it should apply in this instance involving the town's request.

Committee members also pointed out the maps cost Appleton the equivalent of $200 per acre and represented an investment of well over $50,000. They were obtained for present and long-range planning of sewers and other utilities with the city paying the entire cost.

Pointer and other members said they would have made a favorable recommendation to the council if the town's requests represented a joint venture.

"Let's say we are willing to annex that section of the town which requires the sewers and will program an orderly project on that basis," Pointer said.

Explained Project

Earlier, Thorson had explained the road improvement undertaken by the town and said it would be of mutual benefit to Grand Chute and Appleton if the city permitted the town to connect to the existing sewer.

"The water comes draining down into the city anyway from the ditches in the area," Thorson said.

"We are here in the spirit of cooperation and feel it will be beneficial both ways if the town puts in the pipe and hooks it to the city's underground system," Thorson said.

Street Alignment

Later, Ald. Clifford Radder (16th) said he felt as long as the

Taught School for 40 Years; Served As Village Clerk

Harry Steffen, 64, retired supervising teacher of Outagamie County for 40 years and village clerk at Hortonville for 16, died Monday at Wausaukee. He had lived at Wausaukee since his retirement.

A native of Hortonville, he attended Outagamie County Teachers College, Kaukauna; Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point and Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh.

Steffen, who moved to Wausaukee in June of 1965, was a life-long member of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, Hortonville; the Wisconsin Education Association, Outagamie Mental Health Association; Outagamie County Teachers Association, charter member of the Hortonville Commercial Club, Outagamie County Court House Association and the National Retired Teachers Association.

Surviving are the widow, one daughter, a son, a sister, two brothers and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Augustine Church, Wausaukee. Friends may call at the Morsky Funeral Home, Wausaukee, from 5 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Youth Again Accused of Burglary

Warren (Pepper) Schroeder, 19, 209 W. Pacific St., who attempted armed burglary, Monday afternoon was arraigned on a burglary charge brought by Appleton police.

Schroeder, who is in jail in lieu of posting $5,000 bond, was charged with burglarizing the South Side Service Station, 1623 S. Oneida St., on Aug. 8. The station is operated by Herman Brickler.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller found Schroeder to be indigent and appointed James Bayorgeon as legal counsel. Bayorgeon earlier was appointed to represent Schroeder on the attempted armed burglary charge. The burglary proceedings started Monday were contined to Friday afternoon. Judge Keller set bond at $2,500.

Schroeder and Robert V. Krull, 23, also of 209 W. Pacific St., are charged with the attempted armed burglary of the Maritime Tavern, 326 W. Wisconsin Ave., on Aug. 21. They were bound over to Circuit Court following a preliminary hearing in County Court Sept. 2.

Recreation Committee To View Lake Sites

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin's Outdoor Recreation Advisory committee will meet Friday and Saturday in Lake Delton to inspect existing and potential sites in the area.

Wayne U. Hood of La Crosse, committee chairman, who called the meeting, said, "The area has a number of sites of statewide significance which we would like to take a look at."

Action Promised on Court Jurisdiction

Froehlich Vows to Return Ninth Ward Cases to Outagamie Courts

Assemblyman Harold V. Froehlich, Appleton, today told city and county officials he has taken initial steps on legislative action regarding jurisdiction of Outagamie County Courts over violations that occur in the portion of Appleton's Ninth Ward in Calumet County.

Froehlich's intentions were revealed in a letter received this morning by Appleton Mayor George Buckley. A copy of the letter also went to Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller, who last Friday ruled that his court had no jurisdiction over proceedings against a 63-year Appleton man charged by city police with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants.

The man had pleaded guilty, was fined $175 and lost his driver's license for one year. However, on a petition from an Appleton attorney, Judge Keller dismissed the case and vacated his earlier judgement, on the basis that the offense occurred in the Calumet County portion of Appleton.

Calumet Court

The Branch 2 decision means that violations occurring in the city's Ninth Ward, second precinct, will be brought before Calumet County Court in Chilton for action.

Froehlich said in his letter that, . . . efficiency and economy in the trying of these cases certainly demands that they be tried in Appleton and not in Chilton. I have . . . requested the Legislative Reference Bureau to work with the attorney general's office or the State Judicial Council in preparing a bill that would allow Branch 2 of the Outagamie County Court to try these cases."

The county's first district assemblyman said that upon receiving a draft of the legislation, he will send copies to Buckley, City Atty. David Geenen and Judge Keller for their comments.

"I plan on having it (the legislation) ready for introduction during the first weeks of the 1967 legislative session," Froehlich said.

Stommel Estate Is $62,000 in Probate

OSHKOSH — Distribution of the $62,143 estate of the late Carl J. Stommel, Route 1, Paynes Point, Neenah, was ordered Tuesday by Probate Judge Herbert J. Mueller. Stommel died March 20.

The entire estate, which consisted of personal and jointly held property, goes to his widow, Margaret.

Arthur Gabbert, Oshkosh, who died Aug. 12, left an estate of $149,222, according to the inventory filed Monday with Judge Mueller.

The estate consists of $95,831 in personal property, $48,151 in joint property and $5,240 in life insurance. Most of the personal property is stock in American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

According to terms of the will, the entire estate will go to the widow, Leatha.

School System Proposal

Mayor Shaken by Budget Request

"I can't believe it!" Mayor George Buckley uttered the comment today when informed that Appleton Public School system's preliminary budget requests for 1967 totaled $5,704,061.

Buckley said he expected an increase due to the opening of two new schools next fall but was not thinking in terms of the $855,284 boost the school board is recommending.

"I would say my first reaction is the school budget can be cut by 10 per cent," Buckley said during an informal conference in his office this morning.

$5 on Tax Rate

"The increase in the school budget represents about $5 more on the tax rate," Buckley said.

Schreve informed him the school board has not arrived at an estimate on its revenues which would be used to offset the total operation cost in 1967. He predicted revenues may be up.

Buckley said he had not received a copy of the budget as requested from the board, and also claimed the board had failed to send out meeting cards to inform members of the councils school advisory committee that a special budget meeting was being held last night.

Completed Budget

Schreve said he conferred with William Knuth, schools' business manager this morning, and asked that a copy of the complete board of education 1967 budget be in his office "on or before Oct. 10 so I will have an opportunity to study it."

Schreve informed Knuth the school board would be scheduled to appear before the budget examining (finance) committee the night of Oct. 17.

"Something is going to have to be done on these budget requests because people on fixed incomes won't be able to meet rising tax payments," Buckley said.

Approximately $400 Reported Stolen at Xavier High School

Approximately $400 was reported stolen from a locked room at Xavier High School sometime late Monday night or early this morning.

Reports said there were no apparent signs of forced entry into the building. Appleton police were investigating. A dance for students was held at the school Monday night.

Ponath Recommendation

Shift Sewer, Water Proposal to Committee

Executive committee members today altered an Outagamie County Board decision of last week by referring a water and sewer study for county communities from an outside committee to the board's agriculture and conservation committee.

The matter was to have been studied by a recently formed Wolf-Fox Coordinating committee made up of members of the Wolf River Basin and Fox Valley regional planning commissions. Rerouting of the proposed comprehensive area plan came after a recommendation by A. W. Ponath, county corporation counsel.

Ponath said the matter had to be referred to a committee of the county board and not to an outside committee such as the Wolf — Fox coordinating group.

The executive committee voted unanimously for referral after a motion by Seymour Supr. Marvin Babbitt, vice chairman of the board.

Plans for the water and sewer study were presented to supervisors last week by William E. Morris, executive director of the Wolf River planning group.

The plan, according to Morris, would cost approximately $276,130 for the eight-county area. The Farmers Home Administration would pay 85 per cent of the plan cost, he said. Outagamie County's share would be $16,092.

3-Count Traffic Trial Continued By Judge Keller

Bonds totaling $275 were set today and the trial of Terrence R. Gavins, 18, 610 N. Owaissa St., Appleton for three counts of traffic violations was continued to next Tuesday.

Gavins appeared before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller this morning to answer charges of operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol, driving without a license and leaving the scene of an accident.

The defendant did not enter a plea and Judge Keller continued the case to allow Gavins an opportunity to consult legal counsel.

German Skier to Present Program

KAUKAUNA — Fritz Stammberger, first man to conquer one of the 14 peaks higher than 26,000 feet on skis, will present a program for ninth and tenth grade students Wednesday morning at Kaukauna High School.

He is the sole survivor of the German Himalya Ski Expedition in 1964 whose objective was to ascend and descend on skis the 26,700 foot Cho Oyo in Nepal, Tibet. Cho Oyo is the world's sixth highest mountain and highest peak ever climbed without artificial oxygen. Two members of the group died of fatigue and exhaustion in the climb.

Prior to this climb during a 4-year Alpine trip around the world, Stammberger aimed at climbing the highest peak of every country he passed through. He climbed solo in 15 countries on four continents and reached the summit of highest peaks in 10 countries.

Area Cities Miss Federal Comment On Fox Pollution

Appleton, Neenah and Menasha failed to have representatives at a Great Lakes pollution conference at Chicago Friday although invited by Vice President Humphrey to do so.

Robert J. Schneider, Chicago, deputy regional director of the Federal Pollution and Control Administration, presented an inventory of pollution trouble spots in the Great Lakes.

In addition to singling out southern Green Bay, Milwaukee and Chicago areas as troubled by excessive pollutants, Schneider said: ". . .There is evidence of severe bacterial contamination of the Fox River between Lake Winnebago and Green Bay. . ."

County Board Urged Not to Rezone Old Port

Real Estate Developer Claims Most Of Property Suitable for Housing

An Appleton real estate developer has urged the Outagamie County Board not to rezone the old county airport for commercial use as an industrial park.

The plea was made in a letter to the county board's executive committee from Elmer R. Honkamp of the Honkamp Realty Co. The letter was received and placed on file this morning by the executive committee. There was no discussion on the request.

Honkamp, in the letter contended that rezoning of the airport land, "would not be in the best interest of the City of Appleton."

He continued, "We are short of good residential property now. While part of the old airport property lies along the railraod (Chicago and North Western) and also fronts on a busy highway (Outagamie County Trunk OO), the great bulk of it is very suitable for residential purposes, of the type that is now fully extended east to Ballard Road . . ."

For Apartments

Honkamp maintained the portion of the old airport that lies along the highway and the railroad tracks can be used for apartment purposes, with provisions for a small park area along the railroad portion.

"Our industrial section should be remote from the residential area of the city," Honkamp said in his letter. "Heavy industry should go beyond new U.S. 41 to the north," he said.

A recommendation was made earlier this month by the technical advisory committee of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission that the old airport property and land immediately surrounding it be developed into an industrial park.

The matter has been discussed for some time by city and county officials.

Included in the proposed park is all land between Ballard Road on the west, the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. tracks on the south, the proposed Tri-County Expressway on the east, and a greenward or drainage area to the north.

Industrial Park

The industrial park, according to the planning unit's recommendation, would include three basic sections, with plots for industries of varying sizes.

In other action this morning, the executive committee referred to the board's health,

Seek Modern Plant Replacement

Antiquated Goodland Field May Go

Appleton's antiquated Goodland Field might be replaced, city officials learned Monday afternoon.

The proposal came from attorney William Heerman before the park and recreation commission, which heard views on what to do with Chicago White Sox president Arthur Allyn's query on whether the baseball park is for sale.

Heerman, stating that the commission should strive to keep both minor league baseball and a municipal stadium in the city, suggested that perhaps Appleton could sell Goodland Field to commercial interests and find a new site for Allyn to develop as a baseball park.

The possibility arose after it was learned last week that Allyn, who originally hinted he might spend up to $50,000 at Goodland Field for installation of better shower and dressing room facilities, asked Fox Cities Foxes president Robert Rahn if the park were for sale.

Additional $100,000

Heerman, who feared putting more money into the somewhat dilapidated Goodland Field would be like "whipping a dead horse," admitted the city-owned park might bring a better sale price to commercial interests than it would to Allyn for baseball purposes. In addition to shower facilities, Goodland Field is in need of a new lighting system, which would cost an additional estimated $100,000.

"If someone wants to invest $100,000 to $150,000 in our town," Heerman said, "why not have a say where he puts it?"

"The city could end up with a profit from selling the old ball park, the land would be back on the tax rolls and we would have a new ball park," he added.

Heerman and Ald. Arthur Mueller (19th) both admitted to certain misgivings about selling Goodland Field as is to the White Sox, which is the Foxes' major league affiliate. Both feared that, while the baseball atmosphere in the Fox Cities is okay now, it might not be several years from now, leading to a possible "pulling out" of the White Sox and "killing" of the Foxes. "We could end up with neither the ball team nor the ball park," Heerman said.

"I don't like the idea of seeing the same thing happening here that happened in Milwaukee," said Mueller. In Milwaukee, the Braves organization took the team elsewhere and left the city

Municipalities, Industries Warned to Curtail Pollution

Resource Group Sees Need for Action on Fox, Peshtigo Rivers

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Municipalities and industrial plants along the Fox and Peshtigo Rivers must immediately act to reduce pollution discharges, the Natural Resource Committee of State Agencies has warned.

The statement is one of a list of 12 recommendations growing out of two special conferences on pollution called by Gov. Warren P. Knowles in Green Bay and Milwaukee last summer.

Outgrowth of Conflict

The recommendations, drawn up by a special committee of the interagency group in preparation for the final publication of the conference proceedings, urge that all available knowledge be used to reduce the flow of pollutants from the "grossly polluted" rivers into Green Bay. Additional facilities must be added to industrial plants, the committee said, and all municipalities in the Fox Valley which do not now have secondary sewage treatment plants, should install such facilities.

The special conferences were the outgrowth of a conflict between Republican Gov. Knowles and Democratic U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson. The Senator had called upon the Governor to request a special joint federal-state hearing on the problems of pollution in state waters, and Knowles refused. The Governor, citing the advice of state government pollution experts, said that a federal study made several years ago had not produced a report available to state government, and that the state would not be compelled to adhere to such new federal findings without being fully informed on the pollution problems before it.

Knowles at the Green Bay state conference signed into law a bill which gave Wisconsin one of the most sweeping state water resource control laws in the country, and which almost completely realigned state agencies in fighting water pollution.

Under the new law, the Department of Resource Development was given the responsibility and power to combat pollution.

Use Legislation

The recommendations of the special committee contain hopes for the use of the new water control legislation and some criticisms of the agencies charged with the battle before

The State Committee on Water Pollution (which under the bill was transferred to the new agency) in the past has not made pollution surveys on a watershed basis with a desired frequency, according to the report. The lack of reports, according to the statement, was due to a lack of funds and of manpower. Emphasis must be given to bringing up to date all such surveys, according to the report.

In doing so the Board must establish a timetable for the correction of unfavorable conditions and develop a system of monitoring water conditions. State, county, municipal and local agencies and industries must all be allowed to assist in correcting unfavorable conditions found and to take part in the monitoring program, according to the report.

State agencies must start investigations of pollution problems immediately using the $680,000 biennial appropriation for such work contained in the pollution legislation, the report said. The University of Wisconsin Water Resources Center must work to receive additional federal aid for such investigations as well.

Replacement Sought for Goodland Field with a modern ball park on its hands with no baseball team to play in it.

Long-Term Contract

Wendell Smith suggested the city might arrange a long-term contract with the White Sox to prevent its pulling out; or a contingency in the sale contract which would allow the city first chance at buying the field back if the White Sox decided to pull out and sell.

Smith and Heerman were designated as a committee to search out the White Sox organization, through Rahn, and, if there were a negative answer to the possible selection of a site other than Goodland Field for a baseball park, finding an appraiser to see how much Goodland Field is worth and continuing negotiations with Allyn for its sale.

No site was mentioned as more than a possibility for a new stadium, although Heerman admitted it could be "out in the county". He felt the present site poses too many transportation problems and a location with easy access to U.S. 41 would be better. The land need not be owned by the city now, he said.

Heerman, who planned to meet with Rahn today to discuss the situation, said a major league team's offer to a city of Appleton's size "is an offer not a lot of towns get."

Greater Detail

Knuth is preparing the proposed budget in greater detail for additional review by the board of education next Monday. He will delineate areas of increased or decreased expense. Monday's meeting was called expressly to look over the first stages of next year's budget.

Board members will meet Monday to discuss the more detailed budget before presenting it to city finance committee members, probably before mid-October.

An estimated income budget should be ready by the end of this week or early next week, officials said. From that, board members will be able to define more accurately the actual total to be requested as a basis for Appleton's school tax levy.

Two Rivers Firm Wins $548,469 Contract

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—Hamilton Manufacturing Co., of Two Rivers, Wis., received a $548,469 contract Monday for laboratory equipment for the new science and engineering building under construction at Southeastern Massachusetts Technological Institute in suburban North Dartmouth.

Degree in Education Accredited

OSHKOSH — Preliminary accreditation for a graduate program leading to a master of science in education, with emphasis in reading, has been granted to Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh, according to Dr. Everett G. Pyle, dean of WSU-O's graduate school.

The Oshkosh program is the only accredited graduate reading curriculum in the state graduate school also has programs leading to a master of science dergree in teaching and guidance.

Preliminary accreditation for WSU-O's graduate reading program was recently approved by the committee of the North Central Association of colleges and secondary schools. Full accreditation of the reading program is expected in 1968, Dr. Pyle indicated.

Orientation Underway

19 Register in Class of 1966 at Institute of Paper Chemistry

Nineteen college graduates arrived at The Institute of Paper Chemistry Monday as the new class for 1966. They will complete a week's orientation activities before registration next Monday and the start of classes next Tuesday.

They attended a reception for the faculty and new students Monday afternoon after attending orientation sessions for most of the preceding part of the day.

Members of the new class come from nine states and India. They are graduates of 19 colleges and universities. Next Tuesday they begin a four-year postgraduate course at the Institute in science. Normally they will earn their master's degree after two years and their doctor's degree after an additional two years.

One of the new students is from Appleton. He is Richard D. Ottman. Ottman received his B.S. degree from Carroll College last spring. Two other Wisconsin students in the new class are David P. Dumbleton from Waukesha and Robert A. Janssen from Muskego. Both are graduates of the University of Wisconsin.

Two students from abroad are joining the new class as special students. They will take selected study in the Institute's graduate curriculum for a year. Ilpo Honka, from Rauma, Finland, is a graduate of the Finland Institute of Technology and has the M.S. degree. His study here is under the sponsorship of the Finish Paper Egineers' Association.

Ulf R. B. Geijer, from Stockholm, Sweden, is a graduate with a M.S. degree from the Royal Institute of Technology in Sweden. His study is being sponsored by the American-Scandinavian Foundation.

The new class will continue orientation activities on the Institutes campus today and then leave early Wednesday morning for an orientation trip into northern Wisconsin for visits to forest, water, and industry sites related to the scientific study undertaken at the Institute. They will return to the Institute late Friday evening.

Lucas' letter raised the question as to whether the county hospital qualifies as an institution for mental diseases when considering medical assistance benefits.

The health committee and the county's board of public welfare will meet on the matter later this week and a report will be made at the next executive committee meeting set for early October.

"I have requested the firm to get the study started and completed as soon as possible," Buckley said.

Venue Change Asked In Waupaca Jail Arson

Defendant Claims He Won't Get a Fair Trial In County; Blames Newspaper Publicity

WAUPACA — Brady Hicks, 30, Fort Worth, Tex., who is accused of starting a fire in the Waupaca County jail, Aug. 21, was bound over to County Court for trial Monday following a preliminary hearing.

Hicks is charged with arson, criminal destruction of property, endangering the lives of his fellow prisoners, and a disorderly conduct charge brought against him by city police which accounted for his being in jail when the fire broke out.

After hearing testimony from three witnesses, County Judge Wendell McHenry ruled that there was enough evidence to show that a crime had been committed.

Hicks, who is being represented by Edward Hart, a court appointed Waupaca attorney, asked that he be granted a change of venue and that his case be tried in another county. Hicks felt he would not receive a fair trial in Waupaca County because of the publicity he received in the newspapers at the time of the fire.

The fire, which was started in a mattress, broke out in the upper cell block of the jail a short time after Hicks had been booked into jail on the disorderly conduct charge. While the fire was being extinguished and smoke cleared from the jail, most of the 14 prisoners being held at the time, were led from the building and remained outside.

Judge McHenry said he would not make a decision on granting a change of venue until Hart submitted an affidavit and a copy of the newspaper story in question.

Hicks was returned to the county jail, following the hearing, where he is being held in lieu of a $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Henry Van Nuland Dies at Kimberly; Has 143 Descendants

KIMBERLY — Mrs Henry Van Nuland, 82, 604 E Maes Ave., died here Monday noon after a short illness. She is survived by 143 direct descendants.

Survivors of the native of Holland are six daughters, six sons, 62 grandchildren and 69 great-grandchildren.

Solemn Requiem funeral mass will be offered at 10 a.m. Thursday at Holy Name Catholic Church with the Rev. Benet Eltink, S.D.S., a grandson of Mrs. Van Nuland, as celebrant. Assisting him will be the Rev. Joseph Cools, deacon, and the Rev. Girard Van Nuland, a nephew, subdeacon.

Burial will be in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Jansen Funeral Home here after 7 p.m. today.

Wolf Planning Unit Gets $162,340 Aid

Gov. Knowles Approves Aid From Federal Funds for Maps

Federal funds totaling $162,340 for Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission land use and zoning programs were approved Monday by Gov. Warren P. Knowles. The funds were requested by the commission to supplement an original continuing planning grant of $108,162, according to William E. Morris, executive director.

The latest grant's primary use will be to add impetus to commission planning of land use and zoning programs, Morris said. The request became necessary, Morris said, when it was discovered the original grant did not include money for necessary mapping or drafting personnel. Mapping expenses alone will require about $45,000.

The original application was prepared by the State Planning Office. Since then increased travel expenses and data collection and publication costs have made the amendment necessary, Morris said.

The continuing planning grant funds are for a two year period. Member counties of the commission will determine participation in the mapping program when it is presented to county boards of supervisors and zoning committees.

Federal funds, administered to the regional commission by the state Department of Resource Development, are matched by member counties on a two-thirds federal, one-third county basis.

2 Tipsy Drivers Pay Fines at Clintonville

Shiocton Youths Each Admit Three Separate Charges

CLINTONVILLE — Two Shiocton youths and a rural Clintonville man were fined a total of $370 on charges stemming from arrests Sunday evening.

Lyle E. Shepard, 19, route 1, Shiocton, was convicted on charges of operating a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants, ignoring a stop sign and off-premises possession of malt beverages.

He appeared before Municipal Justice Nathan Wiese on Monday and pleaded guilty to all three charges. He was fined $125 on the first charge, $25 on the second, and $50 on the third, for a total of $200 plus court costs. He was given until Thursday to pay the fine.

With him at the time of his arrest was Dennis J. Schroeder, 20, route 1, Shiocton, who appeared in court Monday on charges of drunkenness for which he was fined $20; disorderly conduct, $25; and abusive language, $25, for a total of $70, plus court costs. He also was given until Thursday to make payment.

Both men were held in the city jail overnight following their arrests. The charges of disorderly conduct and abusive language against Schroeder arose after he was locked in the cell, according to the police.

Edward J. Bartz, 60, route 2, was arrested Sunday by city police on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $100 and court costs. His driver's license was revoked for one year

New Water Tank Is Testing Out

MENASHA — The 300,000 gallon water tower on Midway Road is going through tests this week in preparation for the full-scale operation of the Town of Menasha water system.

The "Maplewood District" tower was filled up to the one-quarter mark last Friday and after it proved it could take the load, the level was increased to the halfway point.

Island's Water System

Go-Ahead Given to Project in Menasha

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — A $355,500 beefing-up of the city water system on the Island won joint approval of the Water & Light Utility Commission and Board of Public Works Monday night.

Melvin Crowley, utility attorney, said today a 1964 resolution adopted by the common council approved of a new water main river crossing to the Island and an elevated Island storage tank.

He said the joint action taken Monday night is sufficient, therefore, to authorize a joint committee made up of the two city agencies to ask Public Service Commission approval of the plans and to prepare more detailed plans and specifications to permit advertising for bids.

The council's approval was granted, said Crowley, along with the go-ahead for the recently installed intake line across Jefferson Park and the nearly finished expansion program at the filtration plant.

Low Pressure

The Island project was presented by engineers for Donohue & Associates, Sheboygan, after a study of low water pressure on the Island, particularly in the west portion where industrial concentration is heaviest.

The proposal includes installation of a new main under the Government Canal at Center Street, connected through existing mains to a proposed new main suspended from the Washington Street bridge; additional mains to increase capacity under Garfield Avenue and Ahnaip Street, and a 750,000 gallon elevated tank east of Washington Street.

William O. White, vice president of the Donohue firm, told the joint meeting that present facilities, including the expanded filtration plant, should be adequate for the city's anticipated needs through 1975, when operating at 100 per cent capacity.

For Fires

However, he added it would be unreasonable to assume the system would be operating at peak capacity in the event of an emergency such as a fire. To be fully prepared for such an emergency, he said it would be safer to assume the plant might be operating at 80 per cent of full capacity. The Island expansion would increase the size of the system enough to compensate for this, he said.

He also pointed out that the additional main across the canal would serve as a backup line to the Island if the existing main under the Fox River north of the Racine Street bridge should fail. The engineer didn't mention it, but the main parted this summer and left the Island dependent for its water upon Neenah while repairs were made.

Crowley told the two groups he believed Public Service Commission approval was almost certain.

Pick Substitute To Lead Concert

Fox Valley Symphony Conductor to be UW's Robert Gutter

MENASHA — The second rehearsal of the Fox Valley Symphony was conducted Monday evening by Robert Gutter, University of Wisonsin, Madison, who will substitute for presenting the orchestra's first concert Dec. 4.

Moser contracted hepatitis on a recent trip to Mexico City and work schedule will be reduced is convalescing in Madison. His for the next several months.

Gutter has taught brass ensemble at the Madison campus for the past three years. Last year he was associate conductor of the University of Wisconsin Symphony and he plays first trombone in the Madison Community Orchestra.

Before joining the university staff, Gutter performed with the National Symphony and the Doctor's symphony orchestra, Washingon, D.C. During 1962 he was conducor of the Uruguay National Symphony, S.O.D.R.E., on a state department grant. He has conducted the Symphony of the Air.

The native New Yorker received his bachelor and master degrees in music from Yale University. He studied with Rihard Lert, Laszlo Halasz and Pierre Monteux.

Tape Recorder to Put Councilmen 'On the Record'

MENASHA — If an experiment tried for the first time Monday night becomes a regular practice, whatever aldermen say at common council meetings will be — literally — "on the record."

City Clerk Harry Kind, to be certain of accurately writing the occasionally complicated motions made by aldermen, borrowed a battery powered tape recorder from the police department.

It is the same one used in recording statements made by suspects during interrogation, according to Police Chief Lester Clark.

To make the system work better, the traditional horseshoe of desks for aldermen was rearranged. Instead, councilmen sat in a double lineup, two desks wide and six long, with the seats of the mayor, clerk and city attorney at one end — where the recorder and microphone were placed.

The test will be tried again tonight, after only partial success Monday. Somebody forgot to put fresh batteries in the recorder, and the loss of power left the later portion of the deliberations "off the record."

12 Assume Leadership Roles

Team Captains Selected For Red Feather Drive

Two divisions of the 1966 United Red Feather campaign announced their team captains at meetings Monday at the United Community Services office.

The divisions were general, headed by Mrs. W. B. Thompson, and public-civic, led by Clarence Mitchell.

General Division

The general division this year will contact, on a house-to-house basis, persons who have given in past Red Feather campaigns and previous Red Cross campaigns. Now that Red Cross is included in the Red Feather drive, there will be no spring solicitation for that agency. Also included for funds from the combined drive is the Outagamie County Mental Health Association.

"Mrs. Thompson takes leadership of the residential drive with years of experience behind her," said Richard VanSistine, general chairman. "She organized the first house-to-house campaign 20 years ago. She has been a member of the Red Cross board, Salvation Army board, Mental Health board, and now is on the board of directors of the Golden Age Club House."

Mrs. Thompson, as Welcome Wagon hostess, organized the Newcomers group in Appleton. That group developed the Civic League for former Newcomers.

Five years ago Mrs. Thompson was recognized for her service to Appleton citizens, when the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce, for the first and only time, presented its Distinguished Citizen Award to a woman.

Public-Civic Division

Clarence Mitchell, public-civic Red Feather chairman, is well known to Appleton citizens as their former mayor. Working with him in this division will be Mayor George Buckley, in charge of the city team; Peter Berg, county treasurer, county team; Francis Sumnicht, postmaster, state and federal employes; Dwight Donelson, executive director, Valley Council of Boy Scouts, community organizations; John Peckham, research fellow, Institute of Paper Chemistry, hospitals and universities, and James D. Cowan, director of child service center, Appleton Public Schools, schools team.

Mitchell, now in charge of sales, public relations and service for Traffic Equipment Co., has served in previous Red Feather campaigns as a team captain in charge of municipal employes and as a captain in the construction division.

He is now serving as president of a six-county area for the East Central Muscular Dystrophy Association of Wisconsin. He works in the advanced gifts division of the Wisconsin Heart Association, took part in fund raising for the Appleton Golden Age Club, Inc. and is a past president of that agency.

Mitchell is also a charter member and past president of North Side Kiwanis Club of Appleton. He is a member of the Elks, Moose, American Legion, 40 et 8, United Commercial Travelers, Masonic Lodge, Appleton Chamber of Commerce and a director of Wisconsin Association of Planners.

Mitchell reports that his section will meet again on Oct. 3, by which date, all team captains will have appointed workers in all sections.

Two Openings

Applications Available For AFS Student Plan

The first meeting for junior and senior students interested in applying for two openings in the American Field Service (AFS) program is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Appleton High School.

Preliminary application forms and information are available from Miss Elizabeth Plowright, the high school liaison officer.

According to the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Olm, coordinators, both the AFS school and summer program will be explained by the chapter president, Mrs. Charles Lingelbach.

Under the summer program, the students live with families abroad for six to 10 weeks during June, July and August, sharing in their daily lives and usual activities.

The school program participants spend from nine to 12 months abroad, depending on the host country, and share not only the daily life of the host family but also attend a school abroad.

This program involves the northern and southern hemisphere. Students in the 1967-68 southern hemisphere school program leave in December, 1966 or January, February or March, 1967 and return about one year later.

Students in the 1967-68 northern hemisphere program go abroad during the summer of 1967 and return one year later.

Two Candidates

The Appleton chapter may submit two candidates to either program. In order to qualify, the candidate must be at least 16 years old by June, 1967, for the summer and northern hemisphere program and by December 31, 1966 for the southern hemisphere program.

The student must be a member of the junior class, except that members of the senior class may apply for the school program only. The student also must be a U.S. citizen, in good health, have strong academic qualifications, the endorsement of his school and must have studied one foreign language in high school for at least two years by June, 1967.

The fee, which includes the cost of round trip travel between the U.S and the student's host family overseas, is $570 for each program. The basic fee and other expenses are provided by the candidate and his family and by the local chapter

1,000 Expected At Menasha Towns Meeting

Several Topics To be Aired at Sessions Oct. 4-6

MENASHA — More than 1,000 town officials and their wives are expected to attend the annual three-day convention of the Wisconsin Towns Association in the Town of Menasha on Oct. 4-6.

Workshops and general sessions on such topics as annexation, highway allocations, school district problems and assessment systems will be held in the convention headquarters at Sabre Lanes on Midway Road.

Town chairmen, clerks, building inspectors, assessors and other officials from towns throughout the state will participate in the meetings.

Some 35 residents of the Town of Menasha met at the town hall Monday evening to set up committees for the upcoming meetings. Town Chairman Roland Kampo noted it was the first association convention to be held in a town.

The town was selected to host the convention in July after Ben Hanneman, executive secretary of the association, toured the facilities in the town with local officials.

The registration for the convention will be held at noon on Tuesday, Oct. 4, and the first sessions are scheduled at 1:30 p.m.

In the evening there will be a smorgasbord and a dance at Sabre Lanes, all sponsored by the Town of Menasha.

The general conference is slated for Wednesday morning. The women will have the opportunity to participate in tours of the Bergstrom Art Center, Kimberly-Clark Corp.'s Lakeview Mill, the Banta Co. plant and the cooking center at the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. in the morning.

A luncheon and style show will be held for the women Wednesday noon. Following the all-day sessions, a banquet is set at Sabre Lanes in the evening.

The convention will close at noon on Thursday when association members will adopt resolutions for the coming year.

Rate Spartans First in Poll, UCLA Second

Highly Regarded Alabama Will Open Season Saturday

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan State's Spartans are off and running the way they were last year, leading in the Associated Press college football poll, this time by a close margin over UCLA.

The Spartans polled 12 first-place votes and 338 points in the first weekly balloting of the regular season. UCLA was named the top team on 13 ballots, but collected a runner-up 328 points on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third etc.

A total of 41 regional selectors participated in the balloting.

Michigan State led virtually throughout the entire 1965 campaign, but dipped to second after being upset by UCLA in the Rose Bowl.

First Place Vote

Alabama, the national titleholder the past two years and picked to win the championship in the AP's latest pre-season poll, is third in this week's voting with 260 points, including 100 for 10 first-place votes.

Alabama opens its season Saturday night against Louisiana Tech. Michigan State and UCLA began impressively last Saturday, the Spartans defeating North Carolina State 28-10 and the Bruins trouncing Pittsburgh, 57-14.

Baylor was idle last week-end after trouncing Syracuse, seventh in the pre-season poll, 39-12 two weeks ago. The Bears and Michigan's Wolverines were not ranked among the top 10 in the pre-season balloting.

Michigan State faces Penn State this week-end while UCLA takes on Syracuse.

In other games involving rated colleges, it's Nebraska against Utah State, Southern California against Wisconsin, Arkansas against Tulsa, Michigan versus California and Baylor against Colorado.

The top ten with first place, votes won-lost records through games of Saturday, Sept 17 and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1	Michigan State (12) 1-0	338
2.	UCLA (13) 1-0	328
3	Alabama (10) 0-0	260
4.	Nebraska 1-0	202
5	Southern California (2) 1-0	193
6	Arkansas (1) 1-0	140
7.	Purdue 1-0	132
8	Notre Dame (1) 0-0	120
9.	Michigan (1) 1-0	106
10	Baylor (1) 1-0	94

Others recieving votes, listed alphabetically: Duke, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Louisiana State, Miami, Fla., Mississippi, Missouri, Navy, New Mexico, Ohio State, Oklahoma, Southern Methdist, Syracuse, Tennessee Texas, Texas Christian, Tulsa, Wyoming.

Topping Quits As President Of Yankees

Topping purchased MacPhail's share of the club.

In 1964 CBS bought 80 per cent of the club with Webb and Topping each retaining 10 per cent. Webb sold his share to CBS last year and Topping's resignation Monday leaves CBS as sole owner.

In Topping's 19 years as chief officer of the club, the Yankees won 15 American League pennants and 10 World Series. The club, however, has slumped badly in the last two seasons. New York finished sixth in 1965 and is now in last place.

Burke, a member of the Yankee board of directors since 1964, has been with CBS since 1956. He served as president of Columbia Broadcasting System Europe, S.A., with headquarters in London from 1957-62.

A graduate of Pennsylvania where he played halfback for the varsity football team, Burke served as a Navy officer during World War II. He won the Navy Cross for extraordinary heroism and the Silver Star for gallantry in action behind enemy lines while working with underground movements in France and Italy.

Topping announced his resignation to a meeting of the board and called it a personal decision.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Frank Robinson, Baltimore, hit a three-run homer in the fourth inning, then snapped an 8-8 tie with a two-run double in the sixth as the American League-leading Orioles outlasted California 11-9.

Vikes, St. Olaf Rated as Best Title Threats to Coach Mel Taube, but some rebuilding is necessary on the offensive team. Both of last year's quarterbacks are gone, and Prentice Gary, a sophomore flanker in '65, is being groomed for the job. Mark Weshinsky, the Carls' top receiver, is back.

GRINNELL — Coach Edd Bowers has 21 lettermen back. Veteran Rick Weeks and soph Tom Lower are battling for the vacated QB post. Fullback Dick Lamb, a second team all-MC choice last year, heads the backfield corps. The Pioneers are on the small side (only four go over 200 pounds) but are a fast team.

BELOIT — Coach Norm Amoundsen has 17 lettermen. Passing star Rick Stutz will pace the dangerous attack (The Bucs were second in the league on offense last year). Beloit features size and depth in its defensive line.

CORNELL — Coach Jerry Clark, with 18 lettermen, will look to quarterback "Skip" Eickleberry, the Rams' total offensive leader last year; and halfback Duane Schultz, an all-conference pick two years ago, to lead the way.

COE — Coach Glenn Drahn has 28 lettermen — tops in the league. QB Bill Wendling and fullback Alan Rowe pace the attack.

MONMOUTH — Featuring 18 lettermen, the Scots will have a bigger line this year and good depth at the running back spots.

KNOX — Coach Dick Bowman will be relying chiefly on juniors since he has only six seniors on the 37-player squad.

Bleier's, Zussman's Set Touch Grid Pace

Bleier's Bar and Zusman's Grocery scored the most points in the opening week of Appleton Recreation Department Men's Touch Football League action. Both won, 26-0, over Southwood Ct. and Cloud Buick, respectively.

O. J. Boldt stopped Adler Brau, 25-13. Wittmann's beat Goeman's, 15-0, while Southwood downed Damrow's, 8-0.

They'll Do It Every Time

Clemente Breaks Slump With Homer

Pirates Stay Loose and Win

By RON BERGMAN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Don't these guys know they're in a pennant race?" a clubhouse visitor asked Pittsburgh Manager Harry Walker two days ago.

The Pirates may not act like it, but they know it. More important, they are back in the thick of the National League pursuit of the pennant after beating the San Francisco Giants 6-1 in 11 innings Monday.

This kept the Pirates 1½ games back of the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, who defeated Philadelphia 6-1 Monday night.

Walker's visitor wanted to know whether losing two out of three to the Dodgers had demoralized the club. One look dispelled that notion.

Watching Football Game

The players were watching a televised football game, cheering their favorite teams and looking like a franchise that had been organized the day before instead of 79 years ago

Staying loose helps, especially if you're 0-for-13 the way Roberto Clemente was before coming to bat leading off the 11th. He picked on an inside pitch by reliever Frank Linzy and lofted an off-field homer over the right field fence.

That broke a 1-1 tie. The next three batters got on, too, and Bob Bailey completed the destruction by hitting a grand slam homer off Linzy.

"All I had with me today was a bad back," said Pirate starter Bob Veale, who lost a bid for a shutout and pitching victory with twoout in the ninth. "I wasn't throwing anything but baseballs."

Mikkelsen Shuts Door

Veale had given up only one hit going into the ninth. But Jim Hart singled and two outs and one error later, pinch hitter Willie Mays batted in the Giants' only run from third base with a single through Bailey.

Jim Davenport followed with a single. But that was the last hit the Giants got as reliever Pete Mikkelsen shut the door over the last two innings for his ninth victory against seven defeats.

That could have shut the door on the Giants for 1966, also. The third-place Giants fell to four games off the pace with the Los Angeles victory over the Phils.

"We're not hitting," said Manager Herman Franks about his club which has produced only four hits in each of the last two games. "We haven't hit all year."

Another concern for the Giants in these last days of the season is Mays. He couldn't start Monday because of a bruised right instep.

Bob Bolin, the San Francisco starter, gave up only two hits in his eight inning of work. But the Giants made him struggle by making four errors behind him.

Kaukauna Touch Grid Loop Opens

KAUKAUNA — The recreation department sponsored Adult Touch Football League will begin play Wednesday with nine teams participating.

Rules were changed making it necessary to touch the ball carrier with two hands and the person taged must be touch between the shoulders and knees.

Games are to be played at the Doty Bayorgeon Recreation area on Wednesdays and Saturdays at 5:45, 7 and 8:15 p.m.

Team captains include Terry Helding, Joe Arnoldussen, Earl Euclid, Bob Wurdinger, Bruce Vanevenhoven, Bruce Knapp, Bob Gossens, Jim Pelky and Dan Christensen.

Hollandtown Beats Sturgeon Bay '11'

HOLLANDTOWN — The Hollandtown Raiders grade school football team routed Sturgeon Bay here Saturday, 28 0 It was the first loss in 14 games for the Sturgeon Bay team.

Roger Vervort tallied two touchdowns. Leroy Wenzel and Carl Mueller also scored.

Techlin's Wins 5, Retains Pool Lead

Techlin's (18-9) won five of nine starts in the most recent session of the Valley Pool League to retain first place.

Stammer's (16-11) and Log Cabin are tied for second.

Recovers From Surgery

Reichardt's Headaches Gone; Plans to Rejoin Angels for Light Drills

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Rick Reichardt's headaches are gone and those of the rest of the American League may just be beginning.

Reichardt, the slugging young outfielder of the California Angeles, plans to rejoin his teammates in Detroit Monday night after a swift six-week recovery from kidney surgery that sidelined him in mid-season.

Reichardt, who was hitting .290 before he was hospitalized, said "I feel fine," and predicted he would be ready to play at least as well, if not better, next year.

The tall, confident outfielder said he would stay out of the lineup at the tail end of this season but would start swinging a big stick in practice Tuesday after an overnight flight from Detroit back to Los Angeles.

"I'll be working out in Anaheim tomorrow, going through batting practice, taking things as they come," said Reichardt.

The former University of Wisconsin football player, who was signed for a sizeable baseball bonus, has yet to finish a full season with the Angels. In his first year as a starter, he was among the early leaders in homers, runs batted in, and hitting average until illness accomplished what pitchers could not do—get him out.

"While I was playing, I was aware of my illness and the blood pressure problems," Reichardt said "There were times when I just felt downright terrible. I had severe headaches and mental depression."

Hurt Average

He said, "I didn't know from one day to the next whether I'd be playing. I was out of the lineup three or four games at a time and then I'd come back and I wasn't as effective. It had to hurt my average."

The problem was diagnosed as a kidney disease and Reichardt underwent surgery six weeks ago at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., for removal of one of his kidneys. He surprised even the doctors with his recovery.

"They didn't think I could do anything physically until the sixth week and I've been playing golf and tennis for the last four weeks," said Reichardt, who was recuperating here and at his home at Stevens Point, Wis.

Pennant Contender

Reichardt said he believed the Angels would be a definite pennant contender next year because he expected pitcher Dean Chance and shortstop Jim Fregonsi to match his recovery after off-years on the field. He said three promising rookies would bolster the California pitching staff.

As for himself, Reichardt warned:

"I don't think I'll have the physical and mental problems I had this season, so I should be at least as effective."

Jansen Slams 617 Set in Couples Loop

Glen Jansen slammed a 232 game on the way to a hefty 617 threesome to set the pace in the Bird Couples League at Little Chute's Recreation Lanes.

Gene Dercks was next in line with a 604 series, while Ed Spierings totaled 566.

Bill Schultz slammed a 606 series for the only honor score in the Cigarette Couples circuit at Hahn's Lanes.

Bob Gauerke's 256 singleton and 570 finish divided honors with Dave Behman's 576 trio in the Lutheran Sundae Couples loop at Hahn's. Al Wunderlich totaled 559.

Rus Krueger's 568 series and a 197 game by Jo Haertl were the only honor scores in the Football Couples loop at the 41 Bowl.

Tom Sullivan's 229 solo and Frank Dohr's 570 set were the top efforts in the Tree Couples League at Sabre Lanes.

Special Halftime Programs Set for Lawrence Grid Tilts

A varied series of half-time entertainment at Lawrence University football games has been announced by Bernard E. Heselton, athletic director.

An exhibition of marching by the Americanos, a drum and bugle unit made up of 45 Appleton youths, will be seen at halftime of the Lawrence-Carleton game on Saturday. Bill Schultz is the director.

Two grade-school teams, the Hollandtown Raiders and the Wrightstown Rockets, will play an exhibition at the Lawrence-Knox game on Oct. 15. Arranging the exhibition is Bob Wurdinger, of Kaukauna.

The traditional homecoming activities, including the crowning of the homecoming queen," will highlight the Lawrence-Ripon game on Oct. 22, while the entertainment for the Beloit contest on Nov. 12 is yet to be announced.

The Americanos have made about 30 public appearances so far this year, both in and out of the state. They have taken first places in parades at the State Lions convention in Green Bay, the state 40 and 8 convention in Appleton, and both first and third in recent competition in LaCrosse. They performed in the Lawrence Bowl earlier this year at the seventh annual Fiesta Musicana de los Americanos, held in July. The group has the following sponsors — American Legion Post 38, American Legion Auxiliary Post 38, AmVets of Appleton Post No. 30, Appleton Professional Policeman's Association, the Appleton Lions Club, both noon and evening groups, and the Americano's Parents Club.

National Football League quarterbacks were the center of attraction in a number of games Sunday as this series of pictures shows. At the far left, Bart Starr (15) of the Green Bay Packers, scrambles for a first down after finding no receivers open. Fuzzy Thurston (63) is the other Packer shown. The second picture shows Don Meredith (17), of the Dallas Cowboys, as he faked a handoff to fullback Don Perkins (43). Meredith passed for five touchdowns in sparking a 52-7 victory. The next picture shows Earl Morrall, of the Giants, trying to throw a pass while Bob Lilly (74), of the Cowboys, hangs on his jersey. At the far right, Johnny Unitas (19), of the Baltimore Colts, gets a pass away as Gary Larson (77), of the Minnesota Vikings, rushes in. Unitas hit on four touchdown passes giving him a career total of 214 for a new NFL record as the Colts downed the Vikings, 38-23. The old record was 212 set by Y. A. Tittle several years ago. Saturday's Games:
Carleton at Lawrence.
Knox at Ripon.
Coe at Beloit.
St. Olaf at Monmouth.
Grinnell at Cornell.

Ripon College, winner of three straight championships, is considered the favorite in the 1966 Midwest Conference football race, which begins Saturday.

Lawrence University and St. Olaf College are generally given the best chances to unseat Ripon, which has posted a brilliant record of 28-3-1 in the last four seasons under Coach John Storzer. Grinnell and Beloit are also rated highly in the conference which appears unusually strong this year.

The feature game of the opening weekend will be the Lawrence Bowl contest featuring the Vikings against darkhorse Carleton. Each of the other contenders will be meeting teams tabbed to finish in the second division. Ripon opens its title defense with a home date against Knox, last year's cellar dweller.

Monmouth's Bill Reichow is the only new head coach in the 10-school circuit.

A capsule look at each team:

RIPON — Eight members of the Redmen's 23-letterman roster were starters on offense last year, while nine others were regulars defensively. In addition, Carl Dean — who kicked 20 straight extra points and eight of 13 field goal attempts — will be back. Heading the offense will be backfield returnees Dick Kuehl, Dick Todd and Bob Pellegrino: and linemen Mike Miller, Don Orth, Jay Carmichael and George Gitcho.

ST. OLAF — The Oles, coached by Tom Porter, have 20 lettermen back from the top-ranked offensive club of 1965. There is experience at every position but tackle.

LAWRENCE — Coach Ron Roberts lost only two regulars from his tough 1965 defensive unit, and the offensive unit also has the majority of last year's starters back. Among the 16 lettermen are offensive pace-makers Chuck McKee and Gerry Gatzke and defensive standout Gary Hietpas.

CARLETON — Most of the 1965 defensive unit has returned

Have to Respect Rams

This Weekend We'll be Ready for Them, Claims Packers' Carroll Dale

MADISON (AP)—Carroll Dale says the Los Angeles Rams have taught the Green Bay Packers to be respectful. That, he adds, could prove costly for the Rams.

The two National Football League foes, the only undefeated members of the western division after two weeks of league play, meet Sunday in Green Bay.

"This weekend I think we'll be ready for them," Dale said Monday. "Actually, in the past there hasn't been any reason to get ready for them because they were on the bottom of the heap."

Annoying Foe

Dale, who moved from the Rams to Green Bay two years ago, noted that Los Angeles has been an annoying foe for the Packers, and the flanker said he believes the NFL champions have learned to pay more attention.

"Maybe over the last two years the Packers have learned their lesson," Dale said at a meeting of Madison's Pen and Mike Club.

While he and his former Los Angeles teammates were playing Green Bay, he recalled, "we played goof football. We knew if we didn't, we'd get killed."

Packers quarterback Bart Starr and his backup man, Zeke Bartkowski, joined Dale at the club meeting and discussed the Rams' tall defense in the front ranks.

"Like Zeke says," Starr remarked, "it's just like throwing out of the bottom of a barrel."

"We try to have good eyes for each other," Bratkowski said after Starr praised his handling of spotting telephones and calling of plays from the sidelines.

Starr said he eyed Bratkowski for advice during the Packers' game with the Cleveland Browns. After fullback Jim Taylor was thrown for a loss, and Green Bay had a fourth down coming up at the nine-yard line, "I turned to the bench and looked to Zeke for a play, and he just threw up his hands."

"I just turned my back on him," Bratkowski corrected.

Starr delivered a touchdown pass to Taylor on the play with less than three minutes remaining.

On a fourth-and-one play in the second period, Starr hit Paul Hornung with a touchdown pass after faking a handoff to Taylor.

"They know Taylor is your top gun," Starr said. "You're only going for short yardage. They've got to come and get him."

Pirates Whip Giants in 11th To Keep Pace With Dodgers

Drysdale Hurls Dodgers to 6-1 Victory Over Phils on 5-Hitter; Baltimore Outlasts Angels, 11-9

BY MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Green Weenie has the Herman Frank in hot water.

However, Hot Don could prove meatier than both.

The Weenie skinned the Frank for the second straight game Monday and combined with Hot Don to leave the San Francisco Giants dangerously charred.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, possessor of the rubber Weenie, whipped San Francisco, owner of the synthetic Frank, 6-1 in 11 innings and dropped the third-place Giants four games behind National League-leading Los Angeles.

The Pirates, in second place, remained 1½ games back when the Dodgers crushed Philadelphia 6-1 behind the five-hit pitching of Don Drysdale, who could turn out to be the most potent weapon in the last two weeks of the pennant race.

Hex Opposition

The Green Weenie is a green-painted rubber replica of a hot dog which Pirate fans have been using jokingly to hex the opposition this season. The Herman Frank, named for the Giant manager, was unveiled last week.

Manager Franks was seated in his office before a game when one of his coaches, Charley Fox, dropped an orange-colored, synthetic hot dog on his desk.

"What's this?" Herman asked.

"Read what's on it," Fox replied.

Herman read. The object said, "A Herman Frank."

Explained Fox as he handed them to the Giant players:

"That's our secret weapon to counteract the Green Weenie."

The Frank, though, hasn't done much counteracting. Monday's defeat left the Giants in such a position that if the Dodgers win just seven of their remaining 13 games, San Francisco, would have to win 10 of its last 11 to gain a first-place tie.

The Pirates are a lot better off than that, but it may not do them any good now that Drysdale apparently has regained the technique that shot him into the $100,000 salary class.

The Dodger right-hander, a 23-game winner last season, hadn't done much for the Dodgers this year until recently. Now in his last three starts he's allowed just four runs and 14 hits in 26 innings.

That kind of pitching could bring the Dodgers steak instead of hot dogs for dinner this winter.

Had One Hitter

In the only other NL game New York edged Houston 1-0, Baltimore out-lasted California 11-9, reducing its magic number

Topping Resigns as Yankee President; See Other Changes

CBS Vice-President Named to Post of Executive Officer

NEW YORK (AP) The housecleaning at Yankee Stadium has started right at the top with the resignation of Dan Topping as president and chairman of the board and before it's over, baseball's most successful franchise could have a completely new front office team.

Field Manager

Michael Burke, a vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, was named to replace Topping as chief executive officer of the club. CBS also purchased Topping's 10 per cent share of the club and now holds sole ownership of the Yankees.

Topping's resignation left the status of his son, Dan Jr. in question. Topping Jr., was named general manager of the Yankees in May when Ralph Houk left the front office to become field manager. The question is now that Topping Sr. is gone, how long will Topping Jr. remain?

CBS is rumored to favor a more experienced baseball man for the task of rebuilding the Yakees. A club spokesman said Topping Jr. would be offered a contract to stay with the team but did not say in what capacity he would be retained.

The name most prominently mentioned to take over the Yankee GM job is Lee MacPhail, currently administrative assistant to baseball commissioner William D. Eckert.

MacPhail moved from the Yankee front office to Baltimore, where he built the Orioles into pennant contenders before joining the commission's staff.

Purchased Yankees

Lee's father, Larry MacPhail, along with Topping and Del Webb, purchased the Yankees from the estate of the late Jacob Ruppert prior to the 1945 season. Two years later, Webb and

Twin Comeback Could Guarantee Title

Bays Rely on Old Pros, Hornung-Taylor

By KEN HARTNETT

GREEN BAY (AP) — Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, written off as all but through after a lackluster 1965 season, are turning the Green Bay Packers' year-of-the-rookies into the year-of-the-old-pros.

The twin comeback by the veteran running backs could guarantee another National Football League championship for Green Bay.

Better Than Ever

It could also mean another year of waiting for Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski, the high priced bonus babies signed by Coach Vince Lombardi to replace the aging tandem once it broke down.

Taylor and Hornung are running better than ever—a fact that was apparent Sunday when the 30-year-old combine scored all three touchdowns in a 21-20 victory over the Cleveland Browns.

The taciturn Lombardi won't say but the comeback may well have been one of the things he was hoping for when he shelled out about $850,000 for the All-America rookies.

Not only was Lombardi getting two truly bright prospects but he was applying a psychological goad to two of the greatest backs ever to perform in NFL.

In five seasons together since 1960, the two combined to gain 7,986 yards and score 98 touchdowns and helped bring three NFL titles to Green Bay.

Scored Five Times

Last season their past brilliance shown only fitfully. Against Baltimore in a key late season game, Hornung scored five touchdowns. Both he and Taylor played well in the western conference playoff against the Colts and the title game with Cleveland.

But Taylor, hampered by leg miseries, gained only 3.5 yards per carry in 1965 and scored only four touchdowns. Hornung averaged 3.4 yards per carry. He scored only five touchdowns.

Both backs reported to the 1966 training camp rippling with readiness. For Taylor, conditioning is a way of life. Hornung, however, was never noted for his Spartan training habits.

Neither veteran would acknowledge that the rookies wait-

May Start Hazing Wednesday

Goose Population at Horicon on Increase

WAUPUN (AP)—The population of migrating Canada geese at the Horicon National Wildlife Refuge continued to grow today and the government said hazing will begin this week.

Refuge manager Bob Personius, estimating there were 3,000 honkers in the Horicon Marsh area Monday, said plans to chase some of the geese from the refuge go into effect Wednesday despite protests from Wisconsin officials.

Received No Orders

The refuge hosted 120,000 geese in October 1965, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service wants to haze some of the birds to Illinois keeping the refuge's 1966 goose population closer to 50,000.

Personius, formerly with Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge in Illinois, said talks have been underway between state and federal officials concerning Wisconsin's objections to the hazing plan, but that he has received no orders to call off the program.

There are about 16 U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service representatives on hand for the start of hazing, he said. Aircraft, boats and fire-crackers will be used to encourage the geese to travel south.

The refuge also reduced the size of the grain crop it grows annually for migrating geese. Personius said a large goose population could spell difficulty for nearby grain farmers in the absence of refuge supplies.

"We'll be using motors and fireworks to chase the geese," he said. "They grow accustomed to one type of noise pretty fast, and we'll have to use a variety to keep their interst."

The hazing is to last until Oct. 8. Wisconsin officials complained about the hazing plan after the government turned down requests that the state's goose-kill quota be increased.

Former Packer, Bernhart, Dies In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Arthur H. Bernhart, member of the first Green Bay Packers football squad, died Monday in St. Mary's Hospital. He was 68.

Bernhart, a Milwaukee native, had been suffering from cancer.

He moved to Green Bay in 1918, was a member of the 1919 Packers as a tackle and a guard, and quit the team in 1920 after suffering a cracked ankle.

Bernhart lived in Chicago after 1931.

3 Schools Entered

Burglary, Vandalism Wave Hits Waupaca

WAUPACA — A wave of vandalism and burglary hit the city sometime Monday night with three schools and a construction office entered and construction company office entered and a crawler tractor at the city dump damaged.

The three schools, the high school, junior high school and Central Elementary School, are connected by a tunnel. In the Central building the office of William Williams, principal, and a second story office were ransacked. A storage room in the hot lunch kitchen was entered and files strewen about the area. Six cartons of milk were taken from a cooler.

In the high school, the offices of Clarence Riddle, principal, LeRoy Haberkorn, athletic director, and Mrs. Roman Jungers, girls physical education teacher, were entered along with the band and projection room. Each of the offices were ransacked and files and papers were scattered. From Mrs. Jungers' office $67 was taken and $20 was reported missing from Williams' office.

Drum Broken

A bass drum was broken in the band room and in the nearby gym the floor was littered with broken light bulbs and the contents of a fire extinguisher.

Both of the boys and girls locker rooms were entered and supplies scattered about. The only thing reported missing from Haberkorn's office was a stopwatch.

At Faulk Bros. Construction Co., located on the eastern edge of the city, a 1,000 pound safe was taken from an inner office to a restroom where it was severely battered but not opened. A cutting torch was used in an attempt to cut out the combination lock but the efforts failed when the torch ran out of oxygen.

Two vending machines in the driver's lounge were entered and money taken. The thieves used several tools found in the building plus the cutting torch to batter the safe and enter the vending machines.

Tractor Damages

City employes also reported that the tractor at the city dump had been damaged. It is the second time in recent weeks that there has been vandalism at the site.

City police are investigating the school entries and the vandalism at the dump and the sheriff's department is investigating the construction company break-in. No estimate of damage has been made but it is expected to run into hundreds of dollars at the three sites, authorities said.

Two Face Charges of Burglary

Two Outagamie County youths, one of whom is awaiting sentence on two theft counts, were arraigned on burglary charges Monday afternoon in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Charles L. Lund, 20, Medina, and Dennis C. Strong, 19, Hortonville, each were charged with burglarizing Valley Auto Parts, 1820 Northland Ave., in the Town of Grand Chute, on Aug. 15.

Strong also was charged by Outagamie County authorities with burglarizing the American Tool Foundry Co. at Stephensville on Sept. 12.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller found both men indigent. He appointed William Schuh to represent Strong and Kelland Lathrop as counsel for Lund who is awaiting a pre-sentence investigation ordered by Judge Keller after the youth pleaded guilty earlier this month to two counts of theft. He was charged after several cars were entered in Appleton.

Bond of $2,500 was ordered for each of the two counts against Strong, while $2,500 bond was set for Lund who earlier was ordered to jail without bond to await sentencing on the theft counts.

Judge Keller continued the cases against Lund and Strong to Friday afternoon.

Port Edwards Firm Sells Line

Nekoosa-Edwards Leaves Field of Wrapping Papers

PORT EDWARDS — Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Co., Port Edwards, and Mosinee Paper Mills Co., of Mosinee, today jointly announced that Mosinee has purchased the Nekoosa line of mill brand wrapping papers distributed through wholesale paper merchants.

Gerard E. Veneman, Nekoosa's executive vice president and director of marketing, explained his company's departure from the manufacture of wrapping papers after more than 50 years in this field to provide increased emphasis on aggressive merchandising of its major product lines, business communication papers.

"Nekoosa-Edwards, on Sept. 7, celebrated the completion of a $21.5 million expansion program at its four northern mills while, at the same time, embarking on the construction of a new $46 million pulp and paper mill at Ashdown, Ark." according to Veneman. He said the entire production from these major expansion programs will be devoted to Nekoosa's business communication papers, including writing, printing and publishing papers, special grades for electronic data processing, convenience copy papers and papers for NCR's carbonless copy system.

"Business communication papers require types of pulps and species of woods which differ widely from those required for the manufacture of packaging papers," Veneman said. "On the other hand, Mosinee's pulp and paper mills and wood procurement are oriented toward the manufacture of industrial and packaging papers. Mosinee has, in fact, been manufacturing several of these grades for Nekoosa-Edwards for the past eight years with Nekoosa marketing the products through its franchised paper merchants."

Robert T. Seith, Mosinee's marketing vice president, said his firm has expanded its marketing organization to provide aggressive merchandising of this line of papers through merchant channels. "Nekoosa's nationally known line of wrapping papers is completely compatible with Mosinee's plans for future growth and expansion," he said.

Mosinee Paper Mills Co. has been engaged in the manufacture of specialty industrial papers since 1910.

Investors' Corner

1,200 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange...profit they earn, dividends they pay.

If you're thinking of investing in stocks for the first time (it's estimated over one million Americans will do so this year), or if you're an experienced investor, you may want to learn more about stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Although there are over 1,300,000 U.S. corporations, common stocks of only about 1,200 are listed on the Exchange.

As a group, these earn some 70% of the net profits reported by all companies, and pay about 60% of all the dividends.

Of the estimated 20 million U.S. shareowners, some 12 million own shares of these 1,200 companies. (In the first seven months of this year, on the average, 7.9 million shares were reported to have changed hands on the Exchange each trading day. This supply and demand is one reason investors usually can buy and sell listed stocks so easily.)

When the Exchange considers listing a company today, such minimums as these are used as guidelines: 1,700 round-lot shareowners, 700,000 shares in public hands with a market value of at least $12,000,000, and demonstrated earning power of at least $1,200,000 a year after taxes. Financial reports for shareowners are required, too. And owners of common stock must have the right to vote.

The Exchange considers de-listing a company when the number of round-lot shareowners drops below 700, market value of publicly held shares dips under $2,500,000, or other circumstances make further dealings inadvisable.

1. Set a realistic goal. Dividends perhaps. Or long-term growth. Or the greater safety that bonds may offer.

* * *

2. Provide for living expenses and emergencies, then consider investing.

* * *

3. Make your judgment on facts, not hopeful rumors or bits of news. There is risk in any investment, so you'll be wise to search out such facts as a company's sales, earnings, dividends, and then try to evaluate its potential.

* * *

4. Let a member firm help you. Registered representatives had to meet Exchange standards when they became registered. This doesn't make them invariably right, but perhaps they have facts and a point of view that you've overlooked.

Unbeaten Jets Top Statistics in AFL

New York Leads League in Offensive, Defensive Figures

NEW YORK (AP) —The New York Jets, one of three unbeaten teams in the American Football League, also are a huge statistical success, league figures showed today.

On the strength of their 52-13 romp over Houston, the Jets remained the league's defensive leader in passing, rushing and total defense and took over the offensive top in passing and total offense.

Only Kansas City, also 2-0, broke New York's hold by retaining its lead in rushing offense.

The Jets have allowed the opposition only 98.5 yards a game through the air, eight less than Boston; 60.5 yards per contest on the ground, 16.8 less than Houston, and 159 total yards per game 66.7 less than Oakland.

Total Offense

New York also has passed for 245.5 yards per game in a total offense of 356.5 yards per contest. Kansas City has run for 152 yards per game.

Most of the success of the Jets, who beat Miami only 19-14 in their opener, came against the Oilers, who relinquished their passing lead and were second in rushing and total offense and all three defensive departments.

The Jets held the Oilers to 65 yards on the ground and 140 in the air Sunday while piling up 126 rushing yards and 340 through the air.

Oakland is second in passing offense with 228.3 yards a game, Boston is the rushing runner-up with 137.5, and Buffalo, after pounding Miami 58-24, is second in total offense with 323.3 yards a game.

Rushing Leader

Individually, Jim Nancy of Boston is the rushing leader with 194 yards on 36 carries for a 5.4 average per carry. John Hadl of unbeaten San Diego replaced Houston's George Blanda as the over-all passing leader. Hadl has a 52.2 completion percentage. Blanda the most yardage with 556 and Joe Namath of the Jets, ranking third, the lowest interception percentage, .02 on one in two games.

Art Powell of Oakland remained the top receiver with 22 catches for 311 yards.

Bays Rely on Veteran Backs

ing in the wings had anything to do with their condition.

Taylor, who constantly refers to his pride as a professional, said he merely wanted to re-establish himself as a "top back."

"I can't be content with anything," Taylor said. "I want to continue to strive and excell and be a little bit better. It's just an inner feeling I have that won't stop."

Lombardi was delighted.

"Hornung and Taylor are running better than they have in two years," the master mentor pronounced.

He was right.

Hornung seems to have come up with refinements on what were already a highly subtle set of moves. He is again a premiere pass receiver and dangerous power runner both inside and out.

Can Out-Think Foes

He may no longer be able to out-run the league's defensive backs but he surely can outthink most of them. Against Baltimore in the 1966 opener the former Notre Dame star turned full circle to spin out of the grasp of a defender and open the door to a Green Bay score.

Taylor is also wiser. He outthought as well as overpowered two Cleveland defenders Sunday to score the winning touchdown. The former LSU prize may well inherit Jim Brown's Spot as the leading fullback in the league.

He doesn't seem worried about the competition watching from the bench.

"You have to pay a price for this," said Taylor. "But if you pay it, you're going to outlast some people that aren't willing to pay it."

SPORT FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Behnke

One of the rarest feats in football is for a team to go through a season unscored on — but did you know there was once a team that topped even this? . . . The 1921 Waco (Tex.) High School team not only prevented all opponents from crossing the goal line, but they did not allow a single team to get past the 35-yard line all season! . . . Can you imagine a tougher defense than that? ★ ★ ★

Here's a boxing oddity . . . Did you know there was one period in boxing history when there was a new heavyweight champ every year for 5 straight years! . . . The heavyweight champion of the world in 1931 was Max Schmeling . . . In 1932 Schmeling lost the title to Jack Sharkey . . . In 1933 Sharkey lost it to Primo Carnera . . . In 1934 Carnera lost it to Max Baer . . . And in 1935 Baer lost it to Jim Braddock!

Here's one I bet you didn't know . . . You'd think if a baseball player were standing on a base, there would be no way for him to be put out . . . But there is one way . . . Do you know what it is? . . . A player is out if he is hit with a batted ball, even though he is standing on a base.

Groza 'Chokes,' But Only a Bug, In Packer Game

CLEVELAND (AP) — Lou Groza, oldest player in the National Football League, "choked up" against the Green Bay Packers Sunday.

Or maybe he "choked down."

Groza, 42, came in to try his 361st field goal spread over 16 years. In the huddle, Galen Fiss noted Groza's face was red and his Adam's apple was bobbing up and down.

Groza booted a 46-yarder. As they trotted off the field, Fiss asked, "do you feel all right? I thought you were sick."

Groza grinned. "I inhaled a bug," he said. "It was about halfway down my throat when we were in the huddle and now I don't know if it's up or down."

in the American League pennant race to four.

The Pirates' Bob Veale had a one-hitter through eight innings, but Willie Mays' run-scoring single in the ninth tied the game 1-1. Pittsburgh then won in the 11th on Roberto Clemente's leadoff home run and Bob Bailey's grand-slam homer later in the inning, both off Frank Linzy.

In gaining his 11th victory against 16 defeats and first complete game since Aug. 18, Drysdale was backed heavily by Lou Johnson. The Dodgers' brilliant clutch hitter drove in three runs with two homers and a single. His first homer, in the second inning, put Los Angeles ahead to stay.

The Mets were held to one hit through nine innings by Hous-

Fraser Hits 661 in 'Builders'

Kersten Slams 688 at New London

Vic Kersten unloaded a 259 singleton en route to a formidable 688 series, the highest count of the season on the Golden Hour Lanes, in the New London All-Star League Monday night.

Kersten's robust 269 game was launched with a pair of strikes and followed by a pair of 9-pin hits, which were converted. Kersten then strung together eight consecutive strikes.

Runnerup laurels for the night went to Bill Fraser, the author of a robust 661 threesome, including a 237 game, in the Builders League at Hahn's Lanes.

Ken Strutz toppled a 257 solo in the Builders circuit en route to a 617 finish. Elmer Steffens cracked games of 232 and 229 on the way to a 632, while Ken Bastian totaled 604 and Harold (Butch) Schultz posted a 603.

Burns has 627

Junior Burns' 627 trio was the best effort in the Goodfellowship League at the Golden Hour Lanes.

Bill Johnson, with a 235 solo, and Bob Whitman, with a 608 finish, divided laurels in the 41 Bowl League. John Van Eperen's 592 series was the top mark in the Kimberly National loop at Jerry's Lanes.

Norm Bunkleman uncorked a 254 solo and Walter Korek totaled 568 for the top marks in the Knights of Columbus American League at the 41 Bowl. Art Last's 761 was the top 4-game set in the Sabre All-Star Classic League. Keith Gehring posted a 581 set for the first three games.

Don Prodzinski totaled 576 to set the pace in the Tri-City League at the 41 Bowl.

Jan Natrop Has 523 Pin Series

Kathy Blank Rolls 618 as Fill-in for Neenah Ladies Loop

Jan Natrop fired a 190 game and 523 series Monday night in the South Side Ladies League at the 41 Bowl to take individual honors.

Kathy Blank, bowling as a fill-in for a team which was short a bowler in the Strikes and Spares League at Neenah's Lakeroad Lanes Monday night, came up with a booming 618 series.

The high set does not go down in the record book as a national honor count since Miss Blank was not a regular member of the league.

Bev Sommers topped action in the Hortonville Women's League with a 199 game and 524 series. Other honor scores included JoAnn Schwarz 508, Carol Conn 506, Pat Jack 503 and Gerry Bellile 191.

In the Sabre Sisters League last Friday, Cleone Rohloff had games of 195 and 211 for a 573 series.

Last Wednesday's Women's League at the Little Chute Recreation was paced by Vernadine Welch with a 531 trio.

Others among the top five were Oshkosh's Gerald Luethy, Appleton's Art Last and Milwaukee's Keith Roberts.

Denver Picks Malavasi as Interim Coach

Offensive Line Aide Elevated to Replace Speedie

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Offensive line coach Ray Malavasi has moved temporarily into the spot vacated Sunday by head coach Mac Speedie of the Denver Broncos.

Speedie, who took the head coach job in the middle of the 1964 American Football League season, quit Sunday within a few hours of his team's second straight loss, 24-10, to the Boston Patriots.

He said he felt it would be in the best interests of the Broncos and of professional football.

Speedie, 46, had until Jan. 31, 1967, on his contract, and Gerald H. Phipps, owner of the club, said he hoped the coach would stay with the team in some other capacity. Speedie has not made his future plans known.

Executive Vice President Jim Burris said Malavasi, 35, had been named interim head coach because of his knowledge of the Bronco system and of football in general.

But Burris said it was an indefinite and emergency appointment, and added the Broncos had talked to several persons already who were interested in the job. He did not identify them.

Casper Leads Money List

Nicklaus, Palmer Rank Second, Third In Earnings for '66

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Billy Casper, winner of four tourneys this year, leads golfers in money earned this year with a total of $135,148.52.

Of that, $111,615.90 was in tournaments sanctioned by the PGA. The total includes the $3,900 Casper got for his second-place finish in the $50,000 Portland Open Sunday.

Jack Nicklaus, who earned $1,616.66 from the Portland tourney, is second among money winners with $93,540.44, including $89,570 in official PGA events.

Others in top 10, with official earnings first, unofficial second and the total: Arnold Palmer $79,717.98, $19,224.26 and $98,942.24; Doug Sanders $70,996.39, $21,379.85 and $92,376.24; Gay Brewer $96,632 38, $6,372 84 and $76,005.22; Phil Rodgers $65,112.14, $5,979.80, and $71,091.94; Gene Littler $61,653.95, $2,096.28 and $63,750.23; R. H. Sikes $61,584.88, $4,789.88 and $66,374.76; Frank Beard $59,681.24, $2,524.29 and $62,555.53, and Al Geiberger $56, $41.44, $9,263.33 and $65,404 77.

The PGA computes the list according to money won only in events sanctioned by the association.

Welch Sidelined With Injured Foot

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts announced Monday that safety man Jim Welch has been sidelined indefinitely with a broken bone in the instep of his foot.

Welch was injured Sunday in the game against the Minnesota Vikings, which the Colts won 38-23.

The 6-foot, 190-pounder has been with the Colts in the National Football League since 1960.

Conservationists Have Low Regard for Grass Pickerel

Post Crescent Washington Bureau

MADISON — Because they are not usually sought by anglers and are regarded by many as nuisance fish and because of their prolific characteristics, the state fish management program should discourage the spread of grass pickerel to those waters they do not now inhabit, according to a recommendation from the state fisheries research staff.

Studies in typical southern Wisconsin waters inhabited by the specie show that the grass pickerel can quickly become abundant. They reach their highest population densities in shallow, weedy locations. The fish are of fairly mall size, rarely exceeding 12 inches.

Many fishermen, the report said, do not recognize the species, and believe the pickerel to be young northern pike. The fish scientists said that the grass pickerel and northern pike have a parallel life history with respect to time and location of spawning and other habits, but that no evidence of hybridization between the species has yet been shown.

Beltline Crossing Called 'Death Trap'

Waupaca Asks Governor's Aid In Closing Intersection; Ignored by Highway Commission

WAUPACA — A U.S. 10 beltline intersection which has been labeled a potential death trap has been brought to the attention of Gov. Warren Knowles after being ignored by the State Highway Commission.

Mayor Lloyd Matheson called Gov. Knowles Monday and objected to completion of the grade crossing located on the southern end of the bypass. This is one of five entrances to the city off the new section of highway.

After learning that the intersection was not a temporary route and would be paved, Matheson made two appeals to the State Highway Commission to investigate the traffic hazard possibilities before it was completed. Ignoring the mayor's appeals the crossing was blacktopped Monday.

Safety Program Lost

"If the state is going to build this type of grade crossing and create possible traffic hazards then the goal of the governor's safety program is lost," Matheson said. He added, "The governor has indicated in recent speeches that the state will be spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to eliminate dangerous intersections and traffic hazards and here they are building one into a new section of highway."

The mayor's first appeal came after a Sept. 1 accident at the crossing. The accident was the first on the month-old bypass. His second appeal was made Saturday after a second accident at the intersection. In this mishap two cars were demolished and one person injured.

The bypass' east interchange is under construction and the crossing in question is carrying heavy traffic to and from the city. Matheson said he was told by highway commission engineers that after the new interchange is opened, traffic on the other intersection would be reduced. In reply to this statement, Matheson said, "then according to the engineers it is

Calumet Okays Equipment for Riot Control

Protection Committee To Buy Uniforms For Auxiliary Unit

CHILTON — Purchase of riot control equipment was authorized for Calumet County policemen Monday by the county board.

The board approved purchase of riot sticks and uniforms for the 115-man auxiliary police force and authorized the committee for the protection of persons and property to order riot equipment for the sheriff's department and the traffic patrol.

The equipment requested by the committee consisted of 12 riot helmets for a total of $129; 12 helmet cases, $15; 12 riot sticks $24, and smoke bomb cannisters, $36.

The committte also stressed the need for two police shotguns and a walkie-talkie estimated at $778. The traffic department suggested that two of their police carbines be traded in so the difference on the shotguns would be only $60.

The committee will confer with Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky and Capt. Victor Juno of the traffic patrol to determine the adequacy of the equipment requested prior to purchase.

Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky said the auxiliary police uniforms will include a blouse and trouser with each man providing his own white shirt.

The low bidder for the uniform was B. K. Parade Co. with a price of $29.50 each. A shoulder patch would cost an additional $1.

The board authorized the committee to study the bids, select a color and order the uniforms.

Kosmosky noted that the 115-man auxiliary force serves on a voluntary basis with no reimbursement for time spent in the county's service. They were trained by Kosmosky and Capt. Juno.

Informational Series Set for Foster Parents

Appleton Sessions Arranged by Public, Private Agencies

Nine monthly information sessions on the foster care program will be offered for all foster parents and those interested in becoming foster parents, by public and private social agencies in Outagamie County.

Sessions are scheduled for 8 p.m. at St. James Methodist Church, corner of N. Oneida Street and Capitol Drive.

An outline of the program will be given at the introductory session Wednesday. The second session is Oct. 19 and will deal with the child welfare program of the Outagamie County Department of Public Welfare.

Infancy and pre-school development will be discussed Nov. 16; grade school age development, Dec. 21; and adolescence, Jan. 18.

Behavioral problems will be the theme at the Feb. 15 meeting; needs of children in the separation and placement process, March 15; natural parent in foster home placement, April 19; and discipline and limit setting, May 17.

Anyone interested in obtaining additional information may contact the department of public welfare.

Church Fund Drive Starts At Clintonville

$600,000 Sought For Sanctuary At St. Martin

CLINTONVILLE — More than 250 persons attended the luncheon at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the St. Martin Lutheran School gymnasium to launch the "Forward In Faith" Crusade.

Their goal is to raise $600,000 for a new sanctuary and for school modernization.

General co-chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Krueckenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kluth announced that more than 300 members were involved in the drive as crusaders, captains, division leaders and chairmen of the various committees.

Mr. and Mrs. Vilas Krueger, special gifts chairmen, announced that a total of $56,660 was pledged before the kick-off Sunday.

The division leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Krueger, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Malotky, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mueller, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wedde.

Youth participation leaders are Kenneth Christian and Donald Kirchner, co-chairmen, and youth captains are Mary Lynn Tanty, Tom Mack, Linda Gretzinger, Sandy Heidke and Bonnie Fandrey.

Thirty-six couples serve as captins and 150 couples serve as crusaders.

The campaign director engaged by the church is R. W. Sorensen, senior consultant, representing H. P. Demand and Associates, Inc., Evanston, Ill.

Board Asks for Ordinance on Calumet Comprehensive Plan

County Statute Will Outline Procedure to be Followed

CHILTON — The Calumet County board went on record Monday favoring the drafting of an ordinance which would permit the county to proceed with comprehensive planning.

The ordinance is expected to outline provisions for the establishment of a county resource planning committee. It will be presented for action at the Oct. 24 session.

This action followed a county park commission report in which it recommended a planning committee, outside of the park commission, be established to proceed with development of a comprehensive county plan.

Since such a plan is necessary to qualify for federal aid under the various poverty programs, the board agreed to this at its August session.

The issue was then referred to the park commission for study and recommendation.

The park commission has met with representatives from the private planning firm of Candeub, Fleissig and Associates, Madison.

County problems in which a plan could prove beneficial were listed as sewer and water systems, existing developments, natural resources, transportation, parks, zoning, and subdivision regulations.

According to the report, a plan would take from 15 to 24 months to complete. Although a cost estimate for Calumet County was not given, Jackson County's plan cost $48,000 while the plan for Jefferson County cost $56,000. Of this cost, the county pays one-third and the federal government two-thirds.

Too Busy

The park commission advised the board that it felt their work of developing and maintaining the county park and of administration of county zoning kept them too busy to add comprehensive planning to their duties.

They therefore recommended that a five-man committee comprised of members from the county at large be established to carry on the study of private planning firms and to decide which firm would be selected to carry out the county comprehensive plan.

According to statute, however, a formal ordinance approving the formation of a comprehensive plan must precede any further action.

No Opposition to Port Beacon Aid

Commission to Study Clintonville Proposal; Inform City of Action

CLINTONVILLE — There was no opposition at a public hearing Monday at the city hall on a petition for federal and state aid for the installation of a low frequency beacon at the municipal airport.

Fritz E. Wolf, operations consultant for the Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission who conducted the hearing, told city and airport officials that the commission will study the matter further and inform them of its action.

Appearing in support were City Atty. Ralph Lauer, who submitted a brief on behalf of the city; Ron Otto, fixed based operator at the airport, and Basil Arvey, airport manager. Lauer also submitted letters favoring the proposal from pilots Monfort Obrecht, Norman Erickson and Dr. Irving Auld.

Lauer said the common council in a petition Aug. 4, 1966, authorized the mayor and city clerk to prepare and file a petition for aid and a public hearing on the subject with the commission.

The estimated cost of the improvement is $3,000 which will be paid out of general city funds. The improvement is needed to assure a greater flight frequency by commercial air service now contracted for by the city and other flights originating from or using the airport. The improvement would provide greater safety margins for all air service.

Service Contract

The council has authorized the execution of a contract with Midstate Air Commuter of Marshfield to provide scheduled air service from Clintonville to Chicago O'Hare Field. The service will consist of two daily round trips from Monday through Friday, one round trip each Sunday, and no trips on Saturday. Service will start about Oct. 1.

Flights will be routed from Ashland to Clintonville with a request stop at Madison in favor of passengers originating at Ashland. Midstate will use a Twin Beech aircraft for its service.

Under the agreement, the city guarantees revenue to Midstate based on 206 passengers, or its monetary freight equivalent, originating and terminating at Clintonville each month. The contract is based upon all possible landings according to the schedule being made and adjusted proportionately for over-flights or non-availability of either passengers or freight space.

Numerous Flights

During August, 117 non-based planes landed at the airport. Of them 103 were single engine, 12 were multi-engine, one helicopter and one jet. Sixty-seven of these planes were equipped for

Election Results Unchanged by Official Canvas

Republican Ballot Check Indicates Some Minor Errors

Results of Republican balloting in Tuesday's primary election remain unchanged following an official Outagamie County vote canvas. However, minor errors were discovered in the totals for some candidates, especially on the state level.

Outagamie County Clerk Mollie E. Pfeffer said official vote totals for Democratic candidates should be completed by this afternoon.

Republican candidate for sheriff, Norbert Marx, picked up two more votes in the canvas. Official totals show Marx with 4,615 votes and Donald J. Heinritz with 4,549.

Official Totals

Official totals for other county offices are as follows: Clerk Mollie E. Pfeffer, 7,735; Coroner Bernard H. Kemps, 7,939; Clerk of Courts Sydney Shannon, 7,751; Dist. Atty. Nick F. Venue Change Asked In Waupaca Jail Arson

Defendant Claims He Won't Get a Fair Trial In County; Blames Newspaper Publicity

WAUPACA — Brady Hicks, 30, Fort Worth, Tex., who is accused of starting a fire in the Waupaca County jail, Aug. 21, was bound over to County Court for trial Monday following a preliminary hearing.

Hicks is charged with arson, criminal destruction of property, endangering the lives of his fellow prisoners, and a disorderly conduct charge brought against him by city police which accounted for his being in jail when the fire broke out.

After hearing testimony from three witnesses, County Judge Wendell McHenry ruled that there was enough evidence to show that a crime had been committed.

Hicks, who is being represented by Edward Hart, a court appointed Waupaca attorney, asked that he be granted a change of venue and that his case be tried in another county. Hicks felt he would not receive a fair trial in Waupaca County because of the publicity he received in the newspapers at the time of the fire.

The fire, which was started in a mattress, broke out in the upper cell block of the jail a short time after Hicks had been booked into jail on the disorderly conduct charge. While the fire was being extinguished and smoke cleared from the jail, most of the 14 prisoners being held at the time, were led from the building and remained outside.

Judge McHenry said he would not make a decision on granting a change of venue until Hart submitted an affidavit and a copy of the newspaper story in question.

Hicks was returned to the county jail, following the hearing, where he is being held in lieu of a $5,000 bond.

Damage Tops $100 in Mishap in New London

NEW LONDON — More than $100 damage resulted when two cars collided at Quincy and Pearl streets at 8:25 a.m. Sunday.

Police said a car driven by Roy Akins, 80, 215 Wisconsin St., was traveling east on Quincy Street and failed to stop for a stop sign, colliding with a northbound vehicle on Pearl Street driven by Ernest A. Woeshnick, 48, 1322 Smith St.

New London Frosh Set For Opener

NEW LONDON — The Washington Junior High School freshman football team will open its 1966 campaign at 5 p.m. Thursday in Manawa against the Wolves.

Coach Lester Emerich ended a one-year absence from the coaching ranks to lead the freshmen.

Emerich says he has a number of good ball players. The main worry is the lack of size. John Sanders, at 182 pounds, is the heaviest lineman. Joel Kleinbrook, 172 pounds, who has been playing at fullback, is the largest back.

Twenty boys have been taking part in workouts. The small number of participants has been a disappointment to the entire school coaching staff.

Home games include Shiocton, 7 p.m., Sept. 28; Clintonville, 7 p.m., Oct. 5, and Hortonville, 7 p.m., Oct. 12. The season will close with a 7 p.m. contest at Shawano.

'Horse and Buggy' Days

Big Weyauwega Weekend

WEYAUWEGA — Residents will turn back their calendars for the annual "Horse and Buggy" celebration Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Beards and mustaches have been grown by the men in preparation for the 6th annual event, and women are searching their attics for clothing dating back to the Gay Nineties era.

Antique Display

Merchants will display a large and unusual collection of antiques, many which have been passed down from generation to generation.

Ed Domke and Duane Schultz, co-chairman, are busy working with committees, scheduling them any weekend activities.

The high school homecoming activities will coincide with the celebration this year.

An antique automobile parade is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Homecoming Parade

The homecoming parade at 2:30 p.m. Friday will feature the queen and her court, and floats entered by the various school organizations.

An auction will take place after the parades on Friday afternoon. Proceeds from the auction will be used to promote the "Little Red School House" museum.

Prizes for Costumes

Cash prizes will be awarded for the best dressed cosumes on Friday afternoon.

Expected to draw a large crowd to Weyauwega is the parade at 2 p.m. Saturday. Last year an estimated 12,000 persons viewed the parade, which featured some 52 units.

An old fashioned beer garden will be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, with live music Friday evening and all day Saturday.

At 9:30 p.m. Saturday a color television set will be given away.

A dress-up parade has also been scheduled for Saturday evening.

1,300 Watch at Weyauwega

18 Teams Compete in Horse Pulling Contest

WEYAUWEGA — A crowd of more than 1,300 attended the 12th annual horse pulling contest sponsored on Sunday at the fairgrounds by the Arndt Bruley American Legion Post.

First place winners in the two divisions received $50 and a trophy, second place received $50 and third place $40. Prizes were paid to down to sixth place in competition. Five dollars was paid to teams which entered but did not place. In all, 18 teams participated.

Bill Rosenthal, Elmwood, took first in the lightweight division, and Chuck Schaff, Chetek, took second and third with his teams.

Other Winners

Others placing in the lightweight competition were Eldon Millard, Lodi, fourth; Morris Barkley, Seymour, fifth, and Louie Skinkis Manitowoc, sixth.

First place for heavyweights was awarded to Marshall Grass, Blair; second, Russell Larsen, Denmark; third, Herbert Kalies, Greenleaf; fourth, Joe Hearley, Oconto Falls; fifth, Walter Cariveau, Lena; and Louie Skinkis, Manitowoc, sixth.

Bull Pull

Carl Hoewisch, Fremont, won the bull pull

The fire departments of Weyauwega and West Bloomfield participated in water fights during the intermission.

A parade led by the American Legion color guard and the Weyauwega High School band preceded the contest.

Lee Koehler and Roy Anderson were co-chairman of the event.

Bill Rosenthal, Elmwood, urges his team on to first honors in the lightweight division of Arndt-Bruley American Legion Post's 12th annual horse pulling contest. The event was held Sunday at the Weyauwega fairgrounds. Rosenthal's team, which he purchased two first time Sunday, pulled 3,200 pounds weeks ago and put to the test for the 23 feet, 5 inches. Whether success is reaching the top or getting up in the world, George Hohnberger, 16, has achieved it. For two consecutive years he has retrieved a $20 bill from the top of a greased 20-foot pole at the Fremont Farm Festival sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. (Schmidt Photo)

Corn, Ice Cream Given Away at Fremont Festival

FREMONT — Chamber of Commerce sponsored Farm Festival featured the giving of 50 gallons of ice cream and 1,000 ears of roast corn.

Members of the Busy Beavers 4-H Club were in charge of serving the ice cream, and members of Boy Scout troop 45 operated the amusement concession stands of Fund Ways of Menasha.

George Hohnberger, 16, plucked a $20 bill from top of a 20-foot greased pole for the second consecutive year.

Wittenberg Man Charged With Burglary, Theft

WAUPACA — Walter Rockman, 39, Wittenberg, was bound over to County Court for trial on charges of burglary and petty theft Monday when he was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court.

Rockman was arrested Saturday by Sheriff Loran Frazier and charged with breaking into the Olva Barkimo residence in the Town of Harrison and the theft of a pistol.

Justice George Whalen set bond at $2,000. Rockman was returned to the county jail to await trial when he was unable to furnish the bond.

Wolf Planning Unit Gets $162,340 Aid

Gov. Knowles Approves Aid From Federal Funds for Maps

Federal funds totaling $162,340 for Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission land use and zoning programs were approved Monday by Gov. Warren P. Knowles. The funds were requested by the commission to supplement an original continuing planning grant of $108,162, according to William E. Morris, executive director.

The latest grant's primary use will be to add impetus to commission planning of land use and zoning programs, Morris said. The request became necessary, Morris said, when it was discovered the original grant did not include money for necessary mapping or drafting personnel. Mapping expenses alone will require about $45,000.

The original application was prepared by the State Planning Office. Since then increased travel expenses and data collection and publication costs have made the amendment necessary, Morris said.

The continuing planning grant funds are for a two year period. Member counties of the commission will determine participation in the mapping program when it is presented to county boards of supervisors and zoning committees.

Federal funds, administered to the regional commission by the state Department of Resource Development, are matched by member counties on a two-thirds federal, one-third county basis.

2 Tipsy Drivers Pay Fines at Clintonville

Shiocton Youths Each Admit Three Separate Charges

CLINTONVILLE — Two Shiocton youths and a rural Clintonville man were fined a total of $370 on charges stemming from arrests Sunday evening.

Lyle E. Shepard, 19, route 1, Shiocton, was convicted on charges of operating a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants, ignoring a stop sign and off-premises possession of malt beverages.

He appeared before Municipal Justice Nathan Wiese on Monday and pleaded guilty to all three charges. He was fined $125 on the first charge, $25 on the second, and $50 on the third, for a total of $200 plus court costs. He was given until Thursday to pay the fine.

With him at the time of his arrest was Dennis J. Schroeder, 20, route 1, Shiocton, who appeared in court Monday on charges of drunkenness for which he was fined $20; disorderly conduct, $25; and abusive language, $25, for a total of $70, plus court costs. He also was given until Thursday to make payment.

Both men were held in the city jail overnight following their arrests. The charges of disorderly conduct and abusive language against Schroeder arose after he was locked in the cell, according to the police.

Edward J. Bartz, 60, route 2, was arrested Sunday by city police on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $100 and court costs. His driver's license was revoked for one year

Wild West Cafeteria Now Open

A new cafeteria-style restaurant is the theme of the Old Wild West has been opened at 317 W. College Ave. by owner William Griffith.

The Chuck Wagon Sandwich-Teria, as its name implies, specializes in sandwiches. The menu currently features 17 different kinds.

Patrons sit at small tables covered with checkered tablecloths. Each of the painted chairs is different and represents some famous western saloon or hotel. Only one is named for a sheriff. The names inscribed on the backs of the chairs include the Office of Wyatt Earp, The Palace Hotel and Golden Nugget Saloon, both of Virginia City, Tellar House of old Central City, the Silver Dollar of Leadville, Colo., Tombstone, Arizona's Last Chance Saloon and the famed Dry Gulch Saloon of Deadwood, S.D.

On the walls are framed pictures of the Old West and several old newspapers. The display case, which will house changing displays, at present contains an antique gun display that belongs to Joseph Phelps.

Organizing Meeting Planned of Great Books Discussion Program

An organizational meeting of the Great Books Discussion Program is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Appleton Public Library.

This is the second year the program has been in operation. The set of books to be discussed includes "Billy Budd" by Melville; "Oedipus Rex" by Sophocles; "Phaedra" by Racine; "The Odyssey" by Homer; and "Gulliver's Travels" by Swift.

Anyone interested in joining the discussion group but who can't attend the first meeting, may get additional information from Mrs. Arthur G. Harmon.

School Building Planning Parley Set at Kimberly

Proposed to Share Construction Ideas With Area Officials

An area meeting for planning new school buildings is scheduled at 8 p.m. Oct. 19 at the Kimberly High School auditorium.

"The purpose of the program is to gain and share ideas of architects, school boards, teachers and the State Department of Public Instruction officials on building a school," according to Kenneth Poppy, coordinator of Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 8, which is sponsoring the meeting.

The tentative program includes a welcome by Ray Hamann, Kimberly Schools superintendent, and a panel discussion on "To Plan a School."

Speaking on the selection of an architect will be Julian Bichler, Kaukauna Schools Superintendent; the role of the architect, Larry Bray; role of the teacher, administrator and school board in school planning, Jack Myers of the Neenah School Board;

Role of the State Department of Public Instruction, Al Buechner; bidding on fixed equipment for school buildings, Ole Norstrom; and when is the completed building accepted, Marvin J. Gegan, Menasha Schools Superintendent.

Poppy will act as moderator.

German Skier to Present Program

KAUKAUNA — Fritz Stammberger, first man to conquer one of the 14 peaks higher than 26,000 feet on skis, will present a program for ninth and tenth grade students Wednesday morning at Kaukauna High School.

He is the sole survivor of the German Himalya Ski Expedition in 1964 whose objective was to ascend and descend on skis the 26,700 foot Cho Oyo in Nepal, Tibet. Cho Oyo is the world's sixth highest mountain and highest peak ever climbed without artificial oxygen. Two members of the group died of fatigue and exhaustion in the climb.

Prior to this climb during a 4-year Alpine trip around the world, Stammberger aimed at climbing the highest peak of every country he passed through. He climbed solo in 15 countries on four continents and reached the summit of highest peaks in 10 countries.

Vital To Industry

Lauer said that continuity of scheduled air service to the city is important to local industry engaged in defense work including some that is vital to the Viet Nam action. Projections indicate local production increases in both civilian and defense work.

The airport is one of 16 in Wisconsin which are part of the national plan in connection with scheduled air service. It can be used by small jets and planes the size of Convairs.

While North Central Airlines serviced the airport a low frequency beacon was available, but when it terminated service the beacon was removed.

Mrs. Henry Van Nuland Dies at Kimberly; Has 143 Descendants

KIMBERLY — Mrs. Henry Van Nuland, 82, 604 E. Maes Ave., died here Monday noon after a short illness. She is survived by 143 direct descendants.

Survivors of the native of Holland are six daughters, six sons, 62 grandchildren and 69 great-grandchildren.

Solemn Requiem funeral mass will be offered at 10 a.m. Thursday at Holy Name Catholic Church with the Rev. Benet Eltink, S.D.S., a grandson of Mrs. Van Nuland, as celebrant. Assisting him will be the Rev. Joseph Cools, deacon, and the Rev. Girard Van Nuland, a nephew, subdeacon.

Burial will be in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Jansen Funeral Home here after 7 p.m. today.

Crossing Called 'Death Trap' okay if just a few people get killed at the intersection."

Fred Grunwald, county highway commissioner, has agreed with Matheson that the grade crossing should be discontinued and the road dead ended, which would force traffic to use the interchange.

Another grade crossing of the same type is being built at the west end of the bypass, connecting a portion of the old highway to the new road. Officials have also expressed concern over this crossing but feel that the east grade crossing will be more dangerous because it will carry more traffic.

Visability at both intersections is limited and it is difficult for some drivers to judge the speed of oncoming traffic while waiting at the grade crossing, Matheson said. Another bad point concerning the east crossing is that it is located on the end of a four-lane section of the bypass and often drivers traveling the bypass are not aware of the grade crossing, he added.

Mayor Matheson has been backed by the city council in his fight to have the grade crossing discontinued. Further discussion on the issue is expected tonight at the regular council meeting.

Gov. Knowles is scheduled to be here Oct. 12 to officially dedicate the bypass, which has been under construction for two years. A ribbon cutting ceremony is slated at the east interchange, followed by a parade along the bypass and through the city. A noon luncheon is planned as part of the ceremony.

Run as Independent

Heinritz Hints He May be Candidate

Donald J. Heinritz, 44, former Outagamie County sheriff who was edged by 67 votes by Undersheriff Norbert Marx in primary election balloting last Tuesday, indicated Monday that he may seek the sheriff job in November as an independent candidate.

Contacted at his home Monday, Heinritz, when asked if he intended to stay in contention as an independent, replied, "I wouldn't be surprised."

He said he has been urged, both by personal contacts and by letters and telephone calls to run as an independent against Marx and the Democratic candidate, Robert Main, a Kaukauna police lieutenant.

However, Heinritz, superintendent of the Appleton parking meter department, said he has not definitely made up his mind.

Heinritz, who served as sheriff from 1956 to 1960, polled 4,549 votes to 4,616 for Marx in Tuesday's Republican primary. The official vote totals were announced this morning.

Sheriff Calvin L. Spice, who has held the chief law enforcement job four years, is ineligible, under Wisconsin law, to seek a third consecutive term.

10 Artists From Fox Cities Win Awards at Wolf River Region Show

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fox Cities area artists and craftsmen made an excellent showing at the annual Wolf River Region Art Show at Valley Fair Shopping Center over the weekend. Ten of the 14 awards went to area artists with Robert Baeten of Appleton the only double winner of the show.

Seventy artists were represented in the largest show ever held by the Appleton Gallery of Arts in Association with the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission.

Purchase Awards

Baeten's oil painting, "Tail Race," a scene of the Fox River behind one of the paper mills, was one of the three chosen for the Home Mutuals purchase awards to be added to the collection of art work in the Wolf River Nature Room of the insurance firm. He also received honorable mention in the best of show division with an abstract oil painting done with a glazing technique. This is called, "Subterranean Eclecticism."

Other winners in the Wolf River purchase awards division were Joe Jacenko, Neenah, with his watercolor, "Wolf River," and Patti Howard of Oshkosh, whose prize painting was chosen for its depiction of wild life. The work is titled "Little Squirrel."

Artist Larry Kolden, Madison, took first place in the best of show category with his two-color etching called "Still Life with Bald Eagle." Kolden is a graduate student at the University of Wisconsin, currently working on his master of fine arts degree.

Other best of show winners were Will Peck, Milwaukee, second, for his landscape in watercolor; Louise Thoreau, Milwaukee, watercolor; Harvey Jorgensen, Appleton, fourth, for a sculptured figure. Honorable mention went to Bertha Gesell, Two Rivers, landscape in watercolor; John Hanegraaf, route 4, Kaukauna, sculpture in wood; Pat O'Brien, Denmark, abstract painting in black and white; Phillip Sealy, Appleton, watercolor of Algoma, and Baeten's predominantly blue abstract.

Potters took all four prizes in the crafts division with Kent Ipsen, art teacher at Mankato State College, winning the first place award. Catherine Wise, Appleton, intern teaching at Fond du Lac, took second place; Bob Piper, Milwaukee, won third, and John Nebel, Menasha, was fourth place winner.

Tom Evans, Oshkosh, president of the Northeastern Wisconsin Education Association, judged the show and presented a resume of the reasons for his choices at the award program Sunday afternoon.

An art teacher for 16 years in the public schools of Kimberly and Oshkosh, Evans' work has been exhibited at the Milwaukee Art Center, Milwaukee Art Institute, Paine Art Center and Public Museum, both in Oshkosh. His work also is represented in a Smithsonian Institute traveling exhibit currently on tour of the United States for two years.

Ex-Hortonville Resident Dies

Taught School for 40 Years; Served As Village Clerk

Harry Steffen, 64, retired supervising teacher of Outagamie County for 40 years and village clerk at Hortonville for 16, died Monday at Wausaukee. He had lived at Wausaukee since his retirement.

A native of Hortonville, he attended Outagamie County Teachers College, Kaukauna; Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point and Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh.

Steffen, who moved to Wausaukee in June of 1965, was a life-long member of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, Hortonville; the Wisconsin Education Association, Outagamie Mental Health Association; Outagamie County Teachers Association, charter member of the Hortonville Commercial Club, Outagamie County Court House Association and the National Retired Teachers Association.

Surviving are the widow, one daughter, a son, a sister, two brothers and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Augustine Church, Wausaukee. Friends may call at the Morsky Funeral Home, Wausaukee, from 5 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Recreation Committee To View Lake Sites

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin's Outdoor Recreation Advisory committee will meet Friday and Saturday in Lake Delton to inspect existing and potential sites in the area.

Wayne U. Hood of La Crosse, committee chairman, who called the meeting, said, "The area has a number of sites of statewide significance which we would like to take a look at."

Menasha Jayvees Score 14-7 Victory Over New London '11'

MENASHA — Pass interceptions, the second with less than a minute to play, helped the Menasha Jayvees turn back New London, 14-7, in their Mid-Eastern Conference opener here Monday afternoon.

The Bluejays received their last-minute scoring chance when Gerry Pozolinski intercepted a New London pass on the 15-yard line and returned it to the five.

Jeff Forman went to the three on the first play but, trying to get the next one going without a huddle, the Menashans were called for illegal procedure and penalized back to the eight.

With about 25 seconds left, Forman found a big hole between left guard and tackle to score. Dave Baldauf plunged for the extra point.

Menasha had opened the scoring in the second period when Steve Seidl intercepted a New London pass on the Bluejay 29 and returned it all the way for the touchdown.

Greg Christoph passed to Chuck Gilbert for the extra point.

The Bluejays had lost possession when they called for a fair catch on a punt reception but fumbled the ball, the Bulldogs recovering.

New London tied the score in the third period on a three yard end run by Jim Klatt. He also went over for the tying point.

Beat Birnamwood 4-3

BABA Championship Won by Menominee

MARION — Menominee County's representative in the eastern division of the Badgerland Amateur Baseball Association won the grand championship from Birnamwood 4-3 Sunday in its second appearance in the finals, the first being in 1949.

The Menominee club finished second to Big Falls in its only other championship appearance. This was Birnamwood's first game in the finals.

A. N. Brunner, Leoplis, BABA commissioner presented the grand championship trophy and the division trophies after Sunday's contest.

Vaughn James, winning pitcher, threw 33 innings of play-off ball without giving up an earned run, allowed six hits, three walks and fanned nine batters in winning the championship.

Menominee failed to score until the top of the sixth inning when they tallied twice, one on a home run by Vaughn and a single by Guy Grignon scoring Dick Frechette who had walked. Menominee tied the game in the seventh inning on a home run by Al Boyd and the winning run was scored in the eighth when Leon Penass was sacrificed home by Bob Grignon.

Birnamwood scored one run in the second inning on a homerun by Cliff Mortenson and two in the fifth on a homer by Sid Nowinski scoring Jim Matsche ahead of him.

Since '56, Calumet Coroner's Office Handled 293 Deaths

CHILTON — Coroner LeRoy Huges reported Monday that in the eight years he has held office the county has had 293 deaths in which the coroner was called involving 291 days of work.

He has traveled 20,080 miles; authorized 41 autopsies, ordered 10 inquests; investigated 41 fatalities and 26 suicides.

Thus far in 1966 he has handled 36 cases, one less then in all of 1965; spent 37 days investigating compared with 42½ days last year; traveled 1,822 miles compared with 2,994 in 1965; authorized three autopsies, half the total of last year and held one inquest. So far there have been seven fatals, involving four vehicle drivers, one passenger, one motorcycle driver and one rider.

In 1965 there were 10 fatals involving eight drivers, one passenger and one pedestrian.

Hughes said autopsies are ordered when the cause of death cannot be determined by other means. Occasionally the family of the deceased will request an autopsy be ordered at their expense. Ten such autopsies were authorized this year.

Methodists Plan Dinner at Amherst

AMHERST — A bazaar featuring fancy gift items, home baked arfticles and garden produce is being held in conjunction with the annual harvest supper in the Methodist church. Serving will begin at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Waupaca 4-H Adult Leaders Plan Recognition Banquet

FREMONT — Twelve members of the 4-H Adult Leader's Association Executive Board and committee heads attended the quarterly planning meeting for the association, in the Waupaca County Extension office Thursday evening.

They were Mrs Elwood Eisentraut, Howard Hansen, Mrs W. F. Neuschafer, Mrs. Clarence Behnke, William Kramer, Mrs. H. Schwanke, Mrs. Vernon Krueger, Mrs. Clarence Regal, Joe Walker, Phil Jeske, and junior leaders Linda Hansen, and Effy Ampare, Columbia, South America, who is spending three weeks as a guest of the Regal's.

Plans for the adult leader's recognition banquet on Oct 8, were completed with Sunrise 4-H Club members in charge of decorations, and Maple Grove club in charge of tickets and sales. Reservations must be in the county extension office by Sept 20. An interesting program will be arranged to include guests from the state office.

Also for the first time, the board recommended that "Friends of 4-H" be recognized at the banquet. These members could be selected by the executive board in advance of the banquet arrangements. These persons would be folks whose interest is outstanding in the 4-H program but who are not officially connected with the organization

Appointed to attend the state 4-H Leader's council session for three days, Oct. 25-27, at Madison are Mrs Elwood Eisentraut and Mrs W. F Neuschafer, with Mrs. Clarence Behnke chosen as alternate

Mrs Regal reported total receipts from the 4-H food stand to be $3,428 with expenses reaching $2,107, leaving a profit of $1 321 Members also discussed setting up a wage scale for chairman of the stands, comparable to what the stand would bring in for cash profits.

Arrangements for the annual achievement night are being completed, with Nov. 2 being selected as the date.
